Fishermen at Dixon, Ill., Have Received More and Shipped More Shells This Year Than Ever.

Dixon, Ill., Aug. 13.-Apart from the usual finds of pearls, the clamming industry at favorable points in the Missisippi valley is prospering this year. Pearls are the clammer's sideline. His main concern is dig-ging shells from which buttens are

The largest single shipment to date this year from Dixon was three carloads, some 150 tons of shells, which were dug from the bed of the river within a radius of half a mile. They went to a firm at LaCrosse, Wis. The buyer paid $70 a ton, which is the highest price yet received by the diggers, and the three cars represented $10,000 worth of

Shell Prices Raise.

Many other clammers have been holding their shells for higher prices. Since this shipment was made shells have gone to $80 a ton. Along the shores and many of its tributary rivers may be found numerous clammers' outfits which vary somewhat in design although all serve the same purpose. A typical outfit consists of a flat bot-tomed boat on either side of which is a rod 16 feet long. Suspended from this are chains with six fourprong hooks on each chain in all

One bar at a time is lowered and dragged along the river bed, thus catching the partly open clam shell. Muddy water affords the best results, as the clams there open their shells for feeding and can be the more easily caught.

Spring is Best Season.

Spring and early summer are the best seasons for the work, as the spring freshets disturb the water making it muddy. Later in the season as the water becomes cool the clams bury themselves in the mul. The industry is protected by the game and fish laws, the season opening legally Junt 2, and closing December 1.

Clams breed in August and are very prolific. The mother weaves a sort of web around herself and young, and when caught on the clamming hooks as many as 50 or 75 young are often found attached to her, while many others are lost in the catching.

The worker's outfit includes a stove of some sort, the clams being boiled for an hour after they have been brought to shore. I'his opens the shell and enables the fisherman to remove the clam. One by one he goes through his catch discarding the meat which can be fed to swine or used for fish bait.

Find Valuable Pearls.

Each shells opened may bring a large reward for many beautiful and valuable pearls have been found in this way. As the clammer runs his thumb along the fleshy muscle of the mollusk he may find big pay for his day's work.

This summer on Rock river near here an $850 pearl was found, also one which brought $130 besides many of lesser value. Almost every tint from white to black is discovered, and exquisite pink and lavender being especially beautiful.

Every clam digger has in his cabin a tiny box lined with fluffy cotton. This is his treasure trove, and here are horded the findings of the day's catch. The experienced clammer knows the value of a pearl, knows about how much a flaw detracts, and knows the degree of perfection of the jewel, so that when the pearl buyer comes through the country the wise old river man is no novice to deal with.

$1,000,000 In Farm Products Passes Through City Daily Farm products worth $1,000,000

passes through Omaha daily, according to an Omaha banker who has made a study of the figures.

This daily business will increase in the next two months, however, according to E. E. Calvin, vice president of the Union Pacific, who says 36 new engines have been received to handle this increase.

City Employes Get Raise.

Plattsmouth, Neb., Aug. 13.— (Special.)—The city has raised the wages of street department employes from 45 to 55 cents per hour and decreased the working day from 10 to nine hours. A second request by the Plattsmouth Water company for an increase in rates was referred to the firt and water committee.
