Since Tommy read that Ruth was educated. In a school where boys are sent when they are bad, He no longer looks on college As a place to gather knowledge, And he's lost his high ambitions that he had.

Once he hoped to wear the laurels of the learned Perched upon his little freckle-frescoed brow, And to gain a proud position With his stock of erudition, But he's working with a different purpose now.

He has borrowed little Johnny Snithers' air gun And has broken half the windows on the street; With an utter lack of feeling He has dropped banana peeling -

Where it led astray a passing copper's feet. He has cast adrift the brakes on automobiles, And has laughed to see them coasting down the hill; With molasses he's made messes Of the blonde and curly tresses That adorned his little baby sister Jill.

He's been reasoned with and scolded, even paddled, But it never seems to do a bit of good. When by chance his folks detect him, In misconduct and correct him, He declares he'd not be better if he could. # Drawn for The Bee by Sidney Smith. Express Team Is Winner in Sports Held on Labor Day

Defeats All Comers in Tug-of-War Matches-Prizes for Winners of Events Are Concession Tickets.

Those who attended the program of competitive sports at Krug park yesterday afternoon, held under the auspices of the Labor day celebration committee, were thrilled by a series of tug-of-war matches in which the railway expressmen's team defeated all comers. This event was the "piece de resistance" of the program.

The expressmen had Vogel Snyder, a 235-pounder, in the saddle for their side and, to begin with, this team pulled the carpenters from their side of the ladder in short time. Assisting Snyder for the expressmen were A. C. Lepinski, George Wollen, Lester Haller, Dan Baldwin and Lou Lepinski. A large gallery cheered the expressmen as they heered the expressmen as they

The second tug-of-war event was a match between the railway carmen and cement finishers, the former winning easily. In the third match the painters won from the all-Omaha team. In the finals for first place the expressmen made quick work of the carmen and in the finals for second place the painters and carmen tied.

Prizes for each event were given n concession tickets. A large crowd witnessed the sports which were well conducted.

The results were as follows:

A heat wave contributes much to maintain calm, but fears are expressed that the laborers will riot when they can't buy food.

In the poorer quarters in Bologna, Milan and Turin the workmen forced many bakers to deliver bread in exchange for printed slips promising payment when difficulties were settled by the employes.

Extreme agitation was noted today in transportation circles and it is feared railway strikes will develop.
