Lack Color Sense.

The reason you see so many gowns of doubtful becomingness on women is above everything else due to a lack of color sense. One does not have to be born with an eye for color. It is a study you may be-

Color may make the short and stout less stocky; the tall and extremely thin less so; it may set off the face with an added luster to eyes and hair, and it may give the skin a warmer glow. It may express mood. It may impart airiness and youthful freshness on one hand and warmth and good nature on another.

Colors, to be successful, have to be selected more with concern for complexion, features, character of expression, and personality than the color of the eyes. A blonde in one color may be made a sallow looking creature, whereas another shade would make her skin pearl-tinted. It is not only knowing the main color of a frock or hat, but knowing what trimming to use. Related colors like yellow or orange, if there is little contrast in value, tend to

Secrets of London Complexion Doctors

Famous London specialists who cater o titled ladies and others of social prom-nence, employ a remarkable method of complexion rejuvenation. One undergoing complexion rejuvenation. One undergoing this treatment visits the beauty doctor late in the afternoon, has something dabbed over her face, then, heavily veiled, departs in her motor car. This is repeated daily for a week or so, when a complexion of snowy purity and exquisite delicacy is in evidence? The secret of this method is—ordinary mercolized wax. Anyone can apply the wax without assistance of a specialist. An ounce of it (obtainable at drug stores here as well as in England), usually suffices. It is used like cold cream before retiring, and washed off mornings. Its success is due to a peculiar absorbent property which gradually removes worn out particles of cutiele, revealing the younger, healthier skin beneath.

A wonderful wrinkle-chaser, also in vogue among English women, is prepared by dissolving an ounce of powdered saxolite in a half pint of witch hazel. Used as a wash lotion, this completely and quickly effaces even the deepest lines.
