

Little Entente Work to Enlarge Membership

Founders Endeavoring to Include All Countries of the Balkans and Poland in Movement.

Chicago Tribune-Omaha Bee Leased Wire. Washington, Oct. 10.—The founders of the "Little Entente"—the statesmen of Roumania, Jugo-Slavia and Czechoslovakia—are working for an enlargement of the membership of the alliance until it shall embrace all the countries of the Balkans and Poland, it was learned today in an official source. The adherence of Greece to the entente is confidently expected soon by officials at Bucharest, the birthplace of the Little Entente idea, and the place where all preliminary work was largely done.

Dispatches from Bucharest state that the sentiment in favor of the alliance is very strong in Greece, where the tradition of the old Balkan alliance is kept alive. The relations between Greece and Roumania are exceptionally cordial and the principles of the entente, as expressed by Roumanian statesmen, are heartily endorsed by the leaders of Greek political thought.

Bulgaria, although a foe in the late war, is also desirous of joining the entente. It has been pointed out officially in both Bulgaria and Roumania that there are no differences outstanding between the two countries, and expressions of friendly sentiment by the Bulgarian premier, Stambulisky, have been favorably acknowledged by the entire Roumanian press. Both countries have advanced far on the work of reconstruction after the war, and the statesmen of both countries have agreed to forget past differences in the work of building for the future.

Rival factions in Roumanian politics are as one in the policy of the organization of the little entente. Alexander Vaida, former foreign minister, and Take Josphu, the present foreign minister of Roumania, worked in harmony in the early work of forming the alliance, and with the same end in view—the enlargement of the alliance until peace in the Balkans could be guaranteed. It was officially announced that the policy of these two present-day statesmen of Roumania aimed at "an alignment of the people of southeastern Europe for insuring peace and safeguarding mutual interests."

Soap King Causes Stir By Severing Canvas Head From Shoulders

London, Oct. 10.—Lord Leverhulme, British soap king, threw London artists into great excitement, when, much displeased with a portrait of himself done by Augustus John, distinguished Welsh artist, recently painted for the National Portrait society, he seized a knife and severed the canvas head from its equally canvas shoulders.

Patrons of Mr. John believe that legal action will follow. Lord Leverhulme's "decapitation oils," but possibility of court procedure depends upon a nice point in law—ownership of the copyright of the destroyed canvas.

Canadian Business Circles in "Panic" Over Drop in Prices

Ottawa, Ont., Oct. 10.—High sugar prices, compared to the United States, and a wool market, said to be "in a panic" by the live stock branch of the agricultural department, disturbed Canadian business circles.

Canadian sugar refiners appealed to the government to guard them against loss, asserting that, while the wholesale price is 19 1/2 cents, it is offered for half that price across the border. The Canadian customs provides for valuation of goods for duty at the prevailing wholesale price in the country whence they are exported.

Re-entry of Australian wool into open markets of the world, action of American growers in holding wool for higher prices and failure of free selling to materialize are said to be contributory factors to the "panic," described in a statement by the agricultural department.

First Pig Club in Platte County Formed in Columbus

Columbus, Neb., Oct. 10.—(Special.)—The St. Mary's Pig club was organized by County Agent R. E. Blackburn with a full staff of officers. During the club year they will study building a self-feeder, building an individual farrowing shed and judging, as well as feeding. The purpose of the club is to teach its members how to feed and care for pigs. This is the first pig club organized in Platte county.

Confidence in Future. Certainly there has been a drastic alteration of opinion, and everywhere the effect of numerous corporations to reduce floating debt, denotes a purpose of carrying over in hand capital through security liquidation. The easy manner in which many millions of dollars are being raised, purely for the task of protecting inventories, keeps confidence on the part of both banker and investor that the current difficult situation will work out right in the end. The recovery from last week's minimum price levels, where they occurred, were feeble and inconspicuous, a changed attitude among commodities. The stock market disclosed the activities of speculators who were still committed to the lowering side of values. It is possible that two developments which will appear little later may have important influence on the shaping of the course of prices. One is compared in the state of credit and money when the autumn demands begin to slacken, as they should before the end of October; the other lies within the steel and iron trade. Steel and iron prices, while still with other commodities, but the fall has been reluctant in case of most products which "dependent" companies have priced higher than the ruling unit, there remains a considerable distance to go before the base prices of March, 1919, are reached.

Report Reds in New Offensive Against Poles

Moscow-Communist States That Bolsheiki Have Retaken Minsk—Advancing All Along Line.

New York Times—Chicago Tribune Cable, Copyright, 1920.

Riga, Oct. 10.—Delegates to the Russian-Polish peace conference here were informed today through a Moscow communicate that a new offensive had been set in motion by the bolshevik armies against the Poles on the Galician front.

Minsk, the communicate stated, had been retaken, and it was claimed that the reds were advancing against the Poles all along the line. Despite contrary reports from the Polish capital, George Tchetcherin, the soviet minister of foreign affairs, telegraphed the red delegates here today that the red armies in south Russia had taken the initiative against the combined forces of General Baron Wrangel and General Maklinski, the guerrilla leader, and were scoring gains and advances. M. Tchetcherin added that the soviet armies were greatly aided in this drive by peasant uprisings against the Wrangel government.

At bolshevik headquarters here today there was a question as to whether this news of new red military successes would have any effect upon the peace negotiations. Nevertheless, indications point to a stormy session of the commissions tonight, with Chairman Joffe of the Moscow delegation assuming the offensive.

The commissions have held both day and night sessions during the past few days, but there still is no indication when their work will be completed. The general impression is that the negotiations will be prolonged well into next week.

Only four articles, it is stated, have been definitely settled and there are many points of divergence still to be ironed out. The chief hitch to a speedy armistice concerns duration of the armistice and, upon the question of how soon the armistice could be terminated by either side.

The Poles are standing out for a short armistice with the right to break it off upon five days' notice. They also contend that the armistice shall not begin until 10 days after the articles are formally signed.

Old-Fashioned Rest Cure Best for Cold, Doctor Says

Boston, Oct. 10.—To those thousands of men, women and children who are suffering from "the prevalence of colds," Dr. Lyman A. Jones of the state department of health, gave this advice:

"Colds are highly communicable. Isolate yourselves. Take a day or two off. Rest up. Resort to any of the 'old-fashioned' treatments." While the health department is concerned primarily in contagious and infectious diseases, Dr. Jones said that, as a practicing physician, he has come to his attention "the existence of a great prevalence of colds," and he gave gratis the above advice.

More Craftsmen Than Unskilled Laborers Entering United States

American Industry Disheartened by Immigration Figures Showing That While Country Gained in Professional Men, It Lost 100,000 Workers.

By ARTHUR M. EVANS. Chicago Tribune-Omaha Bee Leased Wire.

Washington, Oct. 10.—American industry finds little solace in the occupational tables of 1920 immigration. Skilled labor and the professional ranks were increased by the migratory tide. But common, unskilled labor, the scarcity of which has given industry one of its hardest pinches and has helped speed up the cost of living, was drained of 100,000 workers.

In the fiscal year, ended last June 30, more craftsmen entered America than departed. The same was true of doctors, editors, ministers, engineers, teachers, actors and other professional occupations. But in front of unskilled labor, which is at the bottom of employment for all other groups, was hung a large minus sign. This is how his migration.

Alien Migration. Came In. Went Out. Professional Workers 12,449 3,379 Skilled Workers 69,967 20,782 Merchants 7,341 4,584 Laborers 81,734 183,820 Short 3,000,000 Laborers.

A shortage of at least 3,000,000 in common labor, which is a basic factor in industry, is estimated by careful observers as the result of suspended immigration alone during the war years. On top of this the movement of common labor for the last three years has been outward. In 1918, 14,659 were admitted and 34,590 departed. In 1919, 18,251 came in and 74,114 went out. Adding the figures for the year finished June 30, 114,642 alien laborers arrived in three years and 292,524 went back.

Cruiser Leaves Port Under Secret Orders

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 10.—The super-dreadnaught Mississippi, at anchor at Port Angeles, Wash., departed hurriedly for an unnamed destination.

Upon receipt of orders, visitors aboard were hastily put ashore and the vessel was under way within two hours. There were rumors that the Mississippi had been ordered to Valparaiso, Chile, but naval officers at the Bremerton navy yard expressed the opinion that the Mississippi was en route to San Diego to join the Pacific fleet in battle maneuvers.

Washington, Oct. 10.—Production of bituminous coal fell off sharply during the week ended October 2, according to the weekly report of the geological survey. The total output is estimated at 11,348,000 net tons, a decrease of 506,000, or 4.3 per cent from the previous week, when a new record was established for the year. The loadings of coal proceeded at a record-breaking pace the first four days of the week, but slumped for some unexplained reason on Friday and Saturday.

In the present tide, which has been swirling at Ellis island since May, a larger percentage of unskilled labor is found among the arriving aliens. But as females constitute 40 per cent of the incoming aliens and males form 75 per cent of the outgoing, it will require a long time to take up the common labor slack at the present rate.

Increase 1,575 a Week. The statisticians of the inter-racial council after examining the figures for nine recent weeks, estimate that the net increases of male aliens is now running at the rate of 1,575 a week of about 80,000 a year. Even if this figure were doubled or tripled, it would require years and years to replenish the common labor supply to a point where it will be fully ample once the industries begin hitting up a real pace again.

Invention of labor-saving devices will undoubtedly tighten some of the slack, but some employment experts think that despite an immigration which is losing at a prodigious rate the common labor problem will become more and more pressing the faster the industries work up toward capacity stride. One thing they say is that the literacy test, instead of keeping undesirable out of the country—most of the long-haired disturbers speak and read two or three languages—is barring out many willing workers who are industrious, although illiterate.
