

SEARCH IN VAIN FOR SURVIVORS OF SHIP WRECK

Twenty-Eight Members of Crew and One Woman Missing in Great Lakes Disaster.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Aug. 22.—Coast guards and lake steamers conducted a futile search last night for survivors of the steamer Superior City, which went down off Whitefish point late Friday night after a collision with the Willis L. King, according to meager reports.

Twenty-eight members of the crew and one woman were missing, and the four survivors brought here after being picked up from the wreckage had all but abandoned hope for their rescue, owing to the short time that elapsed between the collision and an explosion in the boiler room, which wrecked the stern of the steel ore carrier.

The survivors left for their homes tonight.

Peter Jacobson, a survivor, who was at the wheel when his ship was rammed, declared the King bore down on them after the exchange of the usual signals. The sea was calm and the weather was rather hazy, but he could easily distinguish lights of the King, he declared.

Captain Herman Nelson of the King, however, maintained a fog enveloped the vessels.

Belief that a number of the missing were killed or severely injured by the explosion was expressed by Captain Edward Sawyer of the Superior City. The majority of them were in state rooms directly over the boiler room, he said. He attributed the sudden sinking of his vessel to the heavy cargo of iron ore.

"I sank deep into the icy water," he said, "and the shock brought me back to my senses. I thought I would never reach the surface. After swimming five minutes up from the depths came a steamer's hatch cover, upon which I climbed and hung until picked up."

"I guess God wanted me to live a bit longer," he added, "for where that hatch came from I couldn't figure."

Financial
The New York Times.
Chicago Tribune-Omaha Bee Leased Wire.

New York, Aug. 22.—Banking sentiment in respect to the country's autumn demand for money and credit improved measurably last week. The impression was gathered in local quarters of prominence and also in the middle west that the crop financing period can be gone through without overstrain of bank resources.

That is not to say, however, that bank statements may be expected to show from now on that the peak of the credit burden has been passed.

It may be several weeks before the federal reserve institutions of the east will reflect the return of funds loaned to reserve banks of the interior, and perhaps longer, before the clearing house banks at New York will disclose in their weekly figures that deposits are accumulating and loans being paid off to substantial totals. A gulf still stands between the ability of the banks to meet agricultural and mercantile demands and a real easing of money at the major centers.

But tendencies appear to be working to narrow the chasm. Speculation has largely been wrung out of the commodities markets, evidence being supplied in falling quotations in many directions. The effect of the general banking attitude against the expansion of new loans and close observation of the growth of standing lines of credit is coming further into the light as time passes.

Less Credit Necessary.
It is evident also that the conservation of credit in the last few months has come into the picture. The restriction of prices for some grains, cotton, foodstuffs and other commodities has helped to conserve the volume of the money market.

The fall of a cent a bushel in cotton this month means, naturally, a decrease of credit in the cotton market. The fall of a cent a bushel in cotton this month means, naturally, a decrease of credit in the cotton market.

It is evident also that the conservation of credit in the last few months has come into the picture. The restriction of prices for some grains, cotton, foodstuffs and other commodities has helped to conserve the volume of the money market.

The fall of a cent a bushel in cotton this month means, naturally, a decrease of credit in the cotton market. The fall of a cent a bushel in cotton this month means, naturally, a decrease of credit in the cotton market.

It is evident also that the conservation of credit in the last few months has come into the picture. The restriction of prices for some grains, cotton, foodstuffs and other commodities has helped to conserve the volume of the money market.

The fall of a cent a bushel in cotton this month means, naturally, a decrease of credit in the cotton market. The fall of a cent a bushel in cotton this month means, naturally, a decrease of credit in the cotton market.

It is evident also that the conservation of credit in the last few months has come into the picture. The restriction of prices for some grains, cotton, foodstuffs and other commodities has helped to conserve the volume of the money market.

The fall of a cent a bushel in cotton this month means, naturally, a decrease of credit in the cotton market. The fall of a cent a bushel in cotton this month means, naturally, a decrease of credit in the cotton market.

It is evident also that the conservation of credit in the last few months has come into the picture. The restriction of prices for some grains, cotton, foodstuffs and other commodities has helped to conserve the volume of the money market.

The fall of a cent a bushel in cotton this month means, naturally, a decrease of credit in the cotton market. The fall of a cent a bushel in cotton this month means, naturally, a decrease of credit in the cotton market.

It is evident also that the conservation of credit in the last few months has come into the picture. The restriction of prices for some grains, cotton, foodstuffs and other commodities has helped to conserve the volume of the money market.

The fall of a cent a bushel in cotton this month means, naturally, a decrease of credit in the cotton market. The fall of a cent a bushel in cotton this month means, naturally, a decrease of credit in the cotton market.

It is evident also that the conservation of credit in the last few months has come into the picture. The restriction of prices for some grains, cotton, foodstuffs and other commodities has helped to conserve the volume of the money market.

The fall of a cent a bushel in cotton this month means, naturally, a decrease of credit in the cotton market. The fall of a cent a bushel in cotton this month means, naturally, a decrease of credit in the cotton market.

It is evident also that the conservation of credit in the last few months has come into the picture. The restriction of prices for some grains, cotton, foodstuffs and other commodities has helped to conserve the volume of the money market.

The fall of a cent a bushel in cotton this month means, naturally, a decrease of credit in the cotton market. The fall of a cent a bushel in cotton this month means, naturally, a decrease of credit in the cotton market.

It is evident also that the conservation of credit in the last few months has come into the picture. The restriction of prices for some grains, cotton, foodstuffs and other commodities has helped to conserve the volume of the money market.

The fall of a cent a bushel in cotton this month means, naturally, a decrease of credit in the cotton market. The fall of a cent a bushel in cotton this month means, naturally, a decrease of credit in the cotton market.

It is evident also that the conservation of credit in the last few months has come into the picture. The restriction of prices for some grains, cotton, foodstuffs and other commodities has helped to conserve the volume of the money market.

The fall of a cent a bushel in cotton this month means, naturally, a decrease of credit in the cotton market. The fall of a cent a bushel in cotton this month means, naturally, a decrease of credit in the cotton market.

It is evident also that the conservation of credit in the last few months has come into the picture. The restriction of prices for some grains, cotton, foodstuffs and other commodities has helped to conserve the volume of the money market.

The fall of a cent a bushel in cotton this month means, naturally, a decrease of credit in the cotton market. The fall of a cent a bushel in cotton this month means, naturally, a decrease of credit in the cotton market.

It is evident also that the conservation of credit in the last few months has come into the picture. The restriction of prices for some grains, cotton, foodstuffs and other commodities has helped to conserve the volume of the money market.

THE GUMPS

GEE LOOK AT THAT BABY—NOW DID THEY GET HIM IN THE LAKE

When baby has the stomach ache
Or other childish ills,
The doctor comes and makes him take
A powder or some pills;
And when it is apparent that
The urchin is at ease,
He reaches for his coat and hat
And says, "Three dollars, please!"

But when it happens that the can
Gets carbonized or stalled,
We call the car-repairing man
To have it overhauled.
He keeps it at his shop until
It hits its old time gait,
And then he renders us a bill
For twenty sixty-eight.

The baby's sound in wind and limb
And seldom out of gear,
We call the doctor in for him
But once or twice a year.
The car, though given tender care
And lots of time to rest,
Will only run without repair
A week or two at best.

To lose the baby we are loath;
We hate to spare the car;
In fact we want to keep them both,
Expense as they are.
We wish the family doctor knew
The ailments of the car,
And we could take the baby to
The car-repairing man.

HE'S USED TO IT
When'er the flaunting headlines read
"MAN BUSTED ON THE JAW!"
The base ball fan exclaims: "Indeed?
That must be Jawn McGraw!"

ALMOST A CONSTITUTIONAL REQUIREMENT
Now the prohibitionists are going to nominate a man from Ohio,
Apparently believing that men from all other states are ineligible.

AS WELL AS WALK
The world will pay more attention to the Russian Bear when he begins to talk like a man.
(Copyright, 1920, by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

COMMON SENSE
The Extravagance of Leisure.
Copyright, 1920, International Feature Service, Inc.

ANOTHER BIG FISH STILL AT LARGE

YOU SHOULD HAVE SEEN THAT FISH—HOW I EVER MISSED HIM—HE WAS TWICE AS BIG AS THE LAKE—I'LL BET HE WAS A MILE LONG

More Truth Than Poetry
By JAMES J. MONTAGUE
DIFFICULTIES

When baby has the stomach ache
Or other childish ills,
The doctor comes and makes him take
A powder or some pills;
And when it is apparent that
The urchin is at ease,
He reaches for his coat and hat
And says, "Three dollars, please!"

But when it happens that the can
Gets carbonized or stalled,
We call the car-repairing man
To have it overhauled.
He keeps it at his shop until
It hits its old time gait,
And then he renders us a bill
For twenty sixty-eight.

The baby's sound in wind and limb
And seldom out of gear,
We call the doctor in for him
But once or twice a year.
The car, though given tender care
And lots of time to rest,
Will only run without repair
A week or two at best.

To lose the baby we are loath;
We hate to spare the car;
In fact we want to keep them both,
Expense as they are.
We wish the family doctor knew
The ailments of the car,
And we could take the baby to
The car-repairing man.

HE'S USED TO IT
When'er the flaunting headlines read
"MAN BUSTED ON THE JAW!"
The base ball fan exclaims: "Indeed?
That must be Jawn McGraw!"

ALMOST A CONSTITUTIONAL REQUIREMENT
Now the prohibitionists are going to nominate a man from Ohio,
Apparently believing that men from all other states are ineligible.

Refugee "Ark" Returns

WOMAN'S PARTY SPENDS $150,000 IN SUFFRAGE FIGHT

At Least $10,000 Used in Effort to Gain Ratification in Tennessee.

Chicago Tribune-Omaha Bee Leased Wire.
Washington, Aug. 22.—The National Woman's party disclosed here today that it had raised and spent $150,000 in the successful campaign for the federal suffrage amendment and that at least $8,000 of this amount was expended in an effort to get the 36th state.

From June 4, 1919, when the amendment passed the senate, to August 18, 1920, when Tennessee's ratification completed the long suffrage struggle, expenditures by the woman's party are totaled at $149,599.36, according to the report of the treasurer's department.

Since March 22, when Delaware, which suffragists hoped to make the 36th state, called its legislature in special session, $68,519.26 has been raised and spent by the national headquarters of the woman's party. This does not include the sums raised and spent by Delaware for its own campaign or spent but not yet raised, within Tennessee. The Tennessee campaign cost at least $10,000, bringing the total cost of the 36th state up to at least $80,000.

The largest contribution to the ratification fund of the woman's party was Miss Mary E. Barnhill, of Philadelphia, Pa., who gave $14,000. Next largest was the gift of Miss Fannie T. Cochrane of Pennsylvania, who gave $6,100.

Progress of the Crops.
Weekly Crop Bulletin of the Agricultural Bureau of the Omaha Chamber of Commerce.

The past week has been a red letter week in all agricultural lines. The rains have been so abundant and generally distributed over the corn belt, and the soil is so moist, that the crops are in a position to be harvested. Every part of the corn belt is in a position to be harvested. Every part of the corn belt is in a position to be harvested.

PONZI DELIVERS PART OF ASSETS TO RECEIVERS

Financial Wizard Gives Up Checks and Securities Valued at Million—Hearing Adjourned to Tuesday.

Boston, Aug. 22.—Charles Ponzi turned over to federal receivers part of what remains from the millions he received from investors in his discredited financial operations and went on the witness stand to tell about the rest. Little had been elicited as to his assets, however, when the receivers' hearing was adjourned until Tuesday.

Checks and securities which Ponzi handed over, as announced, did not greatly exceed $1,000,000. Edwin L. Pride, accountant who has been conducting the federal audit, again estimated Ponzi's liabilities at $7,000,000. Ponzi said he had additional assets.

The only business of which Pride could find any trace, he testified, was the issuing of notes for the investment of $50 per cent, and payment of early notes by receipts from later ones. There was nothing in Ponzi's books, he said, to indicate any business in international postal reply coupons, as claimed by Ponzi.

It was brought out that D. V. McIsaac and D. H. Coakley of Ponzi's counsel had received fees of $25,000 each. McIsaac explained that the Hanover Trust company, where Ponzi kept his principal account, had paid these sums on authorization from Ponzi.

Ponzi's replies to questions indicated ignorance of the conduct of his business affairs. He did not know the names of his agents, was not familiar with his accounts in several banks and was in doubt how many persons were authorized to draw checks in his name. He said he left most of these things to Lucy Meli, the 18-year-old manager of his office.

Ponzi said he was certain that he had paid out to holders of matured notes or surrendered notes an aggregate of $7,500,000.

New Railroad Practically Assured for Hayes Center
Hayes Center, Neb., Aug. 22.—(Special.) The railroad from Culbertson via Hayes Center to North Platte or Ogallala now appears to be assured. C. A. Read, of this place, who is promoting the road, will be definitely settled within the next two weeks whether the terminal on the Union Pacific will be at North Platte or Ogallala. The survey will be made as soon as that is determined.

McDermott Re-Elected As Post 52 Legion Commander
Kearney, Neb., Aug. 22.—(Special.)—Buffalo county Post 52, American Legion, third largest post in the state, in county convention unanimously re-elected E. P. McDermott as post commander. Resolutions were adopted regarding the ability of the present railroad facilities to move it.

BANK CLEARINGS
The continued hesitation in business with further yielding of commodity prices various sources again in reduction in this week's statistics of bank clearings which aggregated $7,115,539,864 at 11 leading centers in the United States, according to Dun's Review. This total contrasts with a record of $7,224,552,524 reported a year ago. The decrease from the figure of last year is due to the falling off at New York City, where last week's clearing of $4,957,649,494 was 6.5 per cent under those of this time, 1919, while an increase of 5.8 per cent appears at points outside New York. The cities showing smaller totals than in 1919 are Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City, Omaha, and Seattle, but stable gains are shown at Buffalo, Pittsburgh, Louisville, Cleveland, Detroit, Minneapolis, and Los Angeles.

Refugee "Ark" Returns War Waifs to Parents

Some of the 780 Russian war waifs who are making an almost complete circuit of the globe to be reunited with their parents. The children are on the steamship Yamai Maru, chartered by the Russian Red Cross. The vessel recently arrived at San Francisco and from there proceeded through the Panama canal for New York. From there the Yamai Maru will proceed to a Russian port.

All of the children were separated from their families during the years of civil war in Russia and many have not seen their parents since 1918.

Two sons of Baroness Willerts, Lev, 11 years old, and Robert, 12, are aboard the vessel. The last seen or heard of their mother was several years ago when she was fleeing Petrograd.

In the inset is Boris Skrateloff, or "Freckles," as he is known aboard the "Ark."

United States Objects To Jap Wireless Control
Honolulu, Aug. 22.—The United States is objecting to Japanese control over wireless communication between Thing Tau and Yap by Japan and the United States, the dispatch adds.

HOLDING A HUSBAND

Adele Garrison's New Phase of Revelations of a Wife

Why Is Dicky "Taking Such a Lot of Nonsense?"
Mrs. Lukens kept her word. I saw nothing of her save her retreating back as I sank upon one of the beds in Mrs. Lukens' sun parlor. Major Grantland promptly took himself off after a low word to Dicky, which I guessed was an assurance that he would wait outside until he was sure we needed him no longer. And into the room where I lay my mother-in-law came directly, efficient, dactylic—and welcome.

"Now, Richard," she said briskly, "if you'll just see that all Margaret's baggage is here and then take yourself off for a few minutes I'll take care of her. And I don't want to hear of your smoking in here or talking. This girl's got to get some sleep as quickly as possible."

"I'll try to restrain my usual flow of conversation, mother," he said as he sauntered toward the door. "But I think you're wrong about sleep. What Madge needs is a little improving conversation on the league of nations or the dry laws or something instructive."

WOMAN'S PARTY SPENDS $150,000 IN SUFFRAGE FIGHT

At Least $10,000 Used in Effort to Gain Ratification in Tennessee.

Chicago Tribune-Omaha Bee Leased Wire.
Washington, Aug. 22.—The National Woman's party disclosed here today that it had raised and spent $150,000 in the successful campaign for the federal suffrage amendment and that at least $8,000 of this amount was expended in an effort to get the 36th state.

From June 4, 1919, when the amendment passed the senate, to August 18, 1920, when Tennessee's ratification completed the long suffrage struggle, expenditures by the woman's party are totaled at $149,599.36, according to the report of the treasurer's department.

Since March 22, when Delaware, which suffragists hoped to make the 36th state, called its legislature in special session, $68,519.26 has been raised and spent by the national headquarters of the woman's party. This does not include the sums raised and spent by Delaware for its own campaign or spent but not yet raised, within Tennessee. The Tennessee campaign cost at least $10,000, bringing the total cost of the 36th state up to at least $80,000.

The largest contribution to the ratification fund of the woman's party was Miss Mary E. Barnhill, of Philadelphia, Pa., who gave $14,000. Next largest was the gift of Miss Fannie T. Cochrane of Pennsylvania, who gave $6,100.

Progress of the Crops.
Weekly Crop Bulletin of the Agricultural Bureau of the Omaha Chamber of Commerce.

The past week has been a red letter week in all agricultural lines. The rains have been so abundant and generally distributed over the corn belt, and the soil is so moist, that the crops are in a position to be harvested. Every part of the corn belt is in a position to be harvested. Every part of the corn belt is in a position to be harvested.

What Do You Know?
(Here's a chance to make your wife worth money. Each day The Bee will publish a series of questions, prepared by Superintendent J. H. Beveridge of the public schools. They cover things which you should know. The first complete list you should know. The first complete list you should know. The first complete list you should know.

SPADRA COAL
Furnace Wood
Harney 383
Federal Lumber & Supply Co.
40th & Leavenworth Sts.
American Telephone & Telegraph Co.
A dividend of Two Dollars per share will be paid on Friday, October 15, 1920, to stockholders of record at the close of business on Monday, September 27, 1920.
G. D. MILLER, Treasurer.