

NO PROGRESS BY POLICE IN BABES IN WELL CASE

Girl Still Denies Knowledge of Birth—'Doctor' Admits Relations Once—Infants Thrive.

Police yesterday admitted they were making little progress toward solution of the mystery of two newly-born babies for a client. He asked for an abandoned well at the rear of the Whitehouse market. Thirty-third and California streets.

H. S. Kent, under arrest as father of the babies, and who police say they expect to prove was the man who placed the children in the old well, still maintains his innocence and insists he knows nothing of the case.

Grilling cross-examination by Marshal Eberstein, chief of police; A. C. Anderson, chief of detectives, and Acting Police Inspector Haze failed to shake Kent. Only once, Eberstein says, did Kent show signs of weakness in the two hours they incessantly shot questions at him.

Admits Relations Once. Eberstein asked, "Did you ever have improper relations with Miss Boeke?"

He referred to Miss Louise Boeke, 3041 California street, who police are trying to prove is the mother of the babies.

Kent looked Eberstein squarely in the eye and replied, "Yes, once." He appeared slightly nervous at that time, Eberstein said.

Girl Depends on Kent. During the entire grilling, his attitude was that of an attorney preparing a case for a client. He asked for a pencil, and occasionally took notes as the officers questioned him.

Miss Boeke, through her attorney, Martin Sugarman, yesterday said she would admit the children were hers "if Dr. Kent says they were."

However, she still insists she does not know that she gave birth to any children, but she is willing to take Kent's word for it.

Girl Refuses Examination. Sugarman said he had suggested to Miss Boeke that she have a competent physician examine her and state positively whether she had given birth to the children, but she refused to consent to such a plan.

"If Dr. Kent says they are my children I will take them and care for them," Sugarman quoted his client as saying.

Yesterday that Miss Boeke admitted having had improper relations with Kent on one occasion only.

Kent was born in Germany and came to America 58 years ago, he says. He was brought up in the Lutheran church, but has renounced that church and everything else German," he says.

His replies to questions intended to catch him off his guard are quick and witty. He says it is difficult to collect his thoughts and think clearly and logically in a cell in the jail with a lot of dopeheads around.

Worries for Glasses. Yesterday he sent for government representative so that he could fill out a war tax report on his confectionery store at Thirty-third and California streets. The official, who refused to give his name, brought Kent a sack of fruit from the store.

When arrested his glasses were taken from him which worried him very much. He said he could not think without them. They have been returned.

His speech is slow and deliberate, though he is weighing every word carefully. He was neatly shaven today and appeared worried because he had not received clean clothing for which he had sent.

At the hospital the two babies—the nurses have named them "Jimmie Wells" and "Betty Jane Wells"—are thriving.

Nurses and doctors express differences of opinion as to whether babies are twins. There is little resemblance. The girl is larger and stronger than the boy, and much more active.

Many persons call at the hospital and ask permission to see the babies. Most of them are denied. Several have expressed a desire to adopt the babies, but hospital officials say they cannot be adopted until a legal effort has been made to establish the identity of their parents.

Babies Are '100 Per Cent.' The two little pink and white bits of humanity have found their way into the hearts of the nurses, who say they are "exceptionally good" babies.

"Twenty hours a day sleep, milk every three hours, and absolute quiet are the rules laid down by the doctors, and Jimmie and Betty Jane don't object one bit."

Betty Jane has discovered her thumb is an excellent substitute for a bottle when she is hungry, which is most of the time, and there is no nurse handy to hear her wails.

The slight infection in the eyes of both babies when they were found in the well has disappeared and hospital attendants say they are "100 per cent normal and healthy."

Neighbors Acquire Girl. Mrs. Lola McCaffrey, 3045 California street, says the Boeke girl is the mother of the children, police declare. She said at Friday noon Miss Boeke thanked her for a book she had borrowed and that at 12:30 she knew a baby was being born in the Boeke home.

Police say Mrs. McCaffrey also said the baby Kent slip out of the darkened Boeke home Friday night with two baskets similar to the ones in which the babies were found.

Mrs. C. B. Turgate, 3407 California street, corroborated Mrs. McCaffrey's statements. The two women are next door neighbors.

Philosopher Held for Abandonment of Babes Confessed Woman Hater

'Doctor' Kent, Alleged Father of Twins Found in Well, Gives Exclusive Interview on His Philosophy of Life—Believes in Deity and Good Works—Denounces Woman for Downfall of Man.

"Woman—A snake, a bane of life." "Eternity—All one should live for." These terse outbursts bespeak the philosophy of Dr. H. S. Kent, principal in the Boeke-Kent case now under investigation by police to determine the parentage of twin babies found alive in a well near Thirty-third and California streets late Saturday night.

In his cell in the city jail, Dr. Kent, a confessed philosopher, literary man, physician, pharmacist and missionary, gave an exclusive interview on his philosophy of life.

To converse openly and freely with the man, one might attribute idiosyncrasies to him; to study his mental caliber, one would readily note his keenness of intellect, his deep thought on material subjects and his intelligence in literature, the Bible and philosophy.

Follower of Christ. "Some say I'm queer," spoke Dr. Kent, chuckling.

"Nevertheless, I have not a little number of followers in my belief of Christianity. My church? I belong to no particular church, though I was born a Lutheran and was reared an Episcopalian. I adhere strictly to the teachings and the unchanged teachings of Jesus Christ, model for all mankind.

"My creed? I am no atheist, however my teachings probably are heretic in reference with the doctrines of various denominations. "I believe in God and in Jesus Christ, His only son. I believe in all that is good, chaste and refined."

Believer in Charity. "I believe principally in good works, acts of kindness and deeds of charity among the people. Ask farmers living in the bottoms about my work. For years didn't call at their doors to bring cheer into their midst? Didn't I teach cleanliness of person and household?"

"They know. I administered to their bodily ailments and when I became too poor to assist them financially I went to work."

Loved One Woman. Referring to evil in the world, the prisoner asserted caustically: "Woman—of all creatures—has caused the downfall of man and of nations since the dawn of creation. They are snakes, deceiving and accusing. I never missed my life on earth when I say I never had a romance. One woman I loved—my mother. There is too much good to be done in this world than to attempt charity for woman."

"Throughout my life there has been a barbed wire of adversity between myself and woman. But—"

And here Dr. Kent sincerely transferred his thoughts to another subject.

Robert Ingersoll is a teacher, a philosopher. Read what he wrote: 'Life is a narrow vale between the cold and the barren peaks of two eternities. We strive in vain to look beyond the heights. We cry aloud and the only answer is the echo of our wailing cry.'

"From the voiceless lips of the unwept, the dead there comes no word, but in the night of death hope sees a star and listening love can hear the rattle of a wing."

"That's life," concluded the prisoner. "Will Vindicate Self. Dr. Kent is penniless. He confesses his last saved earnings went to help the mother of Louise Boeke in her struggle to retain the little stone she has at Thirty-third and California streets.

Regarding his imprisonment for investigation, he declares he will plead his own case if charges are filed against him.

If otherwise, he stoutly asserts he will remain in Omaha and vindicate himself.

In such a time and with such issues confronting the country, Governor Morrow asserted, Governor Coolidge is confidently called upon to serve with a leader who "has spoken clearly, bravely and convincingly."

His rings ring out now like a bugle through the air and he said, "We now await your message, convinced that it will be in full accord with the time-honored, time-proven policies of the republican party and that it will proclaim our party's principles of service to the nation and its people. When you have spoken America will move that captain and mate have turned the old ship of state from her wanderings—home, to the needs of the hour—home, to keep all and to save all that the past gave and which the future promises—home, to solve our problems here and to fulfill, as we always have done, our full share of world responsibility."

Declares for Suffrage. The nominee said equal suffrage is coming, that relief from distress is the right of the men who serve in the war, and urged greater recognition of the rights of negroes.

"The proposed league of nations without reservations as submitted by the president to the senate met with deserved opposition from republican senators," said Governor Coolidge. "Our party approves the principle of agreement among nations to preserve peace and pledges itself to the making of such an agreement, preserving American independence and rights, as will meet every duty America owes to humanity."

Your presence tells me," said Governor Coolidge in opening his address, "of a leader and a cause. A leader in Warren G. Harding, the united choice of a united party, a statesman of ability, seasoned by experience in all things a stalwart American, the exponent of our common country, as declared in the platform of the republican party, the defense of our institutions, from every assault, the return of constitutional government, the maintenance of law and order, the relief of economic distress, the encouragement of industry and agriculture, the enactment of humanitarian laws, the defense of our rights of our citizens everywhere, the rehabilitation of this nation in the estimation of all peoples, under an agreement, meeting our every duty, to preserve the peace of the world, always with unyielding Americanism—under such a leader such a cause, I serve."

Pleads Law and Order. "No one in public life can be oblivious to the organized efforts to undermine the faith of our people in their government and foment discord, aggravate industrial strife, stifle production and ultimately stir up revolution. The first duty of the government is to repress them, punishing willful violations of law, turning the full light of publicity on all abuses of the right of assembly and of free speech, and it is the first duty of the public and press to expose false doctrines and answer seditious arguments."

Such repression and such testimony should be forthcoming that the uninformed may come to a full realization that these seditious efforts are not for their welfare, but for their complete and economic and political destruction.

The greatest need of the nation at the present time is to be rescued from all the reactions of the war. The chief task that lies before us is to repossess the people of their property. Unless the government and property of the nation are in the hands of the people, and there to stay as their permanent abiding place, self-government ends and the hope of America goes down in ruins."

COOLIDGE TOLD BY MORROW THAT HE IS NOMINEE

'Nomination Tendered as Spontaneous Wish of Party,'—Declares Kentucky Governor in Speech.

Northampton, Mass., July 27.—"This nomination is tendered you as the spontaneous wish of your party," said Governor Edwin P. Morrow of Kentucky, principal speaker at the ceremonies attending the notification here today of Governor Calvin Coolidge of his nomination as candidate of the republican party for vice president.

"The west called to the east," Governor Morrow said, "north and south heard the call and the nation made answer."

Governor Morrow attacked the democratic national administration for what he termed its hesitation, blundering and stubbornness and called the league of nations an attempt to bind the United States to the bloody feuds of Europe.

No Barter For Potage. "It is fitting," Mr. Morrow said, "that in Massachusetts, at this fountain of American inspiration, we solemnly determine that the heritage which made us free, independent and prosperous, shall not be bartered for a mess of unknown potage."

"You are called to serve your country in a time of your country's need," Governor Morrow continued. "At home grave economic, industrial, social and governmental problems have too long in the past and now continue to, press for and upon us, and upon their proper solution depends the prosperity, security, commercial and financial welfare of our people."

Wilson Is Dictatorial. But, confronted at home with high duties and most serious responsibilities, the present national administration, entrusted with the great powers of government has halted and hesitated and blundered, while it bent all of its stubborn energy upon the task of fastening upon our country all of the ills of the world.

"The president and all those who in the past have bowed to his will, and he whom he has covered with his mantle committed to his policies, and whom he now seeks to place in his stead, have for more than a year and are now seeking to strip us of our nationalism by clothing the nation in the multi-colored garments of internationalism; to take from us our sovereignty—and so, through a league of nations to bind us to the blood feuds of Europe, to make us the guarantors of shifting, vanishing boundary lines to the ends of earth and involve us in the greed and strife and confusion of the world."

Praises G. O. P. Leader. In such a time and with such issues confronting the country, Governor Morrow asserted, Governor Coolidge is confidently called upon to serve with a leader who "has spoken clearly, bravely and convincingly."

His rings ring out now like a bugle through the air and he said, "We now await your message, convinced that it will be in full accord with the time-honored, time-proven policies of the republican party and that it will proclaim our party's principles of service to the nation and its people. Summary of Yacht Races

Sandy Hook, July 27.—A summary for the 1920 cup series follows: First race won by Shamrock IV, Thursday, July 15; 15 miles to windward and return, in light southwest wind. Resolute's throat halyards parted, dropping her gaff and letting her mainsail down as she was about to round the 15 mile turn, a mile ahead of Shamrock. Resolute withdrew, Shamrock finishing in 4: 25.12, elapsed time.

Second race, called off Saturday July 17, after yachts fail to cover a 30 mile triangle, in light wind within the six-hour limit. Resolute was a half hour ahead.

Second race; resailed Tuesday, July 20, won by Shamrock. Thirty mile triangular course, Shamrock won by 9 minutes, 27 seconds, time; 2 minutes, 26 seconds, corrected time.

Third race; Wednesday, July 21, won by Resolute over windward and leeward course in light southwest winds. Each boat took 4 hours 3 minutes and 6 seconds. Resolute won by her time allowance, 7 minutes, 1 second.

Fourth race, Friday, July 23, won by Resolute over a 30-mile triangular course in squally weather. Resolute won by 3 minutes 18 seconds elapsed time, 9 minutes 59 seconds corrected time.

Fifth race postponed Saturday, July 24, because of 25 mile south-wester.

Fifth race called off Monday, July 26, after yachts failed to cover 30 mile windward and leeward course within the limit.

Sixth race July 27, won by Resolute over a windward and leeward course in light southwest wind. Resolute won by 13 minutes 8 seconds elapsed time, 19 minutes 45 seconds corrected time.

Yacht Race Cup Will Remain in America (Continued From Page One.)

Ons ahead of Resolute. It flashed across the line at 2:17:05, and Resolute at 2:17:45.

The wind came in variable streaks and first to start the other yacht would be better. Captain Adams, however, began to pinch Resolute a little bit and she gradually worked out to weather of the challenger which, however, at 2:39 still held a slight lead.

Another tow of barges threatened to block the course again soon after the start. A revenue cutter, however, soon turned it to one side.

May Not Finish. Although the breeze had increased to five knots, the loops had their trouble breaking in shore, the fluky wind heading one and then the other, causing them to fall to leeward. Already observers began to express doubt if the yachts could finish before the six-hour time limit expired at 8:15.

On the long port tack in shore, Shamrock was able to catch a streak of air and footed fast. Resolute, however, began to work better to windward and at 3 o'clock had cut down much of its rival's lead. Shamrock came about on the starboard tack at 3:03.

When it came about, Shamrock was within a mile of the beach, Shamrock Foots Fast.

On the starboard tack seaward, Shamrock footed faster than Resolute on the port tack, at 4:08, though the yachts were hardly more than 200 yards apart. Flutters of wind were playing an important part in the contest.

At 3:30 when both yachts were continuing their long beat to starboard Shamrock had improved her position. Whether she was getting better slants of air or was being handled better than in previous races could not be stated, but she certainly showed a surprising reversal of form in going to windward.

At 3:35 the challenger had widened her position and was several hundred yards ahead of the defender. The wind was just strong enough to keep the yachts' sails filled.

At 4:06 Resolute ran into a favoring slant of air and rapidly cut down Shamrock's lead.

Resolute, by rapid footing, fore reached Shamrock and then came about on the port tack, at 4:08. The defender, however, could not quite clear Shamrock's bow and was forced to come about on the starboard tack, as Shamrock had the right of way, being close hauled on the starboard tack. Only a few yards separated the racers at 4:10.

GREEKS PLAN RECONSTRUCTION IN THE BALKANS

Intend to Govern Turks With Interfering With Their Religion—Will Develop Ports.

Athens, July 27.—(By The Associated Press.)—Greece's military position, its economic aspirations, its attitude toward Balkan affairs and its policy toward the new territories to be taken over by Greece were explained to The Associated Press by Nicholas Politis, minister of foreign affairs and right hand man of Premier Venizelos, in an interview today.

"From a purely military viewpoint we probably will be finished in three or four weeks," declared the minister, "and in a few months we will begin demobilization of our army in Asia Minor. It is already the role of Greece to begin work of reconstruction in these new territories and it is our design to make them fit to live in, not only for Greeks, but for Turks and other nationalities. It is not our intention to deprive any of our new subjects but one of economic prosperity for all."

Turks Have Been Exploited. "Politically," he said, "the Turks have long been exploited by the Pashas, but they are the easiest people to govern so long as their religion is not touched. It is our intention to help maintain the mosques. We are so careful in this respect that we did all that was humanly possible to take Adriantine without damaging the master works there. We have already founded a Mohammedan chair in Smyrna. We will do the same in Athens as well as expend sums to keep up Turkish schools."

Must Spend Much Money. Reconstruction means large preliminary expenditures, but we are not especially seeking credits; what we wish to do is to start work quickly so as to get quick returns."

Speaking of international affairs, he said: "At the present time Russia is anxious to resume relations with Europe, but the latter probably will attempt to reassert her old claims to Constantinople. She is far more dangerous than Turkey ever was."

M. Politis said he believed it possible that the next great war would be caused by an attempt at Slav domination of Europe.
