

HARDING NOT TO CHANGE PLANS FOR CAMPAIGN

Pre-Convention Manager of Nominee Declares Senator Will Dignify Position by Remaining at Home.

Marion, O., Aug. 20.—Senator Harding's campaign will go on as previously planned regardless of the strategy adopted by the democrats, it was said today by Harry M. Daugherty, a member of the republican executive committee, after a conference with the nominee.

There was no intention, he declared, of abandoning the front porch policy, though some speeches would be made in other cities.

"A campaign at all times must be in harmony with the candidate and the cause," said Mr. Daugherty. "As far as the plans of the republican party are concerned, they will go on in orderly fashion, as laid out from time to time by Chairman Hays and the committee in conference with the candidate. Nothing will be done in connection with the campaign, or omitted to be done, because any particular thing has been done, or omitted to be done by the opposition."

"I think I can safely say that the American people must not expect a campaign of Lombard to be conducted by or in behalf of the republican candidate or party. A campaign of personalities may not be expected, nor a campaign which appeals to prejudice; but rather a campaign of dignity, entirely appropriate, and in harmony with the dignity of the candidate and the position to which he aspires."

Think Central City Will Furnish Float For Pilgrim Parade

John C. Martin of Central City, Neb., came to Omaha yesterday to confer with John L. Webster with reference to the twenty-first anniversary parade of the landing of the Pilgrims, which will be held here on September 23. Mr. Martin explained that the people of his town and county are interested in this celebration and delegated him to look over the sketches of the floats. He expressed confidence that Central City will be represented.

"The First Harvest" is the title of the float which has been selected by the Omaha Grain exchange. A sketch shows a group of Pilgrims just returned with Squanto, Indian guide, bringing Indian corn with them. The medical profession of Omaha will be represented in the parade. Subscriptions for the expense of a float have been obtained and the list is on Mr. Webster's desk.

Mr. Webster stated that 25 floats are now assured and the list will probably run to 30 next week.

Russia's Export Ability Has Been Overestimated Declares Ex-Duma Member

Statement Is Based on Observation in Country and Fact People Fail to Realize Effect of Collapse of Transportation Systems, Reduced Manpower and Rundown Condition of Untilled Land.

Constantinople, Aug. 20.—Russia's ability to export raw materials in the near future has been greatly overestimated by foreign countries, in the opinion of Col. B. Englehard, formerly a member of the Russian duma and a student of economic conditions in Russia before and after the revolution.

In a talk with The Associated Press correspondent, he said that exporters seem to fail to realize the collapse of the Russian transportation systems, reduced manpower and run-down condition of the Russian farm-lands.

The comment was evoked by reports of the negotiations of Russian economic agents with Premier Lloyd George in London and the announcement that the United States had lifted prohibitions upon American trade with soviet Russia.

Col. Englehard is confident that Russia will again play an important role in European markets, but, he said, "the revival of Russian trade will not come until there shall be established a normal state of life, when men shall renounce attempts of establishing immediately the paradise of communism."

"It should be borne in mind that European Russia has been greatly reduced in size," said Col. Englehard. "Formerly it had over 5,000,000 square kilometers of land and 137,000,000 inhabitants. Poland, Finland, a great part of the Caucasus and several Baltic provinces with about 50,000,000 inhabitants and about 1,250,000 square kilometers of land have detached themselves. The greater part of these detached territories ordinarily had a notable surplus of grain and other farm products, which constituted the major part of Russia's exports.

Production Is Reduced.

In 1913, the last year when conditions were normal in Russia, exports were valued at 1,500,000,000 gold rubles, or $750,000,000. The greatest single item in the export list was grain. The total grain exports were 12,870,000 tons, valued at $225,000,000. European Russia used to harvest 58,500,000 tons of grain annually. With its reduced area, with the breaking up of big estates, lack of machinery and ruin wrought by continuous war in many of its most fertile areas it may be affirmed the grain harvest of the soviet republic will scarcely reach 31,500,000 tons annually.

One cannot count on any considerable exportation of grain from soviet Russia in the immediate future. So far as Siberia and the provinces in central Asia are concerned, they are used to produce 800,000 tons of grain for each inhabitant. The civil war must have reduced the normal yield considerably and it is doubtful whether any considerable quantity of grain can be exported from Siberia."

Live Stock Is Depleted.

Colonel Englehard says live stock of all sorts has been reduced so greatly by the war that it is impossible to consider the exportation of meat or live animals. The civil war in the Don and Kuban wiped out the sheep there and makes the extensive exportation of wool impossible. The sugar industry is so disorganized and fuel so scarce he does not believe soviet Russia will be able to supply its local market for many years.

Oil Is Only Hope.

Oil is the greatest hope of the soviet government, in the opinion of Colonel Englehard. Large quantities of oil still are stored and produced in the Baku fields, and it is the product which all the world is seeking. Fighting has interrupted the Baku-Batum pipeline repeatedly during the last few months, but Georgia and the bolsheviks have now reached an agreement, and the prospects are better for oil sales in Batum. The Gfozny oil field, which is entirely dependent upon the Vladikavkas railway for transportation, is also in the hands of the bolsheviks, who have control of the railway and can readily transfer the product to Baku if rolling stock is available.

Longing For Jewelry Again Lands Flores In Hands of the Law

Lincoln, Aug. 20.—(Special)—His penchant for reducing to possession the jewelry of others—mild as it sounds—may cost Victorino Flores, Mexican, formerly of Lincoln, ten years behind prison walls.

He has already served three years in Nebraska and Missouri, and was brought back to Nebraska Thursday by State Parole Officer E. M. Johnson to serve out his unexpired term of one to seven years here as a parole violator.

Flores was sent up from Hall county, August 17, 1917, for larceny, and was paroled August 10, 1918. On August 20, 10 days later, he violated his parole by disappearing, and a short time later he was sent to the Missouri State penitentiary for the theft of more jewelry.

He served two years and was released into the hands of Nebraska officials at Jefferson City, Mo., Thursday, to be brought back to the Nebraska penitentiary.

He lived in Lincoln at the time of his first conviction. He is a married man and has a wife, according to Officer Johnson.

MAN WHO LET GIRL DRIVE MOTOR CAR IS SENT TO JAIL

Severe Sentence Imposed Upon Doctor Whose Car Was In Crash.

Dr. John Agnew, 2508 Cuming street, was sentenced to 15 days in jail for intoxication and reckless driving by Judge Foster in central police court yesterday.

Agnew was arrested Thursday night after his automobile had collided with another car driven by John T. McCabe, 545 Thirty-Second street, at Third and Cuming streets.

In the McCabe car were also Mr. and Mrs. Norman Leonard and two children, all of whom escaped injury except Mrs. Leonard, who suffered cuts and bruises.

Agnew admitted in police court yesterday he had been drinking and was allowing an inexperienced girl, whose name police withheld for obvious reasons, to drive his car. Judge Foster scored him severely for permitting anyone unfamiliar with automobiles to drive his car and for attempting to "mix gasolene with liquor."

National Chairman of G. O. P. Much Pleased at Success of Suffrage

Philadelphia, Aug. 20.—Will H. Hays, chairman of the republican national committee, conferred with United States Senator Boies Penrose at the latter's home here yesterday. The political situation and developments in the presidential campaign were discussed.

Mr. Hays expressed gratification over the ratification of the federal woman suffrage amendment. "I cannot too strongly voice my gratification over the ratification of suffrage," he said. "It means hundreds of thousands of new voters whose voice and object will be that of seeking the right. It means better politics and consequently better government. I hope for the liberation of this great element of potential strength. It will place us in the right position in government affairs. We anticipated the ratification and have been working for it and we are prepared to act under it."

Ratification of the amendment, Chairman Hays says, will not cause any important changes in the republican plan of campaign.

AUSTRALIANS COMMENT ON DRY ACT IN AMERICA

Annual Report of Viticultural Council Says Wave of Revulsion Is Sweeping United States.

Sydney, Australia, Aug. 20.—Prohibition in the United States was discussed in the annual report of the federal viticultural council of Australia recently made public here. The report declared prohibition strict in America faced an emergency caused by opposition to the law.

After mentioning that the supreme court has upheld the constitutionality of the prohibition law, the report said that at "the height of their victory the American prohibitionists have been brought rudely to earth by the great wave of revulsion against 'bone dry' enforcement of the law, which is sweeping throughout the eastern states."

"The war cry of 'England next' has been forgotten in the emergency of the situation at home," the report continued. "From far and wide there are arising demands for intemperance by the methods employed by the Anti-Saloon league in raising funds and the alleged use of which such funds have been put."

"Prominent clergymen are publicly declaring that the American churches are not behind the Anti-Saloon league's methods, which are to form the subject of a state investigation."

"So great in fact has been the awakening of public opinion that the question of prohibition has become a leading one in connection with the selection of presidential candidates, which is proceeding in the United States."

Man Charged With Murder Saws Jail Bars and Escapes

Newcastle, Wyo., Aug. 20.—(Special Telegram)—Walter Simm, charged with the murder of Fred Walker in the Osage oil field last June, escaped from the Newcastle jail Thursday night by sawing two iron bars of the window. It is general supposition that he had assistance from the outside.

No trace had been found of the man at 10:30 Friday morning. Flashes have been sent to all parts of the country by local officials in the hope of impeding the prisoner's escape.

Simm was being held without bail pending his trial in the district court. Three colored prisoners state that they know nothing of the matter except that Simm was in the jail at 1 o'clock Friday morning. It is also stated that a heavy car was heard leaving the city in the morning at an early hour. Simm is said to have a wife and child residing in Dover.
