

Tropical Storm Hits Louisiana Coast in Night

Wires All Down and Officials Are Experiencing Difficulty in Obtaining Information from Stricken Regions.

New Orleans, La., Sept. 22.—The tropical hurricane last night hit the Louisiana coast, striking with full force at a point close to Morgan City, Dr. I. M. Chne, district forecaster of the local weather bureau, announced today.

With wires down between here and points along the gulf coast to the west, weather bureau officials today were experiencing extreme difficulty in obtaining information from the section where the storm passed inland.

Southern Pacific railway officials said trains from that section were being greatly delayed because of high water and destruction of telegraph wires.

Anxiety was expressed here for the sugar and rice crops. Morgan City is close to one of the greatest rice growing sections of Louisiana. To the north sugar plantations of the Tchou country were believed to have been in the direct path of the storm.

Indications today were that the fishing villages along Lake Borgne, which figured in last night's storm reports, were hit by a series of gales and did not experience the force of the main disturbance.

Only the customary damage which follows heavy winds was reported from the villages, although railroad bridges were thrown out of plumb and traffic delayed on the Louisville and Nashville railroad.

Washington, Sept. 22.—The center of the tropical hurricane passed inland west of the Mississippi river during last night and is now over northern Louisiana, the weather bureau announced early today. The bureau said the storm would diminish in intensity. Warnings on the gulf coast were ordered down at 9:30 a. m.

Radical Elements Fail in Efforts to Control Mine Unions

Indianapolis, Sept. 22.—The radical element in the United Mine workers of America failed in its efforts to win the majority of the nominations for national officers of the organization, it was announced at the offices of the union. The board of international tellers announced that John L. Lewis, conservative, had been re-nominated by a vote of 926 to 484 over Robert H. Harlan of Washington for international president. Vice President P. Murray of Pennsylvania defeated Alexander Howatt of Kansas for the nomination for international vice president, 770 to 667. William Green, international secretary and treasurer, was re-nominated without opposition.

Bishops Will Discuss Conditions in Mexico

Washington, Sept. 21.—The Catholic bishops and archbishops of Mexico will hold a convention October 12, at which the principal topic of discussion will be social problems of the republic with particular reference to bolshevism, which is on the increase in the country, according to official advices from Mexico City. Recent reports of conditions in Yucatan, including an abortive attempt to set up a soviet government which is regarded by officials here and in Mexico City as symptomatic of the alarming Mexican government and an official investigation there is now being made.

Company Stores Urged by Davis

Says Plan Is One of Best Ways to Stabilize Labor Conditions.

New York, Sept. 21.—Transformation of the familiar "company store" operated in connection with industrial plants into a co-operative institution in which workers may share in the profits, was declared to be one of the best stabilizers of labor by Hymel Davis, federal commissioner of conciliation, appearing before the United States senate committee on reconstruction and production here.

He asserted that the "antipathy of workers against company stores is based on the belief that they are giving back to the bosses part of their earnings by way of added profits." With this idea eradicated, he said, and an institution established whereby laborers may expect dividends, the "migratory habits of labor, especially among the miners of the west," will be materially checked.

Ex-Kaiser Main Figure in Amerongen Fete

Doorn, Holland, Sept. 22.—William of Hohenzollern, former German emperor, promises to be the central figure of the gala week which began yesterday in this city and in Amerongen, which for more than a year was the home of the former monarch. Activities of Reds and Poles Over for Winter

Bolsheviki Unable to Wage Campaign During Cold Weather, Due to Lack of Equipment and Food.

By HENRY J. REILLY. New York Times-Chicago Tribune Cable. Copyright, 1920.

Warsaw, Sept. 21.—Careful examination of the general situation of the bolsheviki in Poland and the bolsheviki are over, at least until spring, because the bolsheviki are unable to renew the war before winter begins and cannot fight a winter campaign, due to lack of equipment and food to prevent their armies from starving and freezing to death, and also because the Poles are anxious for peace.

During the Riga peace negotiations the bolsheviki will make a maximum effort through the usual diplomatic propaganda methods, to force the Poles to terms which they were unable to gain through their invasion of Poland.

The actions of the British government throughout the recent crisis have convinced the bolsheviki they have not underestimated the present military weakness of the British empire and that through sufficient pressure it is possible to compel the British government to aid them.

They know, One, Eleyd George advised the Poles to accept terms which would have ruined Polish independence; two, that the British minister presented a 12-hour ultimatum to the Polish prime minister; three, that when the bolsheviki were nearest Warsaw and the Poles had the greatest need of unity, a separatist movement was started in Posen, the first object being the prevention of further Posen troops going to aid the main Polish army under the plea they were needed for the Posen home defense and that the British secretly backed this movement; four, during the time when the Poles most needed ammunition its delivery was prevented through a virtual closing of Danzig, which really was under British control.

The bolsheviki know that nearly everywhere a deep discontent exists, due to the high cost of living. Bolsheviki understand thoroughly while nationalism is far from communism and that even strong socialist European parties as a rule have little in common with bolshevism, no government can ignore these questions under the plea that bolshevism must be wiped out first.

The bolsheviki know any government opposed to one or the other or both of these movements is peculiarly open to attacks.

Great Britain faces more problems than any other nation. Her power cannot cope with a land power like Russia, occupying a central position and much nearer central Asia and the Indian ocean, the weakest points of the British empire, than England herself. Evacuation of the Caucasus and Black sea plus the difficulties now facing Mesopotamia plus the hasty according of a certain form of self-government to Egypt, whose territory includes the Suez canal, the key of the route to India, all confirm the theory of British military weakness and the possibility of exercising pressure for diplomatic ends.

World Watching U.S. Prohibition

Sir Auckland Geddes Addresses International Congress Against Alcoholism.

Washington, Sept. 22.—Prohibition in the United States has attracted the attention of the world, Sir Auckland Geddes, British ambassador, declared in addressing the opening session of the 15th International Congress Against Alcoholism. In support of his assertion Sir Auckland told the congress that detailed reports of his proceedings had been requested by his home government and that the governments of other nations were undertaking studies of the sociological and economic effects of total abstinence.

Virtually all of the nations of the South American republics were represented at the opening session. After greetings had been extended by Assistant Secretary of State Merle Smith and Director General Rowe of the Pan-American union replies were made by the heads of the various foreign delegations.

The congress elected Edwin C. Dinwiddie, former legislative superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of America, chairman. He suggested Premier de Bearenbroeck of The Netherlands, who was made president of the international committee of the congress. E. H. Harrington of Westerville, O., was chosen secretary of the congress and of the international committee.

Socialists of New York Again Are Expelled

Three of Five Members of State Assembly, Unseated in April, Again Thrown Out.

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 22.—The assembly of the New York state legislature last night, by a vote of 90 to 45 in each case, expelled three of the five socialist members—Louis Waldman and August Claessens of New York and Charles Solomon of Kings county—and voted, 87 to 48, to permit Samuel A. Dewitt and Samuel Orr, socialist members from the Bronx, to retain their seats. The two last named, however, after a vote to reinstate Waldman had been lost, 81 to 52, took the floor in turn and verbally tendered their resignations.

Proceedings Tame.

The proceedings were not unlike those that occupied virtually all of March 31 and into the early morning of April 1 at the last session, when all five were barred from their seats, except that last night the dramatic situation and excitement that attended the first ouster was lacking.

The resolution calling for the expulsion of the five socialists was introduced yesterday by Col. R. H. Gillett, republican, Columbus county, and today the judiciary committee, to which it was referred, reported the resolution back to the house for consideration without recommendations. During the day a move on the part of several assemblymen resulted in Assemblyman Cuvillier, democrat, of New York, presenting three amendments which provided for the unseating of Waldman, Claessens and Solomon. Later Assemblyman Wells, republican, of Kings county, offered two additional amendments to provide for the unseating of Orr and Dewitt.

Say Action Unamerican.

The socialists took part in the debate and each declared he had come to the session to serve the people in helping to solve or remedy the housing situation and not to make apologies or defenses of the socialist party or because they were socialists. They characterized the proceedings as unamerican.

Some of the members who had expressed in their arguments the opinion that Waldman, Claessens and Solomon should be expelled because it was alleged that they had been found personally to be guilty of disloyalty, brought from Orr and Dewitt the declaration that they Both Republican and Democratic State Conventions Go On Record Against Influx of Orientals.

Sacramento, Cal., Sept. 22.—Resolutions looking towards more stringent restrictions upon oriental immigration into the United States were outstanding features of the republican and democratic state conventions both of which adjourned here early today.

A resolution adopted by the republican convention placed the gathering on record as favoring "cancellation of the gentleman's agreement" with Japan; exclusion of "picture brides"; rigorous exclusion of Japanese immigrants, and confirmation and legalization of the policy that Asiatics shall be forever barred from American citizenship," an amendment to the federal constitution providing that no child born in the United States of alien parents shall be considered an American citizen unless both parents are of a race eligible to American citizenship.

The republican national party platform was approved and the administration of Gov. Wm. D. Stephens endorsed. No specific mention was made of prohibition but one plank declared for "rigid enforcement of all laws."

The democratic platform includes a plank seeking a federal amendment to prevent Japanese children born in this country from acquiring citizenship, endorsed the league of nations, sent greetings to President Wilson and endorsed Senator James D. Phelan's measure in congress to exclude Japanese from this country.

Both conventions selected presidential electors.

Man Awarded Medal After Waiting 28 Years for It

Spokane, Wash., Sept. 22.—After waiting 28 years for a medal awarded him by the United States Treasury department for saving the life of a fisherman whose boat had been capsized and washed on the rocks of the Golden Gate at San Francisco in 1894, Henry Schomer has received his award, he announced. Schomer then was known as Henry King. He left for Alaska shortly after the act.

Clothing Prices to Drop, But Not for Some Time Yet

Chicago, Sept. 22.—Clothing prices are too high and must come down, according to members of the Retail Clothiers' association at a meeting here. In the same breath they warn the public that the reduction will be slow and gradual, but that in time at least 30 per cent must be scaled off present prices. Relief may begin to show in the spring, but not now, as merchants say they are not giving much thought to styles, as they are engrossed with the problem of how to meet the insistent demand of the public for better and cheaper garments.

The use of lard in cooking again proved old-fashioned and expensive

ANIMAL fat soaks up in the food when you cook with it. This is not only wasteful, but it makes the food greasy and indigestible.

Mazola, the Great American Cooking Oil, is used so hot it cooks the outside of the food quickly. Hence it doesn't soak into the food—to anything near the extent of lard.

This fact was again demonstrated when Mrs. A. Louise Andrea, famous expert in modern cookery, fried 2 1/4 lbs. of fish steaks in 2 lbs. of Mazola. The same amount of lard fried only 1 1/2 lbs. The fish steaks were cut to an average thickness of one inch.

During the same series of experiments—which can be duplicated by anyone interested—Mrs. Andrea fried 2 1/2 lbs. of potatoes in 2 lbs. of Mazola, while the same amount of lard cooked only 7 lbs. 14 oz. of potatoes.

Also, of doughnuts, Mrs. Andrea fried 208 in 2 lbs. of Mazola, while 2 lbs. of lard fried only 138 doughnuts.

The wonderful economy of Mazola is now indisputably proved. It is at least twice as economical for frying doughnuts as lard. It goes nearly twice as far in frying fish, and three times as far in frying potatoes.

No wonder Mazola is acclaimed by more than seven million housewives, and that it is found universally in the best hotels, clubs and dining cars of leading railroads.
