The New Bork Times.

Chleago Tribune-Omaha Bee Leased Wire.

New York, Sept. 15.—The pronounced strength of Tuesday's stock market failed to carry over into today's session. Instead, there was irregularity and confusion, with some stocks doing very well while others did very poorly. The volume of business compared well with that of other recent days, but trading was not so well distributed, especially not when placed alongside of that of the preceding day, and there was a tendency to jam a great deal of activity into a few descriptions. This was the case with the Denver & Rio Grande stocks, particularly the preferred and with such oils as Mexican Petroleum and Middle States. As a matter of fact, the two classes of Denver & Rio Grande and the two oils, between them, supplied nearly a quarter of the day's total turnover. Chicago Tribune-Omaha Bee Leased Wire. Sterling Exchange Improves If this is the case, then the investment market should continued to improve, as it has been doing for the past month and it has been doing for the past month and we may see some really comprehensive financial plans worked out this fail. What a condition which makes for easier money on a great scale will mean to general business, is of course, another matter. Sterling exchange improved further, but some of the continentals were slightly reactionary. In this market, as in money, there is a growing belief that the worst has been seen and that improvement will be the rule from now on. This, too, is still a matter of opinion and conjecture and it appears a little early to make broad predictions.

Chicago Grain

By CHARLES D. MICHAELS. Chicago Tribune-Omaha Bee Leased Wire. Chicago, Sept. 15.—New low figures on the crop were made for the deferred deliveries of corn and on December oats today, but there was a lack of the aggressive selling so noticeable the previous day. Corn held up fairly well until toward the last when the sale of 100,000 bushels cash grain to go to store for delivery on September contracts led to free selling of that future which carried the December off sharply. Closing trades were at net losses of 34@76c. September leading. Wheat received good support and closed 14c higher to 11/2c lower, and rye 1/4c higher to 34c lower. Oats were unchanged to 1/8c lower and barley unchanged. to 'ac lower and barley unchanged.

Exporters were good buyers of wheat futures here and at Kansas City and Winnipot. France was the buyer in the latter market against prospective purchases of Canadian grain. December showed the most strength. Hedging sales were small, as it the weakness in corn had but little effect. There was a good export business under way at the seaboard, presumably evering by shippers who were short. Chicago handlers sold 60,000 bushels to the seaboard.

Mill Demand Brisk.

Milling demand for wheat is brisk, and premiums on red winter at Chicago were somewhat firmer, with sales as high as 11½c over December, although that grade and No. 1 hard closed at 10c over bid. No. 1 red sold at $2.52½ and No. 1 hard at $2.51 $\preceip 2.52$. Receipts, 22 cars winter, 10 cars spring and 11 cars mixed.

Short covering, combined with a letup in pressure, gave the corn market a relatively firm undertone early, but the marked heaviness in the September, due to selling by cash houses against purchases to arrive, made a weak close, final trades being at the low point, with December and May in new low ground on the crop.

Weather conditions remain favorable for maturing the crop, and the weekly weather crop report was construed as bearish.

Pit Notes. Mill Demand Brisk.

maturing the crop, and the weekly weather crop report was construed as bearish.

Pit Notes.

With the sale of 100,000 bushels cash corn to go to store, sentiment in that grain after the close was even more bearish than of late. There were many traders who believed that the market was to work materially lower before there was any good in the buying side, despite the fact that December at the low point was off 7% of from the high of Monday. The heavy raies of old cash corn of late by the country was taken as reflecting the farmers' view regarding the outlook for the new crop, the point being made that were the new grain not maturing rapidly the country would be holding old corn.

Fiat bids of around $1.31@1.32 net, track, Chicago, were made to the country over night, for cash corn for five-day shipment. There was practically no grain offered after the close.

Hog Breeding Profitable.

Hog Breeding Profitable.

The spread between hogs and corn has widened materially of late. Attention was called to the fact that the average price of hogs at Chicago today figured out better than 12 to 1, as compared with a bushel of corn, which was regarded as a very profitable feeding difference. The five-year average is 11.5.

A builtsh view of the provision situatian is taken by W. G. Press & Co. They call attention to the fact that dwing to some packers filling contracts for 275-pound dressed hogs with Germany there has been a material reduction in the make of lard. With prospects of a large crop of corn it is expected that hogs will be held back later than usual in order to put on as much weight as possible.

One of the western corn industries, which was shut down for several days, resumed grinding today.

A large farmer of Grinnell, Ia., figures that it will cost the Iowa farmer 39c per bushel to deliver corn from the field Io consuming industries at Chicago. Hog Breeding Profitable.
