

Probate Hearing On Van Wyck Will To Be Held Soon

Attorney for Young Heir Objects to Provisions Withholding Inheritance Several Years.

The probate hearing in the matter of the estate of Mrs. Theodore Van Wyck, who died two years ago in her former home at Nebraska City, has been set for October 28 in county court.

The will, which bequeaths the entire estate, estimated at $500,000, to the 16-year-old son, Van Wyck Benner, was offered for probate in July, 1919, when Attorney E. L. Burke, acting as guardian ad litem for the child, filed objections to provisions in the will withholding the inheritance from him until he becomes 30 years old.

The minor heir is living in New York with his father. He has sent depositions to Mr. Burke, which will be used by him at the hearing to substantiate his claims that the restrictions in the will leave him embarrassed to the extent that he shall not be able to marry until he reaches the age stated. He points out in the deposition that if he does marry and children are born he shall be unable to take care of them properly.

John W. Steinhorst of Nebraska City has been appointed special administrator of the estate in lieu of the husband of Mrs. Benner, whom she divorced previous to her death.

Leaves $50,000 Estate to Son and Grandchildren

Mrs. Abbie G. Lake, Omaha pioneer, left her estate, worth $50,000 or more, to her son, Dr. Frederick Lake, and her grandchildren, according to her will, filed in probate court yesterday.

Dr. Lake was given $20,000 and the Lake home, 5010 Capitol avenue. The sum of $1,000 was left to each of her grandchildren, Laurence and Katherine Lake. Certain articles which belonged to her late husband, George B. Lake, are given to Lake Deuel, Sterling Morton and Laurence Lake, grandchildren.

Authoress Is Strong for Gang Spirit for Girls

New York, Oct. 19.—"Mother, I'm going out to join the gang," mentions daughter. "O. K." murmurs mother.

Mrs. Mary Roberts Rinehart advocates the "gang" spirit among girls. She announced it today when she accepted the post as chairman of the Girl Scout membership campaign.

"The girls need to be taught," she added, "that their young bodies are to be used as well as decorated. Until they learn that, we shall have sickly mothers and puny babies."

New Jersey Whisky Curb Raided by Newark Police

Newark, N. J., Oct. 19.—Newark's alleged "whisky curb" was raided today by the police and 40 men arrested on a charge of loitering. They were locked up in the police headquarters pending fixing of bail.

Several men escaped in motor cars as the police arrived. The curb was reported for months to have been frequented by men who, although with no apparent means of support, had automobiles at their disposal.

Here's Fortune for Man Sought In Des Moines

A little girl's love for her "daddy" whom she has not seen for three years caused Mayor Barton of Des Moines to advertise in the press that Roy C. Cox or Roy C. Smith, as he is also known, has a fortune coming to him. The story of a child's yearning for her father was revealed in Omaha yesterday by the little girl's maternal grandmother, Mrs. Mayne McMillan, 1118 North Twentieth street.

Mildred Cox is 8 years old. Her mother and father quarreled and were divorced in Des Moines. The mother later married Holly Parker and went to Denver to live, taking Mildred with her. That was three years ago. Ever since the child has asked for her "daddy" and begged to see him.

The mother lost track of her former husband and recently when she became worried at the state of melancholy into which the child had worked herself over her "daddy," she asked her mother, Mrs. McMillan, to try to locate him.

Mrs. McMillan has written to the mayor of Des Moines and the authorities at Indianola, Ia., where Cox formerly lived, in the hope of getting in touch with him.

"I hope that Roy will get work at or near Denver so that he may visit Mildred once in awhile," said Mrs. McMillan. "Roy has agreed that it is better for her to stay with her mother."

Mother Beats Stork To U. S. To Ensure Baby Being a Yank

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Byam journeyed to far off South America—Montevideo, Uruguay—last year, soon after being married, when Mr. Byam was made office manager of the Morris plant there.

Mrs. Byam, in her enthusiasm to have little Joann Byam born in the United States, evidently had never heard of the famous "domicile" case, Graham against Graham, in which the law declared the legal domicile of the minor was the permanent abode of the parents, regardless of their being on foreign soil when the child came into being.

Had she known this she would not have had to travel 8,000 miles from far off Uruguay so that her little daughter, strictly speaking, could be born an American.

Mr. and Mrs. Byam arrived in Omaha a few days ago, the home of their childhood, and soon after little Joann, a bouncing baby girl, was brought into the world.

"Now that it has been called to my attention about this legal domicile business," said Mrs. Byam in reflecting on it, "I am inclined to think that I knew. But it was a good excuse to come home to see mother, anyway."

Pardons by Mayor Smith Honored Since Clash on Question

Pardons for Frank Chester, Charles Wheeler and Mary Bingham have been received and honored by Sheriff Clark since the recent flareup on the pardon question, when Judge A. C. Troup directed the sheriff to discontinue honoring pardons issued by Mayor Smith.

These three last cases were of persons committed to the county jail by the police judge on city complaints.

Chester was sentenced to 30 days on a charge of assault and battery. His wife interceded in obtaining a pardon.

Wheeler was sentenced to 15 days for fighting with his brother-in-law. The Nebraska Power company applied for his pardon.

The Bingham woman was sent to the county jail on a charge of drunkenness. One of the pardons was issued yesterday.
