

GENERAL BUNDY TO MAKE HOME AT FORT CROOK

Selection of Fort as 7th Army Corps Headquarters Made On Account of Central Location.

By EDWARD C. SNYDER, Special Correspondent.

Washington, Aug. 21.—In selecting Fort Crook as headquarters of the Seventh corps area, which includes the states of Nebraska, Iowa, Missouri, North and South Dakota and Minnesota, as provided under the new army reorganization act, the chief of staff and his assistants were prompted to make this selection because of its central location.

While both Kansas City and St. Louis were considered as headquarters for the Seventh corps, which has been carved out of the Central division, as at present constituted with headquarters in Chicago, the committee agreed that both Kansas City and St. Louis were entirely too far south in the defined area. That Fort Crook was the logical location for the headquarters because of the central location and for the further fact that there was a plant at Fort Crook ready for occupancy, and its railroad facilities were of the very best.

No Politics.

Political considerations played no part whatsoever in the selection of Fort Crook, its location to the area comprised in the Seventh corps making its choice almost a matter of necessity.

The selection of Fort Crook as headquarters of the Seventh corps area will bring to that establishment not only Maj. Gen. Omar Bundy, who will command, but will bring nearly 250 officers and clerks to the headquarters staff, which will be organized along the lines of the old department headquarters when Omaha was headquarters of the Department of the West.

To Have Three Aides.

Major General Bundy will have three aides, a chief of staff, four assistant chiefs of staff, an adjutant general, two assistant adjutant generals, a quartermaster, with several assistants, a surgeon and assistants, a finance officer, ordinance officer, an inspector, a signal officer, judge advocate, an air service officer, a chemical warfare service officer and an officer in charge of militia affairs, with scores of clerks to carry on the work of the department.

The personnel of the department as outlined will look after the Seventh corps and the national guard in the states composing the Seventh corps area. The Seventh division of the army now at Camp Funston is included in the Seventh corps area as well as the troops stationed in Iowa and Minnesota.

A Fine Soldier.

Maj. Gen. Omar Bundy, who is ordered to Fort Crook September 1 in command of the Seventh corps area is one of the finest soldiers in the army. He is 59 years of age and a graduate of the military academy in the class of 1883, having been appointed to West Point, from his native state, Indiana.

During the world war he was in command of the Second division and fought at Chateau Thierry. Later he took command of the Sixth division which held headquarters at Bourdeaux-Leshaus, in France.

Adit. Gen. Harris said today that the troops at Fort Crook, consisting of headquarters and one battalion of the Twenty-first infantry with a detachment of the quartermasters' corps, would in all probability remain at Fort Crook as caretakers. The selection of Fort Crook will not bring any additional troops to the Garrison. The fort will become

Roumanian Prince Fails to Play Star Roll With U. S. Queens

Chicago Tribune-Omaha Bee Leased Wire. Chicago, Aug. 21.—Prince Carol of Roumania failed to live up to his reputation as a lady-killer here today. The prince was taken for an inspection of the stock yards and industrial plants. He also went for a stroll down Michigan boulevard. He did not even glance at the hundreds of pretty girls who tripped down the boulevard. In fact, he looked the other way when a particularly beautiful specimen came within his range of vision.

The prince refused to talk to newspaper men. His associates stated that he was miffed about the numerous stories of his taking ways with the ladies. They deny that the prince's trip around the globe was for the purpose of helping him to forget his morose wife, Zizi Lambrino.

The living place of the officers mentioned, instead of Omaha where many of them lived when the Gate City was headquarters for the Department of the Missouri and the Department of the Platte.

Sister of Cork Mayor, Now In Jail On Hunger Strike, Visits With Him

London, Aug. 21.—Miss MacSweeney today saw her brother, the lord mayor of Cork, who is in British prison, under a sentence of two years' imprisonment by a court-martial on a charge of sedition. She said she found Mr. MacSweeney very weak, but determined to continue his hunger strike to the end.

Later Miss MacSweeney tried to interview the home secretary, but was only under secretary for home affairs, Sir Ernie Blackwell. Miss MacSweeney said Sir Ernie told her the government certainly would not release her brother.

"Do you mean," she asked, "that you are going to let him die in prison?"

Sir Ernie replied, according to Miss MacSweeney, that it was the decision of the government that none of the Irish prisoners would be released as a result of their refusal to take food. Miss MacSweeney told Sir Ernie that if her brother was allowed to die in prison all Ireland would hold the home secretary and the government responsible "for his murder."

COX CHALLENGED TO PROVE CHARGE AGAINST G. O. P.

Governor Is Met by Broadside Of Counter Charges From Republicans When He Returns Home.

By ROBERT E. SMITH, Chicago Tribune-Omaha Bee Leased Wire.

Columbus, O., Aug. 21.—When Governor Cox returned to Columbus Friday he was met by a broadside of counter charges replying to his assertion that the republicans have collected a $15,000,000 campaign fund.

The republican state committee issued a statement declaring that the international bankers of Wall street are supporting Governor Cox, in the hope that they will benefit by ratification of the peace treaty.

"It was from the heart of Wall street just four days ago that an announcement came that the New York Evening Post would cordially support James M. Cox for president," the republican committee statement said. "This support of Governor Cox, it was stated, was based on his advocacy of the Wilson league of nations. The New York Evening Post waited until Governor Cox's attitude toward the league was definitely made clear."

The New York Evening Post is owned by Thomas W. Lamont of the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co., one of the dominant factors in Wall street. "A definite statement is needed from Mr. Cox as to just how much money he thinks the international financiers of Wall street, who are demanding Mr. Wilson's league of nations and will profit most by it, are supporting Mr. Cox for president, but that reason, will contribute to the republican campaign fund."

Governor Cox, however, was standing pat on his charges of a " gigantic republican slum fund," and insisted he would give more details about it in his next speech.
