

UNITED STATES TO ASK POLES TO EXPLAIN STAND

Answer to Recent American Note Leaves Question of Position Toward Russia Open, Is Opinion.

Washington, Sept. 4.—The Polish reply to the American note soliciting a declaration of Polish policy in consonance with the principle of the integrity of Russian territory, leaves the question open, in the opinion of diplomatic Washington.

It is assumed that further explanations will be demanded of Poland by the United States.

This was indicated Friday following a conference on the subject held at the White House with President Wilson by Secretary of State Colby and Under Secretary Norman H. Davis.

It is pointed out after a study of Poland's reply that the records reveal an inconsistency in Poland's policy as defined to this government. The Warsaw foreign office asserts that Poland is fighting bolshevism and not Russia, but it is recalled that the military campaign carried on against the bolsheviks is connected with a definite scheme of creating an independent Ukraine out of Russian territory and without the consent of the Russian people.

Demand Renunciation by Russia. It is also recalled that after the formulation of plans for the seizure of Kiev, but before the Kiev offensive was opened, in their peace demands upon the bolsheviks, they were rejected by the bolsheviks, the Poles insisted that Russia should renounce her sovereignty in all the territories situated to the west of the old Polish boundaries.

This action was considered by democratic and liberal Russians, as well as by the bolsheviks and the American government, as an act hostile not only to the bolshevik but to Russia as well.

May Ask Repudiation. It is believed that the State department now acting upon instructions from President Wilson, will ask for an open repudiation by the Polish government of the principle and policy contained in the note of 1917 that threatens both the integrity of Russia and to prolong the Russo-Polish war, a repudiation that is not found in the Polish note. It is also asserted by diplomats that in its communication the Polish government does not disclose what is in its mind.

It has been learned that expressions have been made by both England and France on the Russo-Polish situation that are in consonance with the declared views of the United States.

It was further pointed out, however, that the actual boundary between Poland and Russia had never been traced, and that it is difficult to estimate the Polish reaction to the American notes. While in a statement the State department intimates strongly that the exchanges of views between Washington and Warsaw have not been closed, officials think that a satisfactory understanding with Poland will be arrived at by this government.

Engagement Broken 52 Years Ago Ends In Marriage of Couple

Chicago Tribune-Omaha Bee Leased Wire. Savannah, Tenn., Sept. 4.—A courtship, an engagement, and an estrangement 52 years ago resulted in matrimony today when T. N. Gray of Gray, Okl., and Mrs. Martha Vandever, both wrinkled and gray, were married at Nixon, a small place about five miles from here.

The couple was engaged to be married 52 years ago, but circumstances prevented their meeting at the date set and they never saw each other but once until they met recently at Nixon.

They were both married and lived with their respective husband and wife for 51 years when death robbed them of their mates.

Being free to take up their old courtship they soon became re-engaged and are now happily married at the ripe old age of 70 and 72. They will make their home in Arkansas.

SCRAP ENLIVEN WOMEN'S PRIMARY AT KANSAS CITY

Owner of Polling Place Takes Advice Too Seriously—Chases Candidate Out.

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 4.—A squabble enlivened the republican women's county primary election which was held in Kansas City and Jackson county, to select members of the women's republican county committee. The row happened in one of the districts where a residence was used as a voting place.

The mistress of the house belongs to one local faction of the party, and her opponents to another.

The woman in whose house the ballots were being cast, called up neighbors, headquarters during the afternoon.

"There's a woman here," she said, "who's running for committee woman and she insists on sitting right here next the ballot box, that she'd have to get out, but she says she won't. What shall I do?"

"Get a piece of gas pipe and run her out," suggested the man on the telephone at party headquarters.

An hour later the owner, whose husband is a wholesale plumber, called back.

"I did as you said," she told headquarters. "I ran her out, but now she's back, and the whole front yard is full of negro women she brought here to vote for her. What shall I do?"

The man at headquarters was unable to offer further suggestions.

New York, Sept. 4.—Ellis Island officials ruled yesterday that a straight out peculiar matrimonial quadrangle.

Romolo Georgini and Catharina Mellisari, acknowledged "common law man and wife" and former New Yorkers, are seeking to re-enter the country with their three children after living in Italy for the last five years.

The man has a legal wife, who left him here and is now living in Italy, and the woman has a lawful husband, Henry Bombara, who arrived here yesterday from Chicago.

The woman was confronted by both husbands at the court of inquiry and asked what she wanted done. Sobbing, she begged the court to "take me to my old mother."

The mother, who lives in Brooklyn, was given one of the children yesterday, but the others, who are native born, are being held with their parents. Bombara expressed willingness to take back his wife and the children, but the common law husband, Georgini said he would marry the woman if he could get a divorce from his wife in Italy.

Georgini appealed to Washington for a final ruling and the common law family will be kept on Ellis Island until it is resolved.

War Department to Decide Upon Action in "Prison Council"

Topeka, Kan., Sept. 4.—What further action, if any, may be taken as a result of the investigation of the "Prison council" at the disciplinary barracks at Fort Leavenworth, probably will be determined by the War department or the Treasury department at Washington, according to F. L. Campbell, clerk of the United States district court, in whose office the report of the investigation was filed.

The report contained a statement by Colonel Segwick Rice, formerly commandant of the disciplinary barracks, that the prison council was established on orders from the adjutant general of the army. The prison was ruled by the council from January to July, 1919.

The failure of the system, according to witnesses, was due to the "tyrannical and overbearing" power assumed by the council, whose punishments often resulted in "beatings and black eyes."
