

Brother of Parson Financier Takes Over Boys' Home

Despite Loss of Y. M. B. A. Jenkinson Says He'll Make Fortune and Pay All Debts.

How Rev. Robert E. Jenkinson, young preacher-promoter of the United Shale company and organizer of the Young Men's Business association, was to effect huge profits from oil produced from 6,000 acres of shale land on which he obtained an option for $200, is borne out in a statement made to Detective Charles Pipkin, head of Pipkin's Detective Agency.

Outstanding among the preacher's financial escapades involving unpaid notes and automobiles, was his get-rich-quick plan of producing a high test gasoline by the mixture of kerosene with water.

"Not if the boys will only give me a chance, I can show them that I can effect that process," his statement declares.

But the boys have all decamped. The Young Men's Business association at 114-116 North Twenty-fifth street has practically been dissolved.

House is Deserted. The mansion where, during the past five months, Rev. Jenkinson held sway over from 30 to 100 young men who lived there for $65 a month each and a promise of a "bonus" to be determined by the profits of the shale company, is empty.

Arthur Jenkinson, brother of the preacher, is in charge of the place. "Robert is out of the proposition all together," he said today. "His past is wiped out as far as I am concerned. Though he stated he would start anew the Y. M. B. A., will not have anything to do with him or his finances."

Rev. Jenkinson still is in the city. Apparently, his arrest in Denver two weeks ago on the specific charge of passing a spurious check, and the investigation into his business affairs in Omaha, has not affected him.

Wife Stands By Him. His wife, formerly Miss Martha Petersen, and her father, W. C. Petersen, 4712 North Fortieth street, are staunchly standing behind Jenkinson.

How Rev. Jenkinson was to have controlled interest of the United Oil Shale company and the history of the organization is brought out in his statement.

"I came to Omaha five months ago with practically nothing," it reads. "I conceived the organization of the shale company when I learned I could obtain an option on 6,000 acres of land in Colorado for $200. I was to pay the rest, between $30,000 and $40,000, within 180 days. My boarding house scheme was to help me make the payment. A profit of $40 a month on each of 100 men at the house meant $4,000 a month. I figured I could double the number of boarders and even get an extension of my option."

Then the capitalization of the company would come: 15 1-3 per cent of the stock was to go to Joe Genet in Denver for his process of taking oil from the land, and also for the process of making a high test gasoline from kerosene and water. I was to get 33 1-3 per cent for organizing the company. The remaining 51 1-3 per cent was to be issued in shares.

"Why it was a sure thing. The company that has land adjoining mine is a $1,000,000 concern. But things are different now. A financial panic hit me, and I had to sell the car. I'm willing to make good every promise I have made. I don't know whether my options on the land are still good or not, but six weeks I'll be on my feet. Post dated checks don't worry me any more. I'll make them good."

Business Men Help Him. Rev. Jenkinson declined to give the names of the business men in Omaha who assisted him financially in the organization. "Plenty of big business men here helped me and are willing to stick by me," the statement reads.

Whether Jenkinson expects to return to the ministry or not, he did not state.

Caruso Climbed to Fame and Fortune From Humble Start. The life-story of Enrico Caruso, the world's greatest tenor, who will sing here Tuesday, October 12, by special arrangement with the Metropolitan Opera company, is interesting in the extreme. There is no artistic living that has arrived at such heights of artistic and financial success from such an unpromising and almost penniless beginning.

Caruso was born in Naples in 1874. His father was a mechanic; the tenor himself worked for some years at his father's trade for the equivalent of about 40 cents a day, and he is said to have been an industrious apprentice. "Until I was 18," Caruso related, "I was in doubt as to whether I had a tenor or a baritone voice. I started to sing in Italian churches when I was 10 years old. At 18 I began taking lessons, but I left my first teacher very soon because he could not tell me anything about the quality of my voice. Another teacher, whom I found, said that my classmates called it a glass voice, perhaps because it broke too easily."

Noted Editor to Address Humane Convention Here

Leopold L. Wilder of Albany, N. Y., Chief Speaker for Meeting October 25-28.

One of the most interesting conventions of the year to be held in Omaha and an event of wide importance is the 44th annual convention of the American Humane association, which will bring to Omaha the best known humanitarians and social workers in the United States and the sessions will be replete with papers and discussions relating to many new and vital problems.

In addition to the formal papers and addresses, there will be general discussions and interchange of views at round-table gatherings, and throughout the country interest in delegates and communities will be presented by the workers.

Among those taking a prominent part in the discussions will be Leopold L. Wilder, managing editor of the National Humane Review, published at Albany, N. Y. Mr. Wilder, who for many years has been one of the editors of the Springfield Republican of Springfield, Mass., is a man of keen intellect, and as field secretary of the American Humane association has had a splendid opportunity to observe all phases of humane work throughout the country.

Of great importance will be the matters relating to child protection which will be considered, and which probably will lead later to important legislation of benefit to children. Among the topics will be social hygiene, probation, law enforcement in behalf of children, the preservation of the home, prostitution, illegitimacy, children's shelters and the duty of the state toward the little ones.

Many problems for the benefit of animal protection will also be discussed, among them: trapping, range stock conditions, traffic regulations, stable care, animal shelters, dog pounds, bird protection, moving picture cruelty, slaughterhouse abuse, every day neglect of animals, humane killing and animal ambulances.

Iowa University Professor, To Address Ad-Sell League. Prof. O. E. Klingaman, director of extension division, University of Iowa, will speak before the Advertising-Selling League Monday night on the subject, "Doubling Sales on Old Territory." A number of former University of Iowa men will be guests of the Advertising-Selling league at this meeting.

recklessly at the time of the accident and he failed to hear him sound his horn. Stoler was sentenced to three days in jail two weeks ago by Judge Fitzgerald on a charge of reckless driving. He begged the judge at that time to suspend the sentence to allow him to attend religious services in connection with Jewish holidays, but his request was denied by the judge. No More Golden Rule Calls. Sergt. George Emery of the motorcycle squad of the Omaha police department yesterday announced speeders and reckless-drivers would no longer be served with golden rule summons to appear in court, but would be taken direct to police headquarters, where they would be lodged in jail or released on heavy bond, according to the circumstances of each case. Emery is acting under the orders of Chief Eberstein.

Chauffeur Given 15 Days In Jail for Hitting Aged Man

Son Testifies Father Is Permanently Injured—Judge Scores Dilatory Witness.

Isadore Stoler, 18, 1104 North Twenty-fourth street, chauffeur for the Central market, was sentenced to 15 days in jail by Judge Foster in Central police court yesterday.

Stoler was the driver of the truck which ran down and severely injured Smith Clark, 81, 1609 North Thirty-fourth street, August 25, at Seventeenth and Harney streets.

The aged man will never leave his bed because of the injuries and shock he received at the time of the accident, his son, Frank, told Judge Foster this morning.

During hearing of testimony in the case Judge Foster disputed the words of several witnesses and severely scored H. A. Kline, 2550 Farnam street.

Describe Accident. Kline failed to appear in court as a witness and had to be taken to the station in a police car on a court order.

Judge Foster told Kline that a second offense of that nature would involve him in contempt of court action.

B. W. Gill, 620 North Thirty-third street, testified he was the first witness of the accident to reach the aged man. Gill declared he pulled Clark from beneath the wheels of Stoler's machine. He said Stoler was driving Blood-Iron Phosphate For Weak, Thin Folks. Weak, thin, nervous people almost invariably owe their condition to lack of phosphate in the nerves and lack of iron in the blood. One of the surest, quickest and safest ways in which to make up the deficiency is to take with each meal a five-grain tablet of this phosphate and iron known among druggists here as Blood-Iron Phosphate; because it supplies iron to the blood as well as phosphate to the nervous system. People who have tried it say that one five-grain tablet taken with each meal quickly restores depleted nervous energy, enriches the blood, increases strength, vitality and endurance, and those who are too thin usually put on pounds of solid stay-there flesh in a short time. Inasmuch as Sherman & McConnell and all other druggists are authorized to sell Blood-Iron Phosphate under a guarantee of satisfaction or money back every thin weak, nervous or anemic man or woman should give it a trial without delay.

Important — Blood-Iron Phosphate is sold only in original packages, containing enough for three weeks' treatment, at $1.50 per package—only 50 cents a week.
