

Harvard Topples Centre College Eleven of South, 31 to 14

Danville, Ky., Squad Lacks Strong Defense

"Colonels" Fight Themselves Into an Even Break With Crimson at End of First Half—McMillin Stars.

Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 23.—Harvard's foot ball finesse, weight and endurance, triumphed over Centre College's individual gridiron brilliancy today in one of the most thrilling inter-sectional games in many years. Although defeated, 31 to 14, the Danville, Ky., collegians gave a wonderful exhibition, considering the handicaps under which a small college eleven labors against a team of Harvard caliber.

In the first half Centre College showed gameness and foot ball ability which gained them the support of the 40,000 spectators. The "Praying Colonels," as the southern players are known, matched effort for effort with the Crimson and at the end of the half had fought themselves into an even break with Harvard, 14 to 14.

Lack Strong Defense.

That the team of an institution with an enrollment of about 300 students should be able to match an historic and established opponent throughout the first 30 minutes of play, stamps the Centre College eleven as one worthy of all the praise which had preceded it. Obviously the "Colonels" showed a game fully equal to that of Harvard, but they lost through the lack of a strong defense.

Long, brilliantly executed forward passes, spectacular broken field punts, quick dashes through smartly made holes, interspersed punts and field goal tries, lifted the conflict far above the ordinary gridiron encounter.

It was in the final 30 minutes that the Crimson machine really demonstrated its powerful attack and defense. McMillin, Weaver, King and Roberts all proved their ability more than to hold their own with the best of the home team. But the Centre offense had been developed far beyond its team defense and the Southerners were unable to check the steady grinding attack.

Centre players had come on the field after the team's customary prayers in the dressing room. Defeat did not imply failure of their prayer, one of them said after the contest, as the team prays not to win, but that its members may do their best.

Play was less than five minutes underway when Harvard scored its first touchdown. Owen twisted through the open defense of Centre, Churchill working with him, and advanced the ball from Harvard's 35-yard line to a touchdown, Owen carrying it over. Faxon, kicked goal. Soon afterwards, under the drive of McMillin, Centre tore 70 yards in four plays, including a long run by Churchill preceded a touchdown by Horween.

McMillin Races 30 Yards.

McMillin raced 30 yards and after line plunges failed, he tried a forward pass. Owen deflected the ball to Horween, who ran 25 yards. After three plays had failed to gain, Horween kicked a field goal from the 32-yard line.

The next score came when Weaver intercepted a forward pass and Harvard started an advance which Horween crowned with a touchdown.

After the kickoff, McMillin, by forward pass and short run, sent Centre down the field. A Crimson penalty of 15 yards for holding and another a few minutes later brought the ball to Harvard's 20-yard line. Another rush by Roberts gained only two yards and McMillin forward passed to King on Harvard's five-yard line. Four times the southerners rushed without avail. They tried a forward pass, but Horween pulled the ball down. Within a few seconds he had it on the 35-yard line. Harvard continued its advance to Centre's 12-yard line. Then McMillin kicked the ball forward and had set his team for another drive when the game ended.

Aggies Defeat Creighton in Final Period

Drop Kick by Dewey Huston From 26-Yard Line Beats Catholics, 3 to 0, in Hard-Fought Contest.

Dewey Huston, Kansas Aggie drop-kicker, booted his team to a 3 to 0 victory over Creighton university on the latter's field yesterday afternoon in one of the hardest fought gridiron contests ever staged on the local field.

The lanky Aggie kicked the ball from the 26-yard line in the last period of play for his team's lone three talfes and enough points to win the struggle. During the early part of the final quarter, Condon booted the pigskin to the visitors on their own 36-yard line. A series of line plunges and off-tackle plays netted the Aggies a first down and on the next play, a flip, Hinds to Sebring, placed the oval on Creighton's 10-yard mark.

The Catholics massed and the Kansas tried to smash through the Creighton team, but without success. Two end runs lost 10 yards for the visitors, and with the ball on the locals' 20-yard line, to the right side of the goal posts, Quarterback Hinds of the invaders called for a drop kick. Huston pulled out of the first line of defense and dropped back and successfully booted the ball between the standards.

Results in Kicking Duel.

Soon after the start of the first quarter it was evident that the game would end up in a kicking duel between Huston of the Aggies and Condon. The visitors were put to a test all the way, and it was the Kansas guard who booted the ball out of danger on several occasions.

The Aggies outplayed the Catholics from start to finish, but were unable to plow through the Creighton defense for a touchdown. Coach Mulholland's squad made only five first downs during the contest, while the Kansas team smashed its way through the line and around the end wings for eighteen first downs.

Second Half Like First.

The second half was a repetition of the first, with first Kansas and then Creighton running with the ball. During the early part of the final quarter, Condon kicked to Kansas. The Aggies started smashing their way toward Creighton's goal line, when Hinds shot a 40-yard pass to Sebring, who completed the flip on Creighton's 10-yard line.

A trick play lost ground for the visitors and an end-run failed to advance the pigskin. The Catholics were blocking the march of the Aggies toward their chalk mark when Huston dropped back, and from the Catholic's 22-yard line, successfully booted the drop kick which defeated Creighton.

The contest was a long drawn out affair. Minor injuries to the players and time out' was frequent during the last half.

Game Without Feature.

Aside from the kicking of Huston and Condon, the game was without a feature.

The work of Manley, Condon, and Harmon was the best part about the Creighton side of the contest, although the tackling of Bentlage, and Berry deserves credit.

Huston's kicking and the line smashing and end-runs of Crowell, Shears and Yandill was the bright spots on the Aggie machine.

Fight Fans in U. S. Want Georges Carpentier to Meet Other Heavies

Georges Carpentier hasn't satisfied the boxing fans in this country that he is a world beat. The dapper Frenchman beat the veteran Bat Levinsky in something more than three rounds, but the boys who witnessed the bout will tell you he might just as well have beaten a carpenter. How come? Simply because the latter didn't furnish the opposition necessary to bring Carpentier out. He wasn't even a good punching bag, because he didn't flop back at the Frenchman after being hit, and he didn't furnish enough opposition to force Georges to uncover his bag of tricks. Fact is, Georges was wide open like a door all the time he was stepping about Levinsky.

Cornhuskers Beat South Dakota, 20-0

Forward Pass and Line Plunges Bring Nebraska Victory Over Coyotes.

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—The Cornhuskers playing their usual defensive game, took the South Dakota Coyotes to a 20 to 0 defeat on the Nebraska field this afternoon. The first period was scoreless.

In the third period, the Cornhuskers opened up, and after the first tally, had little difficulty in adding two more. Statistics of the game show that the Nebraska team was far superior to that of South Dakota. The Cornhuskers were, however, very slow in getting started.

Pucelik Stars.

Pucelik, the 200-pound Nebraska tackle, played his usual consistent game, with the addition of spurts of stellar play that made him stand up especially good. Three times during the game the speedy tackle recovered blocked punts.

Wright, Moore and Swanson, played the best offensive game, accounting for a touchdown each. Wright did most of the line smashing and got away with several fast end runs. Moore got away in the final period with a run from mid-field, but was forced out of bounds on Nebraska's three-yard line. After others had failed to put the ball across Moore made a touchdown on a wide end run.

One pass, Wright to Swanson, was good for 17 yards and a touchdown. The Coyotes threatened to score a little later when Weller's punt went wild and South Dakota recovered the ball on their own 35-yard line. The Coyotes drove through for a first down and brought the ball to Nebraska's 25-yard line, where Dubal fumbled and Weller recovered. The second quarter was mostly a punting duel with both teams fighting hard to defend their goals. Two line bucks brought the ball to South Dakota's 17-yard line. A triple pass, Wright to Swanson, was good for 17 yards and a touchdown. Day failed to kick goal. Wright made the second touchdown.

Moore Makes 48-Yard Run.

The final score in the game came after Moore had raced 48 yards from mid-field. Moore made the touchdown on an end run. Day kicked goal.
