

Prices of Live Stock Decline at Omaha Yards

Producers Hard Hit and Must Receive Financial Assistance,
Opinion of Commission Men.

According to live stock commission men at the Omaha stockyards, livestock prices are on the down grade, with hogs fully $2 a hundred-weight less than last week, cattle $1 a 100 pounds less and lambs 50 cents lower.

"The producers of live stock have been hit so hard this season that there is no telling what the outcome of the future market will be," said Gene Melady, live stock commission man.

"The consumer is paying the same prices as they did during the war," said Mr. Melady, "and live stock prices have dwindled from $5 to $10 a hundred-weight. The average farmer has been unable to obtain financial assistance to buy cattle and sheep for feeding purposes and as a consequence will have to sell at a greatly reduced price, which will surely work a hardship on 50 to 75 per cent of the farmers of the corn belt. The renter, especially, will be hit the hardest and it is freely mentioned on all sides that many of them will have to quit the game entirely."

"Financial interests should have made some provision to finance the feeder, as the farmers and feeders are the backbone of the country. Everyone knows prices are too high to the consumer and the producer knows he is losing money on every head of stock he ships, selling them at a tremendous loss, and the question is, who is getting the big profits, as there is a tremendously wide margin between the prices on the hoof and the prices over the block."

Over the Political Fence

Make a note of these addresses: 310 South Nineteenth street and the basement at 1614 Harney street. At the Nineteenth street location will be found the headquarters of the republican county central committee, with Mrs. Draper Smith and Mrs. Grace Stevens in charge. The place is particularly desirable for the women who wish to obtain political information and also to rest. It has an atmosphere which appeals to women. There is an abundant supply of Harding and Coolidge pictures and buttons and also republican literature. All women are welcome and the men may also call. The basement at the Harney street address referred to has been fitted up as a rendezvous for republican candidates and voters. Here the men may smoke without fear of offending any of the fair voters. Literature may be obtained at this address.

Politics makes strange—well, we won't say what you thought we were going to say—but we will say "associations." We heard of two Omaha women who recently discussed politics over their back fence with such seriousness that they have agreed to disagree and now they don't speak as they pass by. That is probably an exceptional instance. Men may tear each other to pieces, figuratively speaking, and yet fraternize at the club or lodge or other meeting places. As an illustration of this, Mayor Smith and Ben S. Baker were dated up yesterday afternoon to speak before the Benson Woman's club. They are lawyers and to that extent they have a fraternal feeling for each other, though one is a democrat and the other is a republican. The mayor invited Mr. Baker to ride in his automobile.

Another instance shows that "we are all brothers under the skin." Clinton Bromie, chairman of the speakers' committee of the Douglas County Republican club, and William Ramsey, identified in a similar capacity with the local democratic organization, have law offices in the same suite. Mr. Bromie is against the Wilson league of nations and Mr. Ramsey holds an opposite opinion. Yet they get along nicely in the same offices.

Harry S. Byrne, state director of republican clubs, reports that 50 Harding and Coolidge clubs are now functioning in Nebraska. Most of these clubs are in county seats. Mr. Byrne returned yesterday from a visit in Des Moines. He reports that general sentiment in the Hawkeye state indicates an overwhelming majority for Harding and Coolidge.

T. J. Sheehan, Jr., one of the speakers of the Douglas County Republican club, will speak at Clarks, Neb., on October 29, under the auspices of the local club.

prices of the state central committee. Mr. Sheehan has been making quite a record for himself as a public speaker during this campaign. He is a strong opponent of the Wilson league of nations and an able exponent of the reasons why it will be to the best interests of this country to support Harding and Coolidge on November 2.

John M. Matzen, candidate for state superintendent of public instruction on the nonpartisan ballot, spent Thursday in Omaha, campaigning. He went to Chadron to address the northwest Nebraska teachers and will return to Omaha later. He was county superintendent in Dodge county for several terms and was appointed state superintendent in January to fill the vacancy caused by the death of W. H. Clemmons.
