

Novel Ice Creams

All good housewives love to try new recipes, especially recipes for things that they serve for refreshment, for nothing is more pleasing to a cook than to hear people talking about the delicious things they ate and later to ask for the recipes. Unusual ice cream recipes are hard to find these days, but here are some recipes culled from a time-stained cook book that belonged to an old lady who was a famous cook in her time.

Frozen Indian Pudding.
Make an Indian pudding, using your own favorite recipe, halving the proportions, using only a pint of milk. Bake in a slow oven and cool. Add one quart of thin cream, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of ginger and sweeten with brown sugar to taste. Freeze and serve with whipped cream.

Grandmother's Custard.
Boil a cup of seeded raisins and a small piece of stick cinnamon for 15 or 20 minutes in two cups of milk. Blanch one-fourth pound of almonds and chop very fine. The recipe calls for a few drops of rose water added to the almonds. Chop two ounces of citron and the same amount of preserved ginger. Strain the milk and stir into it the beaten yolks of 4 eggs and a cup of sugar and cook till it thickens. Cool and then add the raisins, citron, ginger and nuts, and a quart of thin cream. Freeze. The nuts can be omitted and sprinkled over it when it is served if desired.

Boston Ice Cream.
Dry stale brown bread and sponge cake and roll into coarse crumbs, one cup of each. Make a custard of two quarts of rich milk, one-half cup of sugar and four eggs. Add three or four tablespoonfuls of caramelized sugar to make a rich golden brown in color. Cool, and partly freeze. Remove the cover to the can and stir in the crumbs. Finish and pack for two or three hours to ripen.

Frozen Fruit Compote.
Cook a cup of rice in a quart of milk till done, add the beaten yolks of three eggs and one-half cup of sugar, and cook for two or three minutes longer. Then add the stiffly beaten whites of two of the eggs, flavor with vanilla and pour into a mold and pack in salt and ice. Turn out onto a platter, cut a thin slice from the top, scoop out the center and fill with sliced peaches, bananas or berries sweetened and beaten into a pint of whipped cream. Put the slice back on and return to the mold for a while. Serve in slices with whipped cream and bits of whole nut for a garnish.

Orange Pudding.
Beat three eggs till light and stir them into a cup of powdered sugar. Add to this two cups of milk heated to a boiling point in a double boiler. Cook till thick. When cold put into a freezer and freeze. Open up the freezer and stir in a cup of orange marmalade and two cups of heavy cream, whipped to a stiff froth. Pack in a mold and let stand in salt and ice for an hour.

Make Your Table Attractive

Nothing adds so much to the charms of a little dinner as an attractively laid table. The silver should be highly polished, the linen immaculate, the tablecloth laid smooth and straight over the flannel or "silence cloth." The center decoration should be low, and should harmonize in color with the other decorations. It is desirable to have candle light for the illumination of the table and room.

The silver for every course, except the dessert, may be placed upon the table beforehand. The forks on the left, should begin with the first one needed and end with the last one to be used nearest the plate. The knives are placed in the same manner at the right, cutting edge of them to the spoon, and to the right of them any forks which are needed for oysters or hors d'oeuvre. Glasses should be placed at the tip of the knives. As butter is never used at dinner there are no bread and butter plates, but in the folds of the napkin may be placed either a small finger roll or two or three bread sticks or a small piece of bread. At each place there may be put a service plate—any large, handsome dinner plate answers this purpose. This plate may remain until after the soup course, when it is removed just before serving the fish.

On the serving table should be placed the finger bowls, one-third full, with a doily between each one and its plate. There should also be a pitcher of ice water, the dessert silver, and the serving forks and spoons and any extra sets of plates which do not need to be heated.

Cream Mints.

1 1/2 cups sugar.
1/2 cup water.
2 tablespoonfuls corn syrup (white).
White 1 egg.
1/2 teaspoonful of peppermint or wintergreen.
Put sugar, water and white corn syrup into saucepan. In measuring, use all the syrup that clings to the spoon. Stir ingredients until mixed, bring to boiling point and boil without stirring to 238 degrees. Fatened, or until syrup will spin a long thread. Have white of egg slightly beaten, and continue beating with egg beater while syrup is being poured in a slow, fine stream upon egg. Continue beating until mixture is stiff enough to keep its shape, using wooden spoon when mixture becomes too difficult to handle easily with egg beater. Add flavor, color delicately with green or pink color paste, put all the mixture into a pastry bag, and force through a rose tub into separate "roses" one inch in diameter at the base and one-half inch thick in the center. Candy should be soft and creamy, slightly dry, but not coarse or sugary.

Frosted Ham.
Remove outside skin from a cold boiled ham and trim off most of the fat, leaving as smooth a surface as possible. Rub over with cracker dust (made from hard crackers, crushed and put through a fine sieve) and spread with white ornamental frosting. Decorate with more of the ornamental frosting (colored pink and green) forced through a pastry bag and tube. Remove to platter, garnish bone with paper frill and bone end with silver skewer stuck and put through a fine sieve and spread with large trufflettes between two pinolas. Arrange around ham a border of small lettuce leaves and watercress.

Sweet Potato Fondant.

Wash and pare large sweet potatoes, cut in one-half inch slices, cut out with fancy flower cutters, cook in boiling salted water until almost soft, drain and brush over with syrup made of one-half cup sugar and two tablespoons water boiled two minutes. Sprinkle with salt and bake in a hot oven until heated through and delicately brown.

Salad Dressing.

When making boiled salad dressing, after it is removed from the stove to cool, and before adding the whipped cream, try beating it well with an egg beater, and see how smooth and fluffy it will be.

Macaroni Croquettes.

Take left-over macaroni and chop rather fine; if not soft enough add more white sauce; heat, season, mix with a little cheese and shape into croquettes. Dip in fine bread crumbs, then in half-beaten egg yolk, then in crumbs and dry well. Fry in deep fat, serve with white sauce and sprinkle over with powdered cheese.

Apple Jelly.

Apple jelly is apt to be tasteless at best, so it is a good plan to put a slice of lemon on the top of each glass or a leaf of a rose geranium.

Either or both will give a delicious flavor.

Flannel Cakes.

Rub together one tablespoonful of butter and one tablespoonful of sugar. Stir in the well beaten yolks and whites of two eggs. Thicken with two cupfuls of flour in which one teaspoonful of baking powder has been sifted. Make a thin batter with sweet milk, and cook on a steaming griddle.

Ham and Toast.

To each cupful of chopped ham allow one egg. Put a little butter in a pan, add the ham. When thoroughly heated stir in the beaten egg cream. Let it get very hot, but do not harden the egg. Season and serve on slices of toast.

Rice Cakes.

Mix two cupfuls of cold boiled rice with the beaten yolks of two eggs and a little salt and sugar, if desired. Half fill buttered muffin tins and bake brown. Serve hot with cream.
