Tilden Greatest Tennis Star—Plays Here Tomorrow

William T. Tilden II, and Samuel Hardy, well known national tennis stars, will play in exhibition singles and doubles matches at the Omaha Field club Wednesday afternoon only, according to Guy Williams, in charge of the committee on arrangements.

WILLIAM TILDEN INTERNATIONAL

The two clay-court stars will arrive in this city late this evening from Sioux City, where they play in exhibition contests this afternoon.

Tilden and Hardy were scheduled to appear before local tennis fans Wednesday and Thursday afternoon, but delay in starting from New York made it necessary to cancel the latter engagement here.

When Tilden II eliminated Norman E. Brooks in the national lawn tennis singles tournament at Forest Hills the latter announced as his honest opinion of Tilden that the Philadelphia is the greatest tennis player the world ever has produced.

Greatest Player in World. Whether Tilden has forced the rest of the world to acknowledge this is still a matter of some question, but he has rammed home the fact that he is now beyond question the greatest tennis player in the world.

The strangest portion of the Philadelphia's success is his rapid rise to fame after years of playing as a mediocre player. Tilden was born in 1893 and before 27 years old but he is a veteran in service, having been mixed in the country since he was 7 years old.

Then came the season of 1918. Tilden started early, went through 11 tournaments, in the course of which he played 50 matches and hung up the unequalled record of not having lost one of them. Unfortunately, the Philadelphia injured one of his legs shortly before the national championships arrived, but by sheer pluck and gameness he fought his way to the final round, where he was beaten by Robert Lindley Murray, the left-handed Californian.

man E. Brooks, the famous and brilliant Australian, and Ichiya Kumagai, noted Jap. The wear and tear of these matches probably had something to do with his inability to defeat Johnston, who ran off three straight sets. Tilden did fight, nevertheless, with such pluck that he was roundly cheered.

His play last summer was so impressive that it was a foregone conclusion he would become a member of the team which would be sent out with a challenge for the Dwight F. Davis cup, now in the hands of Australiasian. He was sent to England along with Johnston, Charles G. Brantley, William A. Brady, C. B. Cochran and Samuel Hardy.

The triumphs of the team in its Davis cup matches, however, fall short of Tilden's achievements in the all-comers' tournament at Wimbledon, which he won, and afterward defeated Gerald B. Patterson, who was defending his "world's title," won the previous year. Patterson won no match for the lanky Philadelphia.

Wins U. S. Title. Tilden was deprived of his newly-won "world's championship" in this country because the United States Lawn Tennis association and the U. S. M. Johnston in a separate struggle which has given Wimbledon the world's title tournament as a permanent fixture, but Tilden helped himself to the honor when he beat Johnston Labor day for the United States title.

Tilden is six feet one inch in height and possesses a reach in proportion. His greatest asset, as may be judged, lies in ability to cover court at high speed with apparent ease and to play a net position successfully because of his great reach. His service, however, constitutes his greatest form. He defeated Johnston with it. He combines this with an assortment of strokes which surpass that of any other player. His chop stroke is a marvel of efficiency and he is deadly in overhead work.

Tickets for the play tomorrow afternoon at the Field club are on sale at Beston's drug store, Fifteenth and Farnam streets.

Coach Drummond of the High School of Commerce team put his foot ball proteges through a day of strenuous practice yesterday in preparation for Friday's game with Columbus High school to be played on the latter's field.

Last week the Bookkeepers defeated the strong Beatrice High with a score of 14 to 7. The victory over the Gage county lads surprised many of the coaches and followers of the various high schools in the state, as the Beatrice eleven is composed of five all-state men and several other veterans. As a result of this victory, Commerce is considered the strongest contender for the state championship.

Although the local lads took the Columbus aggregation into camp last year, they do not expect an easy game this year.

Coach Rich of the Columbus eleven, reports that he has the best and heaviest eleven that has ever represented the school. The line is composed of all veterans and average 150 pounds. Columbus' backfield is noted for its speed and ability to hit the line.

BAT LEVINSKY has decided to retire from the game of billiards, his desperate plunge in the Carpenter tournament. Bat is popping into retirement and pulling the door-knob in with him. Meanwhile, the works are chipping about the possible effects of a brother "against" brother.

There are all kinds of ways that fight could start. But only one way it could finish. Jack would knock Carp off the calendar. Kearns said the fight in Jersey City and stated Carp was a dangerous bird with both levers. But that statement was made only for publicity. Paris was naturally hyped up about the certified returns of the Levinsky fight, but when you are grabbing peppermint from a child what difference does it make whether it is his first or second childhood?

Levinsky had outlived his usefulness in the ring when he took on the vin blanc inhaled. The fight was so temperamental about, either, it is said. He was very particular that the six hardboiled eggs be ordered for his dinner should be at the particular firmness he favored. Twenty-minute eggs and much spinach were consumed by him, it is said.

Peru State Normal, until last week considered the strongest contender for the state title, was defeated by Grand Island College, 12 to 0.

The western collegians showed class and speed, mixed with numerous tricks, and these, coupled with their heavy line, was enough to shatter, or at least partly shatter, Coach Speer's championship aspirations for his Normalite crew.

Grand Island has a strong team, and one of championship ability. Not much has been heard of the Islanders, but after their win over the Peru eleven can hardly be looked upon other than as championship possibilities. Cotner University is Grand Island's next opponent, and the westerners are doped to win.

Skin Suffers Do Not Want Mere Temporary Relief

Of course, if you are content to have only temporary relief from the terrifying itching and burning of fiery, flaming skin diseases, then you are satisfied to remain a slave to ointments, lotions and other local remedies applied to the surface of the skin. Such form of treatment, however, can make no progress whatever toward ridding you of the discomfort which often becomes a real torture.

But if you desire to free yourself from any form of skin disease, first of all you must realize that any disease must be treated at its source.
