

Douglas County G. O. P. Launches Speaking Drive

Republican Crusaders Spreading Gospel of Americanization and Pointing Out Weak Spots in League.

The Douglas County Republican club started its county-wide speaking drive last night with three automobiles laden with some of the best local talent.

These republican crusaders spoke last night at Twenty-fourth street and Ames avenue, Fifteenth and Douglas and at Twenty-fourth and N streets. The speakers were Ben S. Baker, Joseph Uvick, Hird Stryker, Henry Beal, S. Arion Lewis, Harry Palmer, Thomas Holister, J. F. McDermott, T. J. McGuire and Raymond Crossman.

This front line of speakers will be increased during the week. A staff of 30 speakers has been enlisted by Clinton Brome, chairman of the committee.

These Omaha men are giving their time and talent to promote a cause in which they believe. They are not being paid for this service, which they believe is a patriotic duty.

Last night they outlined the progressive policies of Harding and Coolidge and the republican platform. They explained in the broad sense that this country at this time needs the constructive help of the republican party to put the ship on an even keel again. They showed wherein the Wilson league of nations is not being approved by the rank and file of people and they explained that the league as offered by the president is growing less popular every day because the more the people read and think of it the more they are convinced that this country should be wary of entangling alliances.

Mr. McDermott, one of the speakers last night, will address the Lions club at the Rome hotel next Tuesday noon. He was in the service overseas and he will tell the club why he does not favor the Wilson league of nations.

People Registering For Election at Rate Of About 1,000 Daily

Omaha men and women are registering for the coming election at the rate of about 1,000 a day, Election Commissioner Moorhead said.

"About half of these are new registrants and the other half are persons who have moved to a new address since they voted last," said Mr. Moorhead.

"This is the last week for registration and Friday will be the last day. People who register after that registration will probably have to stand in line next week."

Registration clerks were on the South Side last Friday all day and about 350 persons registered there. The office of the election commissioner in the court house will be open every day this week until including Friday for registration. It will be open some evenings until 9.

City Briefs

Tukey & Hall, Omaha managers of the United States Fidelity and Guaranty company, will sponsor a convention of the Nebraska and Iowa agents at the Fontenelle Monday, to be followed by a banquet at the Omaha Athletic club in the evening. Several of the national officials of the company are expected from Baltimore. The president of the company possibly may attend the convention.

C. Davey, humane society agent, Saturday shot a horse suffering from the "glanders" despite the protest of its owner, N. N. Davis, 3920 North Fifty-third street. "Glanders" is a very contagious disease among animals and is said to be incurable. The killing of animals infected with diseases of this sort is done not only to relieve them of their suffering, but to prevent contagion. This is part of the work done by the humane society.

John Sullivan of New York City, secretary-treasurer of the Association of National Advertisers, will speak at the meeting of the Advertising-Selling league Monday night at the Chamber of Commerce. He will be the guest of the organization during the day. W. A. Pixley will tell the ad-sellers about the "citizen cops" who are aiding the police department in running down traffic law violations.

Dr. Conner C. Coady, son of Mrs. M. Coady, 621 North Twenty-third street, who recently returned from the naval academy at Annapolis, has gone to Dubuque, Ia.

Miss Virginia Crofoot, 20, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Crofoot, and granddaughter of Mrs. E. W. Nash, will be married to Harold E. White, 35, of Calcutta, India, Monday in New York, according to reports reaching here. The couple plan to sail Wednesday for India. Miss Crofoot, who is a junior at Vassar college, spent the summer in England. On her return trip she met Mr. White, who is an Englishman home on leave for the first time after a long period of service in India.

Dave Harris, song writer, on the Orpheum theater bill last week, wrote his biggest song hit, "Room 202," in the Hotel Rome here a year ago, he said. He was placed in room 202 at the Rome, and it being the fifth hotel in which he occupied the same numbered room, "202" ran in his mind until he had composed the lyric of the well known and now antiquated number.

Six bodies of soldiers who died in France, three of whom were Nebraskans, arrived on the Northwestern railroad early yesterday. Military escorts accompanied the corpses from Omaha to their destinations.

The Omaha district of the Zionist organization of America will meet Monday at 8 at the synagogue at Nineteenth and Burr streets. Rabbi M. H. Kessler will give the latest news from Palestine.

Asks $25,000 From Salesman for Alleged Breach of Promise

Charles E. Johnson, a salesman for the Western Motor Car company, was sued in district court Saturday for $25,000 damages for alleged breach of promise of marriage by Miss Alta Gray, employed in the Farnam lunch, 2008 Farnam street.

Repeatedly he asked her to wed him, she alleges, but she did not consent until August 15. Then she says she promised: "Yes, I will marry you within two weeks." He began courting her, she says, took her out riding in his "spiffy" automobile and saw her from once to thrice a week from February until August 22.

But he didn't buy it. And since August 22 he hasn't come to see her. Real Estate Man Weds Paul R. Bostwick, Omaha real estate man, was married in Columbus to Miss Catherine Reed.

John J. Brown, 49, died yesterday afternoon in St. Joseph's hospital after an illness of five weeks. He has resided in Omaha 20 years, has been an employe at the Union Pacific railway headquarters for 15 years and is survived by a son, John J. jr.; a daughter, Dorothy, both of Omaha; two brothers, M. F. of Omaha and Dr. H. Brown of Duluth; and two sisters, Mrs. E. Dumphry and Mrs. D. Dunsmore of Duluth.

Funeral services will be held in the home of M. F. Brown, 1135 Park avenue, Tuesday morning at 8 and at the St. Peters church at 9.

Funial will be in Holy Sepulcher cemetery.

Condemned Man Saved Sacramento, Cal., Oct. 16.—The sentence of death imposed on Roy Wolff, 17, for murder of Elmer Greer, in Kern county, was commuted by Governor Stephens to life imprisonment. Wolff would have been hanged October 22.

Home Furnishings of Real Worth

Low prices for good values draw the big crowds to our store.

Our salespeople will help you make your dollar go as far as it must.

Monday We Offer Aeroplane Linen

Regular $2.00 Value At 1.15

You can do more things with a hamper than knock your friends—and you can do more things with a yard of aeroplane linen than cover that much space on the wings of an aeroplane. Camouflaged with bright trimmings it makes draperies that harmonize with most any kind of furnishings; it covers utility boxes, makes throws for trunks that must be kept in the bedroom, develops into refined table coverings. It can be decorated with stitching, bands of contrasting material, embroidery, drawn-work or stencil. It takes delicate or bright colors in decoration, and blends them into pleasing harmony.

It Speaks for Itself.

No woman interested in the appearance of her home can afford to let pass the opportunity to buy this linen at a price that is lower than that asked for good cretonne. Regular $2.00 value, special, per yard, $1.15

Cotton Prices are down!

Brandeis Stores Always Take the Lead

Some of the Leading Mills of the Country Have Announced Reductions on Cotton Fabrics

Accordingly we have reduced the prices on our goods in stock. Goods bought on a higher market and owned by us go into this big reduction sale.

We do this knowing that on these particular goods it means a loss to us. We do not take this course under the guise of philanthropy. We feel that it is good business. It is the Brandeis policy to give benefits to Brandeis' customers without quibble at every opportunity—and in this, as in other particulars, the Brandeis policy pays.

Buy Now!

Below we quote a list of some of the staple items that can be secured at great reductions.

These low prices may not prevail indefinitely, inasmuch as we are told that these mills, in order to get in business, have quoted prices that are lower than the cost of material and labor will justify; that to stimulate business, mills in some instances are willing to operate even on a slight loss.

Therefore, we are not in a position to guarantee that we will be able to continue to sell at these greatly reduced prices.

In this sale we have seized the big opportunity for our customers and give it to them with the suggestion that they take prompt advantage of it.

These Prices Begin When Our Store Opens at 9 a. m. Monday
