

America Must Be Free From Insult Plea of Dr. Jenks

Country's Ideals Must Be Protected With Same Zeal as Woman's Character, Professor Declares

American ideals and institutions must become as safe in America as a man's life in his own home. Any woman is safe on the streets of Omaha from insults from American men. It is a part of American training to protect women.

"We want the time to come when an American ideal and institution will be as free from insult or attack as a woman's character."

These were sentiments expressed yesterday in Omaha by Albert E. Jenks, professor of anthropology and sociology. He has been called to Omaha by Dr. E. C. Henry, state commander of the American Legion, to confer with state leaders on an intensive Americanization educational campaign in Nebraska.

Assimilation Too Slow.

Yesterday noon he spoke at the Chamber of Commerce. Last night he spoke at a joint meeting of the Rotary, Kiwanis, Lions and Concord clubs at the Hotel Rome at 6:15 and at the Elks club at 9. At noon today he will speak at the University club and Sunday afternoon he will address a meeting at the Y. M. C. A.

In Minnesota, Dr. Jenks has established an extensive Americanization program, entailing special courses for 50 instructors in the University of Minnesota. He has been asked to view the Nebraska situation and aid in planning a similar campaign in his state.

"It is our own fault that the process of assimilation from a European to an American has been so slow," he said.

"The adult foreigner comes to America after spending the impressionable years of his life in Europe. He begins work in a factory or a packing house with others of his race, bitter at their experiences here with no one excepting an American superintendent, who teaches work and not Americanism to him, as a sample of an American."

"We want to give him an opportunity to learn the American language, to learn of American institutions and ideals and to rapidly become a regular English speaking citizen of America. That is, if he wants to do it. There will be no oppression, no compulsion about it."

Omaha Has Good Start.

"No man with red blood in his veins will stand for compulsion. America doesn't want anyone forced to learn her language and ideals."

Dr. Jenks stated that he believed Omaha was getting a good start with the following institutions backing an Americanization movement:

Chamber of Commerce, Rotary club, Kiwanis club, Lions club, Concord club, Elks club, Woman's club, Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A., public schools, certain churches, Knights of Columbus, Masonic bodies and Boy Scouts.

Secretary Tumulty Draws Intimate Pictures of Wilson's Personality

Man in Closest Touch With Nation's Chief Executive Gives Inside Incidents Into Life of White House Occupant.

Chicago Tribune-Omaha Bee Leased Wire. Washington, Oct. 29.—Some intimate pictures of the personality of President Wilson as revealed in his daily contact with his private secretary, were given by Joseph P. Tumulty last night, in an address at a democratic meeting at Bethesda, Md., Mr. Tumulty, who said he was reading a prepared speech for the first time in his life, said he thought it fitting that "just before the curtain rises on the last act," he should "modestly step out from obscurity in the wings," and "tell the audience a few things about the leading actor in this great drama of the last eight years, the stormiest and most pregnant period in all the history of the world."

In vivid language, Mr. Tumulty contrasted President Wilson's present physical condition with his vigor at the time of the declaration of war.

"Two pictures are in my mind," said Mr. Tumulty.

First, the hall of representatives crowded from floor to gallery with expectant throngs. Presently it is announced that the president of the United States will address congress. There steps out to the speaker's desk a straight, vigorous, slender man, active and alert. He is 60 years of age, but he looks not more than 45, so lithe of limb, so alert of bearing, so virile. It is Woodrow Wilson reading his great war message.

Draws Opposite Picture.

"The other picture is only three and a half years later. There is a parade of veterans of the great war. They are to be reviewed by the president on the east terrace of the White House. In a chair sits a man, your president, broken in health, but still alert in mind. His hair is white, his shoulders bowed, his figure bent. He is 63 years old, but he looks older. It is Woodrow Wilson.

"Presently in the procession there appears an ambulance laden with wounded soldiers; the maimed, the halt, and the blind. As they pass they salute, slowly, reverently. The president's right hand goes up in answering salute. I glanced at him. There were tears in his eyes. The wounded is greeting the wounded; those in the ambulance, he in the chair, are alike, casualties of the great war."

Commenting on the president's feeling with regard to his "wounds" Mr. Tumulty continues:

"I do not believe in his heart President Wilson regrets his wounds. But I do sometimes wonder if it ever seems to him strange that when a man has been seriously wounded in his country's service, he should be met with sneers and calumnies from his countrymen."

Better Nature Awakening.

"I think already the better nature of America is awakening. Those who have joined in the chorus of calumnies begin to grow ashamed of their unchivalrous conduct, begin to resent the tricks of politicians

Plan Bared to Buy Thousands Of Votes Nov. 2

Plotter to Nab Electors at Polls, Says A. L. Sutton, Former Gov. P. gubernatorial Candidate.

Plans are being completed for the purchase of thousands of votes in Nebraska at $1 each on November 2, according to A. L. Sutton, former gubernatorial candidate for governor. Over one-half of the counties in the state will have organized workers at the polls on election day, he says, in the campaign for votes.

No political organization is behind the move, according to Mr. Sutton. Each voter will be approached immediately after depositing his presidential ballot and asked to deposit $1 in a special ballot box located a sufficient distance from the polling place not to conflict with the general election laws. In return for the dollar bill the voter will be given a tag with the inscription, "I voted for the Salvation Army." Repeaters will be welcomed and the price paid for votes will not be restricted to $1. Larger amounts will be accepted.

To Complete Quota.

The plan was devised by Mr. Sutton, who is chairman of the Salvation Army state advisory committee, to assist counties where the budget was not entirely raised in the campaign.

on article 10. President Wilson wished to forestall the necessity of the United States going to war by making the United States a participant in a plan to prevent the beginning of such a war. He wished to stop the next war before it should begin."

was to complete its quota in the Home Service Appeal. Operation of the Salvation Army in Nebraska during the coming year will require $210,000 according to the state committee. The money will all be spent in the state, the bulk being apportioned for the erection of a young girl's boarding home in Omaha at a cost of $100,000 and improvements to the Nebraska Rescue home and its operation which will require about $85,000.

To Be Self-Sustaining.

Douglas county, where the two buildings will be erected is asked to subscribe $90,000. This is less than one-half of the money that will actually be spent in the city during the next year. The city will get the benefits of the charitable work of the Salvation Army for nothing. The boarding home after its construction will be operated on a self-sustaining basis.

Ohio Farmers to Vote for Harding, Omaha Man Avers

Ohio farmers seem all in favor of Harding for president, according to C. W. De Lamatre, 401 Karbach block, who returned yesterday from a trip through Ohio, Pennsylvania and Massachusetts.

"Philadelphia and Boston are strong for Harding also," he declared. "I visited Governor Coolidge in Boston. I find him a typical American with high ideals."
