

Cozy Flat Wins Over Roof Lights

Former Star of Century Promenade to Give Up Professional Life for Apartment For Two Here.

A cozy little apartment somewhere in Omaha, with a kitchenette and a phonograph and those cheerful pink cretonne curtains will be the future home of Mrs. Lewis H. Burgess, star of "The Midnight Rounders" atop the Century theater, and her young Omaha husband.

At least that is the type of home young Burgess has in mind, and he says Mrs. Burgess, formerly Rosie Quinn, "Passing Show" beauty and Broadway favorite, is in complete accord with his idea.

The young couple, secretly married three months ago at St. Mary's Episcopal church in New York, remarried Tuesday night. Archbishop Hart performed the ceremony, which was a quiet affair, with only the bridegroom's family in attendance.

Yesterday young Burgess said it was the quiet, domestic life from now on.

Through With Stage.

"Mrs. Burgess will not return to the stage," he announced in a voice that carried conviction. "Her contract ended in October and she came to Omaha just as we had planned."

But on the heels of this firm assertion comes a message from the Shuberts in New York alluding to a libyan contract and a two-weeks honeymoon and a party on the well known roof to welcome Mrs. Burgess back from the two-weeks' honeymoon.

The young husband read the message with interest, but there was something in his eyes as he spoke his voice when he declared, "Mrs. Burgess and I are quite agreed her theatrical career shall end. There is no 10-year contract. Her only contract is with me."

The affair is ended," said Mrs. Ward Burgess, who at this moment entered the room. "The young people are married and will live just as other young people live."

New York Will Miss Her.

There was a finality in the voice of the senior Mrs. Burgess, who is president of the Omaha Fine Arts society, that left no room for doubt.

Thus have the ranks of the Century promenade again been depleted by the master mind of the matrimonial realm, Cupid.

The Century garden will still reverberate to the syncopated notes of jazz music, but the little young person who danced and sang her way into the hearts of pleasure-loving New Yorkers will be missing.

She will be the mistress of a cozy apartment somewhere in Omaha, with a kitchenette and a phonograph and—them. The remainder will be paid, the secretary thought, by early spring.

Debt Will Be Reduced.

Mr. Houston predicted rapid reduction in the gross national debt through the coming year, pointing to the $2,350,000,000 short term certificates outstanding. The treasury program, he added, would result in reducing this below $2,000,000,000 and perhaps to $1,500,000,000.

By the end of the fiscal year 1922, Mr. Houston declared, the nation should have redeemed its entire "floating debt" or the short-term certificates, when the Victory notes maturing the next year would become practically the "floating debt," and probably be accepted in payment of federal taxes.

Turning to the demands of agricultural interests for government help, Mr. Houston said that "scarcely had a reduction in the cost of living manifested itself when every producer manifested resistance."

Keep Up Prices.

"Every producer is willing for the products of every other producer to decline, but protests the decline in his own," he continued. "There is much human nature in this, but not much reasonableness."

"The situation is the result mainly of war and in no small measure the failure of this nation and nations everywhere to date to devise better arrangements for storage and marketing of farm products. For these things no one in particular is now to blame."

In the circumstances, it seems to some farmers that they are in the way of being hit first, if not exclusively. They are naturally disturbed and distressed and are seeking relief measures, some of which are not practical and some of which are suicidal.

People Must Remedy.

The first impulse of many who are searching for the way out is to turn to the government and especially to the treasury as the sole instrumentality for full economic salvation. This disposition, well developed before the war, was forced during hostilities by practices of the government which became necessary for the successful prosecution of the war and the preservation of national life.

Senator France Says His Letter Was From Women

Offer Similar to One Received By Harding and Questioned As to Authenticity by President Wilson.

Chicago, Oct. 20.—The letters from France received by Senator Joseph I. France of Maryland proposing a change in the organization of the present league of nations were from a woman and not a man, the senator said today.

The proposal dealt chiefly with the desirability of calling "an international convention of friends of peace," he said.

Senator France, however, said the offer was similar to those made to Senator Harding, and that, although the writer said she believed she was expressing the views of the French people, the senator said, the French government was in no way connected with the proposals.

"A distinguished woman writer of France made the offer," Senator France said. "She is a member of an organization which is working quietly among the thinkers of her nation in order to form a body, in connection with the United States, which will give the subject nations a definite chance for self-government, as soon as they have proved themselves capable of it."

"It does not seem to be generally known in this country that the labor party of Great Britain and the workers of France are strongly opposed to the league of nations as at present constituted. Similar bodies in other European nations endeavored to have inserted a clause in the Versailles treaty which would give the subject nations a position in relation to the great power to which it belonged analogous to that existing between the Philippine Islands and the United States."

hovering over me," said Wanderer. "He asked me if I couldn't see Ruth and the baby there above me. Other officers shook their fists under my face. One stamped on my foot and broke a bone in it. Another hit me in the nose until it bled."

Hoffman repeatedly said to me: "Carl, you know you shot your wife and this stranger and that you paid him to stage a holdup so it would look like you had shot in self defense and killed her accidentally. You know you were tired of married life and wanted to go back into the army."

"Finally I was all in. I wanted rest, peace and quiet. I thought of the fake holdup idea and wove my story around it. I confessed to escape their bullying and violence."

Hit in Head.

Under cross examination by the state, Wanderer said he did not remember saying that he was making the confession of his own free will or saying he understood it could be used against him.

In reply to questions from his attorneys, Wanderer said he had been hit in the head with a base ball, while overseas and badly hurt and that his head also had been injured when he fell off a horse.

Shipbuilding Falls Off.

New York, Oct. 20.—Shipbuilding in the United States, which led that of England by 1,931,000 tons of gross tons, early this year, has fallen behind in the quarter ended September 30, by 1,959,000 gross tons, according to figures made public by Lloyd's register of shipping.

Harding Scores Phrase-Making Of Democrats

Republican Performance, Still Safeguards Country, However, Nominee Tells His Auditors at Meeting.

Jackson, O., Oct. 20.—Democratic "phrase-making" and republican "performance" were contrasted by Senator Harding in a speech here today lauding the protective tariff policy as an example of republican accomplishment.

"The truth is," he said, "that with all the progressive tongues and all the literary idealism of our opponents, it is still the republican party, not only as to tariff protection, but as to every other kind of protection, which stands as the safeguard of America. It is a simple matter to make phrases; it is much more difficult to perform, but it is on their respective records as phrase-makers and as performers that the democratic forces of this campaign and the republican party oppose each other."

Praises Steel Workers.

The republican nominee, making an afternoon speech at a political barbecue, gave particular attention to the iron and steel industry as it has developed in this section of Ohio. This industry, throughout the country, he said, had given an illustration of "the success which attends the combination of the hands and brains of workers whose interests are so bound together in a common cause that upon the part of all there will be profound realization of the need for mutual consideration."

"As an illustration of the common interest which binds those engaged in that industry in a public policy," he continued, "I wish to cite the truth that the growth and opportunity for investment of capital and the labor which in the iron and steel industry has rested upon a political policy. You know that it is a fact that the republican policy has protected, given to our home industries, has been the safeguard and stimulus of our American iron and steel production."

"Sympathetic as I may be with our brothers in foreign nations, we stand for a proper policy of American protection, flexible, subject to readjustment, fair to our consumers and yet protecting American investments and the interests and standard of living of those American laborers who do their part by giving us 100 per cent efficiency in their productive effort."

Election of Harding All Over But Shouting, Taft Says

Chicago, Oct. 20.—"The election is over. The people are just waiting to go through the technical act of voting," said former President Taft today. "Senator Harding will be elected by a large majority."

"Unless Harding is elected there will be no league of nations. If Cox were to be elected, there would be a continual deadlock, just as there was in the Wilson administration. Personally, I was in favor of the league, and I was disappointed when the president did not accept the league with reservations."

Cox Calls Upon Root to Retract League Charges

Democratic Nominee Denies He Demands Document "Just as Mr. Wilson Negotiated It."

Bridgeport, Conn., Oct. 20.—Governor Cox today sent a telegram to Elihu Root asking him to "correct" what the democratic candidate declared was a "false" statement in Mr. Root's address yesterday, regarding the governor's position upon the league of nations issue.

The governor denied Mr. Root's statement that he demands the league "just as Mr. Wilson negotiated it," and called upon Mr. Root for a retraction.

Governor Cox restated his proposal to accept any reservations "helpful" to the league and contended therefore, that Mr. Root had made a statement "which the records show is false."

The governor's telegram follows: "Elihu Root, New York City:—I have before me, a quotation from your address on the league of nations delivered in New York City, Oct. 19, which reads: 'Mr. Cox declared that he will insist upon the treaty just as Mr. Wilson negotiated it.'"

"I am addressing you most respectfully with recognition of your integrity of purpose and the signal service which you have rendered as a public man, mindful of the fact that you may have fallen into error through ignorance of the situation owing to your absence from the United States during part of the campaign."

Statement Wrong.

"Your statement, however, is not in keeping with the facts which you are assumed to know by perusal of the records and which I have invariably stated in my addresses and re-state here, my whole-hearted desire to make the United States a member of the league of nations and that, to secure that consummation of the purpose of America when she entered the war, I will accept reservations that will clarify, that will be helpful, that will reassure the American people, and that, as a matter of good faith, will clearly state to our associates in the league, that congress has developed in this section of Ohio, and that our constitution sets up limits in legislation or treaty making beyond which we cannot go. I have stated further that I will accept reservations from any source which are offered in sincerity and with a desire to be helpful."

"I have also stated that if I am elected president my election can be construed only as a mandate of the American people; and that to secure ratification of treaty 'and the league I would sit down with the not only as to tariff protection, but as to every other kind of protection, which stands as the safeguard of America. It is a simple matter to make phrases; it is much more difficult to perform, but it is on their respective records as phrase-makers and as performers that the democratic forces of this campaign and the republican party oppose each other."

Takes Charitable View.

"You know and know full well that Senator Harding very recently said, 'I am interested in clarification. I am interested in clarification. I am placing a charitable construction upon your statement, that perhaps your partisanship has prevented you from stating my address and your prejudice has prevented you from realizing the destructionist attitude of your own candidate, but you have made a statement concerning me which the records show is false. I will firmly but respectfully call upon you to correct this statement at once.'"

"Mr. Root, you have arrived at honorable station in life. Many people trust you; you have no right to deceive them. They want the truth in this campaign. Your conscience will tell you that duty to it should be superior to duty to your party." (Signed) "JAMES M. COX."

Repatriated Russian Kiddies in Finland

Riga, Oct. 20.—(By The Associated Press.)—Preliminary arrangements have been made for the return to Russia of the 781 Russian children who were taken from Vladivostok by the American Red Cross and brought to Europe by way of the Panama canal, according to Col. E. W. Ryan of the American Red Cross, who has just returned to this city from Helsinki.

The steamer bringing the children to Europe arrived at a Finnish port on October 13 and the children are now being housed at Halli near Viborg.

Fifty of the little Russians are ready for repatriation and will be taken across the frontier at Terijoki as soon as the bolsheviks send a commission to receive them. Others will be taken to the frontier as soon as soviet agents give proof that they have located the children's relatives, who will receive them.

Big Profit Made In Army Goods Sale Is Reported

War Department Admits Irregularities Through Disposal of Surplus Stocks Purchased for A. E. F.

Chicago Tribune-Omaha Bee Leased Wire. Washington, Oct. 20.—Admission was made by the War department today that some irregularities have occurred through the sale by the government of surplus property on hand at the close of the war. The admission was made in connection with a statement following disclosures in New York that government profiteers were reaping harvests through army sales, particularly in clothing.

On the heels of the department's admission that there had been some irregularities due to the enormity of the business, came other charges that private dealers who had obtained vast supplies of army candy at the rate of 8 and 10 cents a pound, were reaping enormous profits through sale of the candy at 80 cents and $1 a pound.

Profiteering in New York, it is declared, has been made possible to private dealers, who purchased surplus army stocks at ridiculously low figures and sell them at tremendous advances, the profits in some cases being reported as high as 1,000 per cent. One case cited is that of a concern which purchased 300,000 coats from the government at 25 cents each and resold them to a chain of raincoat stores at 10 times that amount or $2.50 each, thus making a profit of $675,000 or 900 per cent on the investment.

Another incident called to the War department's attention was the purchase by the same concern of 1,000,000 yards of olive drab shirting at a loss to the government from 12 to 17 cents a yard, or from $120,000 to $170,000 on the lot.

$2,000,000 Motion Picture Corporation To Open Offices Here

Omaha is to be the headquarters of a $2,000,000 motion picture corporation, with offices in the First National Bank building.

Articles of incorporation for the proposed concern were filed with the secretary of state Tuesday by the Hostetter Amusement company.

The Hostetter Amusement company has been in operation for six years, owning and controlling a chain of 17 motion picture houses in Lincoln, Hastings, Norfolk, Neb., and Sioux City, Waterloo, Cedar Rapids, Marshalltown and Clinton, Ia.

The partnership, consisting of John E. Hostetter, president; James O. Hostetter, vice president; and Elmer J. Sich as secretary-treasurer, became too large to operate on a partnership basis.

The articles of incorporation ask for corporate power to issue and sell $250,000 in common stock, most of which will be sold to those already interested financially in the company, according to John Hostetter.

Two-Bit Haircut and 10-Cent Shave Appear Again in Los Angeles

Los Angeles, Oct. 20.—The 25-cent hair cut has reappeared here.

It had been absent for some time, while those costing 35 and 50 cents took its place.

Its reappearance was noted only in a few of those shops which had been charging higher prices, but there it was predicted it soon would become general again.

With it reappeared the 15-cent shave.

League Question Forced on People, Hitchcock Says

Republicans Compelled Issue Into Campaign for Lack of More Genuine Subject, Nebraskan Declares.

New York, Oct. 20.—Senator Gilbert M. Hitchcock of Nebraska, who represented the administration in urging ratification of the treaty of Versailles on the floor of the senate, discussed the league of nations before the Cox-Roosevelt campaign committee of Columbia university.

Addressing a large audience in the college gymnasium, he said that the league became the issue of the present campaign because the republicans forced it on "the public for lack of a more genuine subject of party disagreement."

"There has never been so full as it is now, nor the commercial business of the country so prosperous as it has been for several years past." This, he said, eliminated former issues of the "full dinner pail" and the tariff.

"Republicans, knowing these issues are dead, had to put them in cold storage," he declared.

The league of nations, Senator Hitchcock asserted, is nothing more than a promise among nations to do things which conduce to peace rather than to war.

"There is no such thing as a nation being out-voted in the league," he declared. "Its fine features will do away with secret treaties and gradually accomplish the disarmament of the world."

He denied that article 10 would obligate Americans to fight at the bidding of other nations, saying that the article "actually originated in this country at the time the Monroe doctrine was drafted."

Lodge Declares, Wilson Autocrat In League Talk

Republican Leader in Fight On Pact Likens Action of President to Those of Third Napoleon.

Newark, N. J., Oct. 20.—Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Massachusetts, addressing a mass meeting here last night, attacked Wilson as an autocrat, declaring his acts are "those of a third Napoleon."

"Mr. Wilson has throughout his administration steadily sought to usurp the functions of the legislative branch," the senator said. "He tried to make a government of one man. The country is conscious of this attempt and intends to bring it to an end."

"We are familiar with one example of his autocratic rule. Under the constitution the president has the sole right to negotiate and draft treaties, but no treaty can become the law of the land except by a two-thirds vote of the senate. It was impossible for Mr. Wilson to secure a league of nations without the consent of the senate. His plan was simple. He wanted to compel the senate to ratify the covenant of the league by attaching it to the treaty."

Senator Lodge attacked the methods of the president in conducting negotiations with foreign countries through his personal agents, saying: "He sent men like John Lind and William Bayard Hale to Mexico, although he had ambassadors, appointed by himself. In Europe his ambassadors played a very small part in negotiations between our country and the countries to which they were accredited. He negotiated through his personal agents like House, Creel, Herron and some others. This is the method of the autocrat."

"Let me say when I refer to those views of Mr. Wilson I refer to those of Mr. Cox," said the senator, "and it saves time not to have to say it every time. Cox is heir to the Wilson policies."
