Let's Go Shopping with Jolly

*"The colors deaden in the West,
The red sun hurriedly goes down,
The winds wing lighter o'er the grass,
And labor slackens in the town.*

*But o'er the East a gorgeous bloom
Glow purple as the damask rose,
And caught up in the tossing sea
A golden flood of fire flows.*

*The kine grow dimmer in the vale,
And soft the sail upon the sea,
More lustrous is the liquid dark
Of brook that skirts the sea.*

*The sunburst smolders to the verge,
And far above bright Hesper
gleams,
While overhead the lucid moon
Deepens all her silver beams.*

"National Bob" The Latest Hair Dress of Fashion
Is on sale at $10 and $12 in the F. M. Schadell & Co. showrooms, Sixteenth and Douglas. Dainty, silken soft little curls they offer a charming rest from the snarling necessary to the widespread hair-dress favored of fashion during the summer months. A row of finger curls, just the thing to wear with the tan hairdress are $6 to $10 and ear muffs to take the place of the ruinous "roughing" are $4 to $6.

*"The flowers close, the noises cease,
The stars are one by one unfurled;
Light stays her wings in one long flight,
And skims down to the under world!"*

Japanese Flower Holders New Gift Offering.
At the A. Hospe Music and Art Store, 1513 Douglas. Dainty little Japanese girls carrying great green baskets on their shoulders will carry floral decorations for your room, these to be fastened to the side of the window or door casings are $2.50 each. A new display of art flowers, poppies, primroses, is offered in this shop. Wicker baskets made up will be on sale Monday at $2.50 each.

Stormy Days are Coming, Snow, Rain and Sleet
AND now's the time to order those new side curtains for your car, to replace the one lost this summer. The Universal Auto Top company, 1617 Howard street, will make your curtains to order at prices to please the most conservative.

MY DEARS: Now is the time to buy the clever fur choker or fur. The handsome blouse which you have been planning to round out your winter wardrobe. There is a sale of unique numbers, distinctive, different—at lowered cost. Velvet for the winter dress or wrap. The yardage is buyable at reduced prices in several shops this week. The furnace which will make your home a delightful one during the winter months, instead of a cold-catching dungeon.

Silver Renewed To Original Luster
KOLEY & Son, 1615 Howard, Second floor, are doing exquisite work in silver and gold plating. Last week I saw an old set of four pieces, tea pot, sugar and creamer on generous sized tray, so old and battered it seemed hardly possible they could ever serve again. But, voila, this week, sparkling lovely, replated, their dents smoothed out, they present a most lovely appearance, quantity beautiful in shape, finished up as they were when new.

Feathers, Furs and Marabou Re-newed Hats Reblocked.
THE Kruger Hat Shop, 301 Barker block, Fifteenth and Farnam, clean, dye and remake feathers and marabou, remodel furs, reblock hats and do hemstitching of marvelous daintiness. Some veils of Chantilly lace fall below the waist in both front and back.

Last Sunday Night
THE Flatiron Cafe, Seventeenth and St. Mary's avenue, in addition to a most delectable chicken dinner, served a frozen banana pudding and hot walnut cake of a richness to delight the vertiginous epicure! Dinner at noon on Sunday from 12:30 to 2:30, at night from 5:30 to 7:30. Desserts a specialty in this cafe are of a satisfying deliciousness not to be found elsewhere in the city.

Who Ever Heard of Such a Thing?
A MONG the "just-comes" at Thos. Kilpatrick's, Fifteenth and Douglas, are a group of plaid and striped sports skirts in fabrics which alone would cost the price charged, $19.75. Their shadow stripes and blocked colorings blend with any sweater blues, greens, reds or browns which midday may choose them for. While their cluster, box, and novelty combination pleatings, exquisitely tailored, smartly buttoned have proved a pleasant surprise to all who have seen them. A limited number so I'd suggest an early viewing.

Two Little Frocks of Velvet
ARRIVED at the Lamond Specialty Shop, second floor, Securities building, Sixteenth and Farnam, the other afternoon while I was there. Panna velvet had been chosen for their fashioning, one of black, the other brown. The low square neck line, the whole bodice in fact, fastened down the front, peasant style, laced through great embroidered eyelets by dainty ribbon ties. The same lacing was disclosed under each arm, an effect of exquisite and quaint simplicity! These at $49.50. A low-dropped yoke with scallops outlined in green yarn embroidery was the distinguishing note on a velvet and satin combination dress in brown.

Patented Surgical Bandages and Binders.
ABDOMINAL supporters, bandages, binders and elastic hosiery are made to order only, over a pattern patented since September, 1914, at the Bolen Manufacturing company, Jacobs Hall, 1716 Dodge. Meeting with immediate and wonderful success, at once winning the enthusiastic support of leading surgeons with whom the designer, herself a nurse, has a wide acquaintance, these scientifically constructed binders have since gone to all parts of the country. We are glad to send further information upon request.

Furniture to Give a Touch of Distinction to Any Room
ARE the cane and mahogany suites of furniture developed in both Queen Anne and William and Mary period designs offered at Hartmans, 415 South Sixteenth. Long, low backed davenport, graceful in line with daintily carved brown mahogany above the cane sides and back hold three slide seat cushions of spring construction, also, a long center cushion and two circular shirred cushions at each side upholstered in blue, mulberry and combination colors these in velvet, or tapestry. Completing the suite is an armchair and rocker, the three pieces with an exquisite rug, attractive drapes and an odd piece or two of furniture form a requisite amount of furniture for the living room. I'll be glad to send illustrations of these suites upon request. A special price offering at $25 a suite.

A Gorgeous Evening Wrap shown in one exclusive shop has flaring fronds of ostrich in perfect matching round wide cuffs and collar. Drooping plumage is favored on hats.

Chief In Interest in Advance Holiday Showings
ARE the fitted vanity cases which they're showing at the Omaha Printing Co., Thirteenth and Farnam. Twelve by eighteen inches are these exquisitely finished leather cases, splendidly gold mounted, lined in silk allowing places for the strikingly beautiful ivory fittings, comb, brush, mirror, manicure necessities, cream, powder and paste containers, lovely enough to take a proud place on the dressing tables of the most fastidiously inclined fashion favorite when not in use on a trip. These cases are just the right size to fit exactly in the end of a suitcase, but are equally smart for carrying separately on a short trip when the suitcase is not needed. Exceptionally beautiful is a tortoise shell fitted case—a decidedly different note in vanities!

No Wonder She is Fond of Mirrors
The fashion follower of 1920-21. For her frock to be appreciated must be studied from all sides so embroidered is it. The Ideal Button & Pleating Company, third floor Brown Block, Sixteenth and Douglas, reported no cessation of embroidery orders. A dress completed this week is truly exquisite—a broad panel in the back of an over, tunic shows simulated blouse arrangement of stichery coming a bit below the waistline. Both sleeves are heavily embroidered almost to the shoulders, and the cutaway effect of the tunic proper is emphasized by a design which follows the coat down from the shoulders widening toward the hem. I'll be glad to sketch this effect for you if you're interested.

A Thorough Understanding of Feminine Psychology
MUST have prompted the First National bank, Sixteenth and Farnam, when they established their interesting "women's department." What an easy matter it is to transact one's money affairs in a bank that furnishes not only a separate department for its feminine contingent, but so thoughtfully supplies a rest room and sitting room, both of them large enough to take care of the comfort of many visitors at a time. Make a decision now to join the throngs of women who would rather save a bit each week, no matter how small, with an assured savings account as an ultimate end than to spend recklessly on large and small items, many of them not at all necessary to happiness. Let this bank help you solve the H. C. L. problem individually, independently.

Hats are often embroidered in the paisley design.

A Wide Selection Offered for Your Choosing
AT the Hattie Putnam corset shop, fifth floor, Karbach block, Fifteenth and Douglas, where they sell their "comfy" Nu-Bone corset. A striking reduction in their colorful chambray house dresses, organdy trimmed, are offered at $6.50.

The Most Exacting Representatives of the Dressmaking Profession
STATE that the scientific art of Dorothy Hill's corset fitting certainly produces results in the perception of women's figures and thus forms a correct foundation for dresses. Call or write for literature, 205 Neville building, northeast corner Sixteenth and Harney.

Jade Green is a Fascinating Color
When embodied in a Soft Brimmed Chapeau. THE Herald Hat Shop, Fifteenth and Farnam, the shop you'll remember, which makes a special feature of $12.50 and $15 hats, is showing a ravishing little velvet chapeau of jade green velvet, a charming color combination for wear with brown suits, furs and wraps. Sole ornamentation is an applied design in gold lace. New hat arrivals every day make this a most interesting shop in which to find exceedingly tempting values.

Each Curled Petal Resembling the Jolly Paper Decorations of Hallowe'en.
THE chrysanthemums at the John Bath Flower Shop, Eighteenth and Farnam, present charming possibilities to the enterprising hostess. For it's easy to imagine dark corners of dim-lighted rooms at a Hallowe'en party, fragrantly decorated by these queenly blossoms of Japanese gold lace. Green cupped blooms of deep gold, creamy white, delicate pink or lavender, they're offered at from $3 to $5 a dozen.

Quite the Loveliest Centerpiece Table Decoration for the Hallowe'en Dinner.
IS one of the Sommers specialty shop fall fruit baskets. Only the very finest of hand selected fruits find a place in these art baskets, fruits interspersed with nuts of exquisite perfection, and delightfully surprising after-dinner goodies. And for the parties of Hallowe'en night which follow the jolly custom of having fruits and nuts the sole item of interest on the menu, this shop, with entrance in the Brandeis theater lobby is a most invaluable place!

Buckingham and Windsor, Two of the Wilton Rugs New to Western Customers
ARE presented this season to Omaha home furnishings in the H. R. Bowen Furniture company's extensive second floor drapery and rug department, Sixteenth and Howard. Copies of oriental rug weavers' art, they're really beautiful, fringed ends and carrying out the rare colorings associated in our minds only with fabulously priced oriental floor coverings. There's a nine by twelve of finest worsted yarns, closely woven, which has only two seams. Finely finished, fringed ends, it is offered at $156. A three seam rug in the same size is offered at $130. A two seam rug in the eight feet three inch by ten feet six inch size hand sewed, showing Persian figures on a navy ground, or in the same artistic figure on a tan background is an exact copy of a Kirmansha rug and is priced $146. Two other sizes are the six by nine and a four feet six inches by seven feet six inches with smaller sizes to be thrown in doorways in the same designs. New rugs well worthy of your consideration.

Freshened up Rooms

WITH the approach of the semiannual housecleaning time homemakers begin studying up the subject of distinctive touches by means of which various rooms may be beautified without involving too much expense.

When good furniture has been bought there is, of course, no question of turning it out and refurnishing to meet a standard of fashion, but little changes may be made in it that will perhaps give it the charm of novelty.

Dictates of La Mode.
Belts have adopted buckles as fasteners. Paris says low waistlines or no waistlines. Three-tiered pockets are noted on some suits. The skirts of evening gowns will be longer. Glycerined ostrich trims many a smart hat. Black velvet hats are extremely fashionable. In jewelry, colored stones are conspicuous. Black-and-white frocks are smart for children. Velvet and velveteen will be worn this autumn. Lace veils will be worn with autumn hats. Blouses of crepe are embroidered in tinsel. The box-coat will be a favorite for winter suits. Many suit models have very long coats and tight belts. Skirts of suits and tailored gowns continue short.

Though Your Foot Troubles Be Many
THE experts at the Comfort Shop, 408 Securities building, Sixteenth and Farnam, will relieve your aching feet may owe their suffering to the continued summer weather, or there may be something the matter with the bony structure. This shop will help you get relief and free you from slavery to weather conditions! Net may be embroidered with silk and beads, or appliqued with fur or duvetyne.

Fur Overcoats Cleaned to Soft Fresh Newness.
DR cleaning such as they're doing at the Panitorium, Sixteenth and Jones streets, makes fur overcoats as soft and comfortable as when they were first bought, for it removes grease and germs which often make the skin a bit stiff. Nearly every farmer has a cowskin coat, and for a cost of from $5 to $6 this coat may be cleaned. If desired they will make alterations and repairs at very moderate cost. Send by parcel post, the Panitorium will pay return charges.

Painting of furniture is not such a very difficult thing to do. Often the cretonne designs or portions of them can be traced on transparent paper, then transferred by means of carbon paper onto the furniture. Light yellow or white carbon paper may be used.

Embroidered sleeves appear on fall colors.
All Rested, Ready for the Jolliest Kind of a Party
WAS a little friend of mine at dinnertime the other evening—such a surprise, for when I had left her, but a short time before, she had seemed quite exhausted by the strenuous duties of the day's work. All due to one of those delightful electric vibrators which they're selling at the Nelson company electric shop, one door north of the Orpheum theater, Fifteenth and Harney streets. One of the vibrators may be had as low as $7.50. This shop is also featuring those majestic heaters, which dispel such a cozy warmth from their closely coiled wires, reflecting their heat from a wide conical reflector. These at $12.

It's a Good Time
TO have a doll buggy laid aside at the Omaha Reed & Rattan Co., Sixteenth and Jones streets. They've a complete assortment ranging in price from $3.50 to $25. These in gray and natural wicker are upholstered in bright cretonnes. Delightfully dainty for dolly dear!

Such Beautifully Dainty Warm Things for Baby at The Japanese Shop.
DELICATELY embroidered garments of tiny cosiness they're showing at the Nippon Importing Co., 208 South Eighteenth street. Crepe de chine booties at $1, comforters for from $2.25 to $4.95, and those snugly charming little quilted jackets at $2.40 and $2.85.

Friends of Art Activities

By LETA MOORE MEYER.
The Friend of Art is starting the new year with a determined and concerted effort to rouse the people of Omaha and vicinity to the fact that in the public library here is a collection of pictures which is not only of the finest in the west, but that it also contains some paintings of which any city in the world would be proud. To make these facts and to show why they are true is the announced program of the association for the coming year. This "drive," for so it may be called, is under the personal direction of Mr. John Lee Webster, the president.

not an R. A., has received honors from the great and was given the Empire of India medal by the British government. Of about 50 paintings, almost half have been pronounced by authoritative critics to be representative examples of the best artists while not a few have been shown to be as good as and in a few instances better than anything else by the same painter. It is not too much to say that most of them have increased in value since they were purchased. Some of the pictures are owned by the Friends of Art, the Omaha Society of Fine Arts, and the gallery of Omaha. Others have been loaned or donated by Mrs. J. M. Metcalf, Mr. Charles H. Pickens, Dr. Robert F. Gilder, Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Dietz, Mrs. Harold Gifford, the Ainslie Galleries of New York, J. E. Stuart of San Francisco, and the Vose Galleries of Boston. In addition four especially fine canvases are expected soon as a loan from the Vose Galleries.

An ex-officer of the Fine Arts society has just returned from a long sojourn in the eastern cities. She says that she made it a point to see all the pictures everywhere, but that she knows little of those here, not because they are inferior, but because they are always here. This is a usual attitude, and one which the Friends of Art is going to try to change. The highest honor which can be conferred on a painter or sculptor in this country and one to which they all aspire, is a membership in the National Academy of Design. The Academy is by invitation and new York, which is by invitation and vote of the jury. A full member is entitled thereafter to write N. A. after his name as an associate. A N. A., for membership is for life. Each member is entitled to hang their pictures in every exhibition without paying the jury. The academy maintains the Fine Arts building at 215 West Fifty-seventh street, in which are held the best exhibitions, and also a large art school near Columbus university. So far as is humanly possible, the work of an artist is proual on the work of an artist is the highest authority. Several branches have rebelled and established what they considered broader and more equitable societies, but they have always gone back to the parent stem after short wanderings. The Academy is to the United States what the Royal Academy is to England and something like the Legion of Honor and honors of the salon in France. Of the pictures in the Omaha gallery, twelve are by academicicians and three by associate national academicians; five are by French artists of corresponding titles and three by Dutch painters of like standing. One Englishman, while

In addition four especially fine canvases are expected soon as a loan from the Vose Galleries.

The officers of the Friends of Art, besides Mr. Webster, Thomas C. Byrne, vice president; W. W. Hehl, treasurer; Charles C. George, secretary, while Francis A. Brogan, Ward M. Burgess and Charles M. Wilhelm are also members of the board of directors. It is hoped to make Omaha the art center of this section, and the people of the surrounding country are invited to visit the gallery on the third floor of the library at Nineteenth and Harney streets, and to feel at home there. Council Bluffs, and so of course Omaha, has lately acquired a rare work of art which will undoubtedly become a world-famous and a mecca for all lovers and students of art. This is the Angel Fountain erected in the cemetery there to the memory of Mrs. Ruth Anne Dodge, wife of Gen. Grenville M. Dodge, who built the Union Pacific railroad, the Mount Cenis tunnel, the greatest in Switzerland, and planned the "Battle of Gettysburg." It has been placed there by their daughters, Ella and Anne, and is by Daniel Chester French, the American, one of the greatest of sculptors, and is one of his best works. All of which being along with the work of making Omaha a real art center.
