Cox is waging a desperate battle to get California in line to register its electoral vote in the democratic column in November. University Notes

"Working his way through college," is no longer a private and particular feather in the masculine cap. The women are beating him to it in Nebraska. The co-ed who "earns her own way," and may some day be president, is the modern version of the state university.

Amanda Heppner, dean of women at the University of Nebraska, has issued a call to the business and professional men of Lincoln to furnish part-time employment to the unusually large number of experienced stenographers, typists and office-trained girls who have registered at the university during the past two days and have applied for self-supporting employment while attending school.

Dr. Louis H. Gray, recently appointed professor of philosophy by the regents of the state university, is unable to return from Europe to take up his work at the university until the second semester. Dr. Gray has been government expert in Persian and near eastern affairs with the United States delegation at the peace conference and is now with the Paris embassy. He has advised Dr. H. B. Alexander, head of the department of philosophy, that he has yet work which he must finish up in London before he will be free to return to America.

Dr. Emmet Anderson, for the past three years head of the department of chemistry at Transvaal university college, Pretoria, South Africa, has been appointed a professor in the department of chemistry at the University of Nebraska. Work has been received that Professor Anderson landed in Lincoln Monday to take charge of the courses formerly held by Dr. McLeod, and will take immediate charge of some of the important freshman courses in the chemistry department.

A psychological clinic for backward children is to be established in connection with the department of philosophy and psychology at the University of Nebraska. C. O. Weber, who has had charge of similar work for the United States government, will have charge of phases of the work in the new clinic. Speakers of national and international fame have been abandoned at the university in favor of the special convocation system. The students will be called to convocations and mass meetings only for events of real interest and importance, instead of holding weekly, and poorly attended meetings, as a matter of fact. Speakers of national importance will visit the university this year and for events of this kind special convocations will be called, said Professor Grumman, chairman of the convocation committee. "The music convocations will probably be given as before for the benefit of university music lovers."

Nebraska Wesleyan

Registration at the Nebraska Wesleyan for the fall quarter has far surpassed any enrollment the university has ever experienced. This together with the increase in the size of the faculty has taxed the capacity of the building. It is estimated that 4,000 new students will be enrolled in the fall. Student activities at Nebraska Wesleyan started off with vigor this morning. A large party in White Hall. The Y. W. gave a luncheon for freshmen. The Y. M. C. held the same evening. The first issue of "Wesleyan," which is the college newspaper, appeared on Thursday in an edition of double size. Editor Furman was kept busy getting out the first issue. A strenuous journalistic campaign through the fall. Miss Joy Schreckengast will be a new member of the teaching staff at Nebraska Wesleyan this fall. Alma Holman Burton, who comes to Wesleyan after long residence in Spanish-speaking countries, has been engaged to enter service in Spanish-speaking countries in the fall. The new course in practical journalism which is being taken for the first time at Wesleyan is attracting many students. This will be given by Dr. A. C. Hunter, who has thorough training and much practical experience in journalistic work. A number of students are registered for the course. The course has been connected with newspapers and at least one who studied the subject overseas in the army. Prof. J. C. Jensen of Nebraska Wesleyan has made arrangements for a series of moving picture exhibitions to be held at Wesleyan this fall for the benefit of the university public and its friends.

Peru Normal

The Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A. and Normal schools association held a joint reception for new students in the gymnasium. President Rouse has been chosen to preside at the state convention of the pastors and laymen of the churches of Nebraska, to be held at Bethany, September 29 to 31. The first football game of the season was unusually good. Enough boys turned out for the first time. There are several candidates for the first team. Gately, all-state quarterback last year, has his position secured. Rosenquist, Sharrar, Higgins and Standley, letter men, will doubtless hold their positions on this year's team. The abundance of material will make the rest of next year's team work to hold their respective positions. The close of the first week's registration the total enrollment has passed the enrollment of 1919. There is an increase in the number of young men in attendance. The budget system for the management of the school events and student activities for the year has proven such a success for the last seven years that the same system will be continued for the coming year. Prof. C. Beck, chairman of the committee, has the year's program arranged. The first football game of the season will be played with the York college team Friday, October 1, on the home grounds. The York team last year ranked as the best in the state. Peru was a close second. The commercial department has decided to increase over a year ago. Courses will be added so students can begin work each quarter. The senior class of the normal will be one of the largest in school. Over 75 per cent of the class refused positions paying from $100 to $125 to return to complete their training. The alumni reunion will be held Thursday night, November 6, at the State Teachers' association meeting.

Thief Makes Good Forged Check With Stolen Bond

Boston, Sept. 19.—A forged check for $400 plus a stolen Liberty bond for $200 was cashed at the bank of a correction. That was the sentence Judge Day imposed on Albert L. Andrews, who was technically charged with violating his probation. A month ago he was in court charged with forging and uttering a check for $400. He got a suspended sentence on condition that he make restitution. As partial restitution he presented a Liberty bond that had been stolen.

Doane College

The largest enrollment in its history, the college and music departments each, at Doane opened up with a rush Monday. Nine letter men reported and a large squad of last year's supporters on the opening day and in a much more pleasant, better lighted and more convenient room in every way reported for work Monday afternoon. Coach Johnson reports a full schedule as almost complete. Only one contract yet remains to be closed and this one would likely be closed within the next few days. A keen interest is being shown by the citizens in the development of the Doane team. With the strong close of last year and the return of a number of letter men seems to turn all eyes on the Doane Tigers.

Rail Situation Much Improved

Reinstatement of Switchmen Resulted in General Speeding Up of Car Service.

Chicago Tribune-Omaha Bee Leased Wire. Chicago, Sept. 19.—Reinstatement of several hundred switchmen and their evident willingness and anxiety to render fairly good service has resulted in a most gratifying speeding up of car traffic and a general improvement in the freight situation, chiefly in the west and south. Officials of lines operating eastward from Chicago and St. Louis say the situation has shown marked improvement during the week.

The all-rail business in grain, both from western points direct to the seaboard, and the local movement from the country, has been good, as compared with last year. Large quantities of grain were bought this summer for export for direct shipment from interior points, and as a consequence much grain shows up first at the export ports instead of at primary market centers.

Coal tonnage is running ahead of last year and many priority orders have already been filled. Officials of southern roads report a big export movement of wheat and all lines with gulf terminals are very busy with a tonnage that compares favorably with that of a year ago. There has been no appreciable falling off of general merchandise tonnage. Roads in all directions are choosing every opportunity to put their equipment through the repair shops and are adding materially to their available supply of locomotives and cars. Plans are also under way to build about 4,000 new locomotives and about 40,000 box and gondola cars, in addition to extensive repair work on roadbeds and terminals, sadly neglected while the government was in control of the roads.

Ireland Is No Place For Englishman, He Tells Judge

London, Sept. 19.—"Ireland is no place for an Englishman," Charles Dearman told the judge in a London police court. Dearman was in the Royal Irish Constabulary at Tipperary when he came to his Sinn Fein conclusion and he came away in a hurry, leaving all his clothes behind and, in fact, he didn't even buy a ticket because he left his money behind and thus his advent in court. He was charged with traveling from Hollywood without paying his fare. "I'll say you hurried," agreed the judge, fining him $10. "Thank you, judge," Dearman said. "It's cheap at the price and I am only glad to get away at any price. I never want to see Ireland again."

Friends Are Invited to Attend Funeral: Accept

Columbus, Ind., Sept. 19.—An invitation from Anderson Percifield, an attorney of Nashville, Ind., to attend his funeral, was accepted unanimously by members of the Bartholomew County Bar association. Writing to W. C. Duncan, an attorney and a lifelong friend, the dying man said: "I am almost in the shadows of the border line between this and the life to come," and urged that "although I suppose you may view this as strange, yet it is the desire of my heart." The association members communicated acceptance of Percifield's invitation before he died.

Two Men Killed In Auto Wreck Near Beatrice

Plunge of Car From Bridge Fatal to Salesmen for Omaha and Kansas City Firms.

Beatrice, Neb., Sept. 19.—(Special Telegram.)—Paul Jensen, traveling representative of the M. E. Smith Dry Goods company of Omaha, and Ray McFillen of Beatrice, traveling salesman for the National Biscuit company of Kansas City, were killed this evening at 8:30 when a Buick roadster, driven by Jensen, plunged off a small concrete bridge on the Sixth street road, a mile south of this city.

McFillen was dead when taken from under the car, and Jensen lived only a short time after being removed from the wreckage. The men had started for Wmorc, south of here, and it is supposed they lost control of the car after passing an automobile going in the opposite direction.

They struck the culvert sideways, and the impact tore the car in two, leaving them in the ditch, the other part of the machine bounding across the ravine, landing in a heap of wreckage, burying the men. Jensen's neck was broken, and both bodies were terribly cut and bruised. Jensen was an unmarried man. McFillen's family live here. His wife is at present visiting in Omaha. Jensen was about 30 years of age and McFillen 38. There will be no inquest, according to Sheriff Schick. George Stein, a farmer, was the first on the scene. He found them as above stated.

Would Give Irish Voice in League

Franklin Roosevelt Says Half Truth of Republicans Worse Than Whole Lie.

Bridgeport, Conn., Sept. 12.—Franklin D. Roosevelt, democratic vice presidential candidate, tonight wound up two days of campaigning in Connecticut, speaking from the same stand Col. Theodore Roosevelt used in his campaign speeches. In the course of his speech, while he was touching on the league of nations, someone called out, "What about Ireland?"

Mr. Roosevelt said that the republican charge that the United States was not on equality with Great Britain in the league was a half-truth, which is worse than a whole lie. To his interrogator at this point, he said: "It is my dearest hope that in a short time Ireland will have a voice in the league of nations."

Mr. Roosevelt, in discussing the nomination of Senator Harding and the republican leaders, said: "Suppose that, in 1917 or 1918, Senator Harding or Senator Lodge or your own Senator Brandegee, or, on the other side, the president of the United States, had got up and said: 'Fellow citizens, all we are after in this war is a military victory, and when we have defeated the forces of the central empires we will bring our troops home and make a separate peace with Germany, reconstitute The Hague tribunal and draw a Chinese wall around ourselves and let Europe and the rest of the world go to the devil.'"
