

Three Officers At Ft. Crook Hold High Army Honors

Two Colonels and Major On Staff of Seventh Corps Are Decorated by Foreign Governments.

The complement of army officers at Ft. Crook may have of honor that the Foreign Legion would be proud of, according to the record of three of the great officers.

Col. Alexander M. Miller, adjutant of the Seventh corps area, Lt. Col. William A. Graham, judge advocate of the Seventh corps, and Maj. C. H. Muller, member of the official staff at Ft. Crook, stand together in a halo of glory for honors won during their service in the army.

Miller was graduated from West Point in 1896 and served in the Ninth, Tenth, Eleventh and Sixteenth cavalry. During the world war he was chief of staff of the Fifth cavalry division, as an officer of the operations division, at Washington, and chief of staff of the Eastern department at Governor's Island, and overseas in command of the district of Paris.
