True Bills Returned Against Sox Players—Two Confess To Throwing World Series Games.

single over second base that sent Rath to third and he scored when Groh flied to Jackson, Rath beating Jackson's throw to the plate.
Chicago tied this run in the next inning, Kopf putting Jackson on second with a wild throw. Felsch sacrificed him to third and Gandil dropped a little fly safely in center, scoring Jackson.
The end of Cicotte's pitching and the runs that ultimately won the game, were scored by Cincinnati in the fourth inning. All the damage was done with two out. With Kopf on first, Neale and Wingo singled and Reuther, the hard-hitting Cincinnati pitcher, drove a three-base hit to the center field bleachers. Rath doubled and Daubert singled the combination resulting in five runs. Wilkinson took Cicotte's place after Daubert's single and Groh flied to Felsch. The final score of this game was 9 to 1.

Fourth Game Thrown.
The fourth game played at Chicago was also deliberately thrown away, according to the court officials who heard Cicotte's statement to the grand jury. The Reds won this game, 2 to 0, Ring, pitching for Cincinnati, holding the American league champions to three hits. Both Cincinnati's runs were made in the fifth inning when two of Cincinnati's hits were bunched with a wild throw to first by Cicotte and a bad throw to the plate by Jackson, which the pitcher intercepted and muffed. The play of the fifth inning was sent over the Associated Press wires as follows:
"Roush was out, Schalk to Gandil, the ball rolling half way to the pitcher's box, Duncan was safe when Cicotte threw his drive wide to first, the ball going to the stand and Duncan stopped at third but scored when Jackson threw wild to the plate. Kopf reached second. Neale sent one over Jackson's head and Kopf scored. Neale reached second. It was a two-base hit. Wingo out, Ed Collins to Gandil, Neale going to third. Ring drove a vicious ground-er that Ed Collins got and threw him out at first. Two runs, two hits two errors."

The rest of the game was played sharply and so far as the records show, cleanly. Cicotte pitched through the nine innings.
Pitches Sixth Game.
Cicotte's next appearance in the series was in the sixth game when Cincinnati had four victories to its credit against one defeat. Richard Kerr, the diminutive left-handed pitcher, having shut out the champions in the third game. The veteran twirler who today confessed the big gambling deal, went through nine innings and held his opponents to seven hits. Chicago won the game 4 to 2, hitting Sallee hard in the first five innings. Jackson and Felsch each got two hits and between them drove in all of Chicago's runs.

Billy Maharg, Philadelphia prize fighter, who last night in Philadelphia issued a statement connecting Cicotte with the gambling deal and charging Abe Attell, former fighter, headed the business of the deal. The Sox were double-crossed by Attell and never received $100,000 which had been promised them. It was late in the series before they found this out. Maharg asserted, as Attell kept postponing the day of settlement, saying he needed the money to bet.

Besides the two defeats registered against Cicotte in the series, three others were chalked up against Claude Williams. The latter, a "side arm" left hander, was wild in the second and fifth games, which went to the Reds, 4 to 2 and 5 to 0. In the eighth and last game of the series he was found for four solid hits in the first inning and that game and the title of world's champions went to Cincinnati, 10 to 5. Williams' lack of control was generally regarded as the cause of his defeat in the record of the second contest saying:
"While Cincinnati obtained only four hits, these came at opportune times when they had been preceded by bases on balls off Williams."

Fifth Game Shutout.
The fifth game was a shutout triumph for Hod Eller, the big "shut out" expert of the Cincinnati pitching staff. Only three hits were made off him and he established a world's series record by striking out the side in two successive innings. All told, Eller had nine strikeouts that day. Four of Cincinnati's five runs were grouped in the sixth inning. Eller doubled. Rath scored him with a single and moved to second on Daubert's "bunt perfectly laid," as the referee at the game said. Williams walked Groh. Rousch drove a three-base hit to Felsch's territory, scoring two runners and himself. Felsch doubled after Duncan flied to Jackson.
Both Cicotte and Jackson were cloaked with the jury for a considerable time today and later court officials reported that they told their stories in substantial detail. As they left the room they were taken in custody by detectives of the state's attorney's office and taken away. Their detention was not in the nature of an arrest and it was announced that they would be released later.

Cicotte, who, earlier in the day, had vehemently denied any part in the alleged plot as described by Maharg at Philadelphia, admitted on the stand, officials of the court said, that the Philadelphia story was substantially correct.

Tell of Double-Cross.
The court officials also quoted Cicotte as saying that the players had believed that "Chick" Gandil, who, he said, was interested in the dealings with the gamblers, had "double-crossed" them and that Maharg's story was the first intimation they had that Attell had "held out" on the $100,000 which had been promised them.

truce bills had been with the White Sox for periods ranging from four to nine years. Cicotte was purchased from Boston in 1912 for the waiver price. Joe Jackson was bought from Cleveland in 1915 for a large sum in cash and some players in trade. Felsch was purchased from Milwaukee of the American association in 1914; McMullin, from Los Angeles in 1916; Risberg from Vernon of the Pacific Coast league in 1916. Williams from Salt Lake in 1916 and Weaver from York, Pa. in 1911. The purchase price of the eight, paid by Comiskey, represents a tidy fortune.

Will Bare All Angles.
The investigation by the grand jury will continue until all phases of base ball gambling have been laid, it was announced by officials. The investigation started two weeks ago following reports that a game played here August 31, by the Cubs and Philadelphia Nationals was "fixed" and the inquiry into last year's world series came up only as an incident to the other inquiry.
Assistant States Attorney Harry Replogle, in charge of the case, said that indictments to be drawn up tomorrow on today's true bills may contain several counts. The true bills themselves specified but one alleged offense, "conspiracy to commit an illegal act." The penalty provided upon conviction on this count would be one to five years in the penitentiary and a fine of not more than $10,000.
"This is just the beginning," Mr. Replogle said tonight. "We will have more indictments within a few days and before we get through we will have purged organized base ball of everything that is crooked and dishonest."
Going After Gamblers.
"We are going after the gamblers now. There will be indictments within a few days against men in Philadelphia, Indianapolis, St. Louis, Des Moines, Pittsburgh, Cincinnati and other cities. More base ball
