What's What By HELEN DECIE

Cosmetics, if used at all, should be used sparingly. Too much rouge hardens and coarsens the appearance; too much powder has a harlequin effect.

When, a few years ago, a little French mannequin started the fashion of "making-up" in public, the novelty of the thing seemed to many American girls to be so chic and audacious that, for a time, numbers of otherwise well behaved young women were to be observed decorating their faces with rouge and powder in trains and in other public conveyances.

COMMON SENSE GET RID OF THAT GROUCH. By J. J. MUNDY.

Suppose your toast was burned or cut too thin or too thick, or there was a button off your shirt and a hole in your sock. Perhaps the children awoke too early and disturbed your morning snooze and your wife was late with breakfast.

Your grouch did not cure the trouble and you punished yourself the most of anyone. Morning is usually trying in most households, and your home is not the exception; all homes have annoyances and disappointments.

But the grouchy feeling will not expedite matters at your office. You will be more tired when you get home at night if you are sour all day.

Those who work under you will reflect your ugly mood—so more trouble. If you are under some other person, you are going to put a black mark next your name every time you show up for work when you are harboring a feeling of ill will toward anyone.

Every day you put yourself in the power of a grouchy feeling you have lost a day of enjoyment you can never make up.

Dr. Caroline Spurgeon, professor of English literature at the University of London, has been elected president of the newly formed International Federation of University Women.

Beautiful Women of Society, during the past seventy years have relied upon it for their distinguished appearance. The soft, refined, pearly white complexion it renders instantly, is always the source of flattering comment. Gouraud's Oriental Cream. FURD, HOPKINS & SON, New York.

I'M THE GUY

I'M THE GUY whose idea of being "clever" is to make sarcastic and cutting remarks about you when you're in a group conversing with them. I'm so well pleased with myself that naturally everyone else seems inferior to me. And that's my way of showing you where you get off in my estimation.

I like to ridicule people and someone has to be the butt of my ready tongue and sharp wit. And if you're handy why not use you? The more you squirm the more satisfaction it gives me, because it shows me that I'm hitting the target.

And if I can get the others to laugh at you, so much the better. Then they think what a simp you are and what a bright guy I am.

Naturally I resent it if you try the same tactics on me, for my rule isn't meant to work that way. It's meant for only one victim and that's you.

Besides, you can't think of as many really mean things to say as I can. You're not built that way. I am. So your cue is to take it or walk away.

Parents' Problems

How can a revengeful spirit best be met in a little boy of five? This little boy needs careful teaching. Try to make him feel that every one means kindly toward him, and that if anyone offends him, it is usually unintentionally. Be very forgiving toward him, especially should he do an intentional wrong.

WARNING. Advertisement. Alkali in Soap Bad for the Hair.

Soap should be used very carefully. If you want to keep your hair looking its best, most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is Mulsified coconut oil shampoo (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonful of mulsified will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair the soft and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified coconut oil shampoo at any pharmacy. It's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulsified.
