

LEADERS WORRIED OVER OUTLOOK IN SUFFRAGE FIGHT

Fear Present Situation May Result in Serious Complications at Election.

Chicago Tribune-Omaha Bee Leased Wire. Washington, Sept. 3.—Fears that litigation growing out of ratification of the woman suffrage amendment may result in serious complications in the forthcoming election are beginning to agitate political leaders here.

The possibility that legal proceedings growing out of the problem, rendered more complicated by the recent action of the Tennessee house of representatives in rescinding its ratification vote, might not be decided by the supreme court of the United States until after the presidential election, is regarded as the most alarming prospect in the situation.

If litigation should result in a decision that the 19th amendment had not been legally ratified, politicians fear that the national election might be thrown into the house of representatives for a decision and also that numerous congressional elections might be questioned.

AGENT FOR COX GETS TO CHICAGO WITH EMPTY GUN

Ed H. Moore Fails to Produce Evidence Against Republicans at Senate Investigation—Probe Candidates.

By JACK ROHAN.
Chicago Tribune-Omaha Bee Leased Wire. Chicago, Sept. 3.—The senatorial investigating committee, hearing evidence on the charges of Governor Cox that the republican national committee "was raising a slush fund of $15,000,000 with which to attempt to buy the presidency" recessed at noon yesterday until September 7, with the republican party still in one piece.

Ed H. Moore of Youngstown, O., Governor Cox's pre-convention manager, who was heralded earlier in the day as on his way from Governor Cox with the evidence to shoot the party to smithereens, arrived and informed Senator Reed his gun wasn't loaded. The ammunition was in other hands. He would "give the leads and the committee could get the necessary information direct." He had come "not to testify, but to listen to the evidence for Governor Cox."

Senator Reed opined that he wanted "facts, not leads—wanted the men who could testify of their own knowledge as competent witnesses in any reasonable tribunal as to the matters at issue."
Decide on Recess.
Mr. Moore informed Senator Reed he could not do that. There was a conference of the committee. By agreement it was decided to take the recess, have Senators Reed and Pomerene get the names of the competent witnesses from Mr. Moore and issue subpoenas for the next meeting of the committee.

While the conference was going on, Mr. Moore gave a statement to the reporters, saying "the committee was not seeking evidence," and that it was within the power of the committee to give Truman H. Newberry plenty of good republican company.
The effect of this on the committee was such that after the conference lasting the greater part of the afternoon, a decision was reached to "blow the lid" off the entire political financial situation, independent of any charges of Governor Cox or of the counter charges made by the republicans. It was learned that the committee would probe the activities of every political machine—republican and democratic—down to the smallest ward unit—and that it expected to uncoil a series of scandals that would end once and for all the use of large sums of money in political campaigns.

The first move was the issuance of subpoenas for J. C. Bryson, Brazil, Ind.; Mrs. Jacob Bauer, Chicago; Fred A. Miller, Columbus; W. K. Woodford, Cleveland; Dudley S. Blossom, Cleveland; Garrett De Forest Kinney, Peoria, Ill.; Walter Dieck, Kansas City, Mo.; and H. G. Garrett, Winchester, Ky.
Call on Blair.

Subpoenas were also issued for Henry N. Blair, assistant to Fred W. Upham, treasurer of the republican national committee, who, Mr. Moore said, was "the financial genius of the republican organization and father of the city quota plan" for Mr. Moore himself, and for a number of republican field agents whose names the committee refused to make public. Senator Reed, democrat, then asked to obtain from Mr. Moore the name of every person who, and a description of every document, which would in any measure substantiate the charges made in his statement.

Before the failure of Mr. Moore to produce the proof of Governor Cox's charges caused the recess the committee heard Senator Miles Ponder, of Washington, chairman of the senatorial committee of the republican national committee, and Herman E. Henko, the treasurer of the Young Men's Republican league, with offices in Chicago.

Senator Ponder testified that the senatorial committee's fund had been fixed at $200,000 and that he expected to spend the greater part of it in the campaigns in Ohio, Oklahoma, New Hampshire, New York, Maryland, Kentucky, Indiana, Missouri, Wisconsin, North Dakota, Washington, Idaho, Oregon, California, Arizona, Nevada, Utah, Colorado and possibly Connecticut.
Mr. Henko testified that his organization was attempting to spread republican propaganda among young men and raised money to do it. He said it was in no way directly connected with the national committee beyond that "we're all for Harding and Coolidge."

New York, Sept. 3.—The resignation of Samuel Goldwyn as president of the Goldwyn Picture corporation, which he has headed since its organization four years ago, was announced today. Mr. Goldwyn has also resigned as a member of the executive committee but will retain his stock holding and will continue as a member of the board of directors.

A disagreement over the policy of the organization is rumored, is the cause of Mr. Goldwyn's resignation.

Sugar Refiners Cut Price to That Asked By the Speculators

New York, Sept. 3.—Announcements were made today bringing prices for refined sugar to about the same basis at which "second-hand" or speculators' stocks recently have been selling.
The Federal Sugar Refining company announced a new reduction of a cent a pound, making its price for fine granulated "15 cents a pound less 2 per cent."
Arbuckle Bros. did not change their list price, although they announced late last night they were offering limited amounts of fine granulated at 15 cents a pound. This is sugar that had been bought by speculators or others who have returned it to refineries to be "sold at the best price obtainable."
