Denman, with Fred Hamilton, Dick Stewart and Sam Burns, went to the mountains in Wyoming, 100 miles from a railroad, in search of

hig game three weeks ago.
After a trip in the snow, Denman and his party returned to the ranch. Denman complained of a sore throat and thought he had contracted a slight attack of tonsilitis. Three days later, Denman's condition became more critical. The mysterious symptoms developed into blood poisoning and abcesses formed.

After a long hard trip on horse-back to Lander, Wyo., Denman was put on a train for Omaha, arriving here Friday night and was taken immediately to the hospital. Drs. J. H. Vance, F. S. Owen, R. B. Davis and L. L. Bridges are attending Denman.

Several incisions have been made oth from the inside and the outside it the throat. Mr. Denman's condition is so serious that his brothers. Renjamin S. Deeman of Lincoln and S. Denman of Hay Springs, are not allowed to be at his bedside. Mr. Denman has been living with sister, Miss Sadie Benman, 3153 Parnam street. He is one of Omaha's hest bowlers and has many trophics to his credit. He is a golf enthusiast and belongs to the Omaha Athleti:
