Rheumatism

A Remarkable Home Treatment Given by One Who Had It. In the Spring of 1913 I was attacked by Muscular and Inflammatory Rheumatism. I suffered as only those who have it know, for over three years, tried remedy after remedy, and doctor after doctor, but such relief as I received was only temporary. Finally, I found a remedy that cured me completely, and it has never returned. I have given it to a number of people who were terribly afflicted and even bedridden with rheumatism, some of them 10 to 15 years old, and results were the same as in my own case. I want every sufferer from any form of rheumatic trouble to try this marvelous healing power. Don't send a cent; simply mail your name and address and I will send it free to try. After you have used it and it has proven itself to be that long-looked-for means of getting rid of your rheumatism, you may send the price of it, one dollar, but understand, I do not want your money unless you are perfectly satisfied to send it. Isn't that fair? Why suffer any longer? Write today. Make H. Jackson, No. 2126, Darston Bldg., Syracuse, N. Y. Mr. Jackson is responsible. Above statement true.

What's What

The habit of contradicting is one of the most positive signs of ill-breeding, since the earliest lessons in deportment tend to suppress this disagreeable fault before it becomes the proverbial second nature. No matter how well-dressed the contradictor may be, no matter how cleverly he or she may assume the other tones of good breeding, the false note of contradiction betrays the vulgarian at once. It is especially advertised when, as so often happens, the person contradicted is older or better informed than the rude aggressor. A well-bred man or woman knows how to parry rudeness without giving undue offense. In a case of contradiction, the tactful person, serving a cool courtesy, makes some such comment as, "Well, one of us must be mistaken," and promptly changes the subject.
