WHAT IS GRAMMAR?

Educators are banding together against a liberal movement to cut down the teaching of grammar in the public schools.

These here professors' clamor for schooling is a fright, Nobody learned me grammar But I can write all right. I ain't took time to study. And whom shall say I should, When almost anybody Can understand me good?

Them principal and madams— The high school teaching glooms— Is scared that F. P. Adams Will ketch 'em on their whoms. But Shakespeare pulled a bum one In almost every play, And Bill at least was some one, But whom is F P A?

This poet Burns' hobby Was sayin, 'I ha' knew,' But just the samey Bobbie Wrote Scotch an' drunk it too. And to some ways of thinking He done 'em both the same; His writing and his drinking Has gave him lots of game.

I ain't up much on grammar, I can't write stuff to quote, And these here critics hammer The things that I have wrote. But even them that's panned me, And claim that I am thick, Can always understand me, So they ain't got no kick!

It doesn't matter to me that I'm keeping some chap who does want to smoke out of a seat. If he doesn't want to stand up and smoke let him go back and sit down in one of the other cars where there is a seat. I know there are seats there for I have my 'buggage in one. I don't
