

New Hotel Hill Fitted With All Modern Comforts

Building Is Model of Architectural Beauty and Equipped With Every Up-to-Date Convenience For Guests.

One the recent additions to Omaha's wonderful buildings is the Hotel Hill, on the southwest corner of Sixteenth and Howard streets.

If the test of time enters into proving the advantages of hotel locations, the site now occupied by the new hotel is well proven.

The exterior finishing of the building is executed in mottled colored vitrified face brick, trimmings in white sandstone and terra cotta.

The main building contains 150 guest rooms and, with 50 in the annex, makes 200 rooms in all.

All guest rooms have lace curtains and over-drapes, principally of cretonne.

The motto of the Hill brothers and their able associate, C. E. Griffith, in planning this house was: "Only the best of everything."

Soft Water. That the guest in Omaha may enjoy all possible of the comforts of home, provision is made for soft water throughout the entire building.

Home-Like System. The lighting scheme provides for wall plugs and table lamps in all guest rooms, instead of the ordinary wall brackets, just another home-like feature.

The interior decorations, planned and executed by the H. R. Bowen company of Omaha, under the personal supervision of J. A. Andrews are most luxuriant.

The wall coverings are of imported damask fabric in the same color effects. Most of the draperies for the first two floors are imported French silk in tones to harmonize with the specially designed furniture and wall throughout the rooms.

Sun-Blasted Fabric. Furniture of lobby, lounge room and the mezzanine floors is of ebony and French walnut in special hand-carved design.

Model of Beauty. No feature that could possibly add to the comfort or convenience of the traveling public was overlooked by Lem H. Hill and J. W. Hill, jr., in the planning and erection of this fine hotel.

Former Russian Bluebloods Now Do Menial Labor

Former General In Russian Army Is Driving Truck In Streets of Paris.

(Chicago Tribune-Omaha Bee Foreign News Service.) Paris, Oct. 30.—General Nicolaief, formerly an artillery officer in the Russian army, drives a truck in the streets of Paris.

Colonel Doroschewik, his companion in arms, with several other ex-soldiers runs a motor repair shop.

Count Paul Ignatieff and his mother, who was Princess Metshersky, do their own milking on a model dairy farm.

Prince Lyszenski and Captain Thoeze of the Imperial guard are clerks in a Paris bank.

Colonel Skouratoff grows salad and greens, and mushrooms on a small patch of ground at St. Germain, from which he earns enough to live on.

On a larger scale, Prince Gouda, chief, former ambassador to the Spanish court; Prince Dadeskilian and others, have turned farmers.

Household Decorator. Prince Boris and his princess are conducting a successful business as household decorators and painters.

household decorators and painters, and in Paris in these days one never knows but that one's taxi driver may be a count or captain of Russia's ancient regime.

The history of the emigres of the French revolution in every detail is being repeated, and as French aristocrats at the end of the eighteenth century were forced to become schoolmasters and cobblers in England and Germany, so are the Russians now in France.

Only a few are able to continue living in the old luxurious style, and these are the lucky ones who had big foreign investments or carried with them out of Russia fortunes in diamonds and precious stones, which one by one are finding their way into the jewelers' hands.

The farm of Count Paul Ignatieff and his mother is typical of the energy the less fortunate are putting into the work of keeping their heads above water.

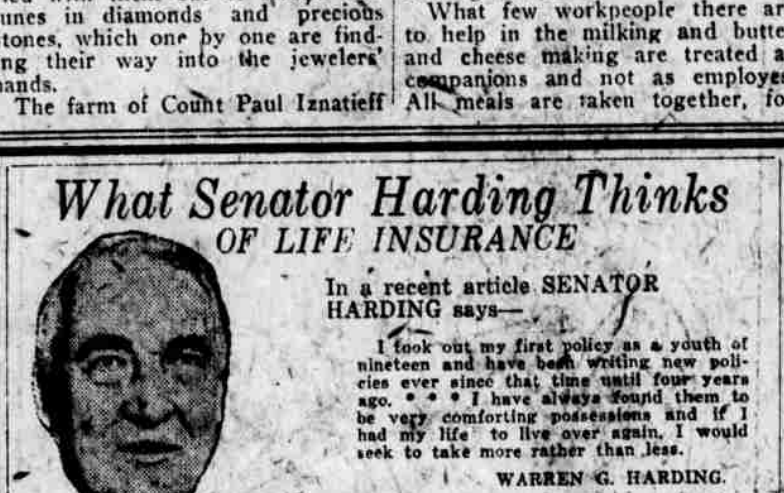

It's Like a Democracy. The difference now is that they have to do the work themselves. Their dairy is a credit to them.

Count Paul and his mother believe in equality, though not in bolshevism. Like them, all the other Russian exiles working in France are proud of their employment and that they are skilled enough as bookkeepers and motor drivers to get and keep their jobs.

Princess Metshersky, when asked her opinion on events in Russia and Poland, replied: "Here, monsieur, we know no politics. We cultivate our garden."

What Senator Harding Thinks OF LIFE INSURANCE

In a recent article SENATOR HARDING says—

I took out my first policy as a youth of nineteen and have been writing new policies ever since that time—four years ago. I have always found them to be very comforting possessions and if I had my life to live over again, I would seek to take more rather than less.

Wise men in every walk of life appreciate the value of insurance. There is none more sound or secure than that afforded by the

APPENDICITIS

Appendicitis attacks at any moment, even persons seemingly in good health. Usually, however, it is preceded by stomach trouble or constipation. Many people have a bowel movement every day, but it is not a COMPLETE movement and much old, stale matter stays in the system to ferment and often there is only a small passage in the center of the bowels while the sides are covered with old, hard matter which sticks to the bowels and often poisons the system for months, making you feel tired and lame and "half-sick."

Mabel McKinley--Niece of the Late President of the United States--Takes Nuxated Iron for Health and Strength

And Says She Regards It as The Ideal Tonic For All Weak, Run-Down Nervous Women

Dr. George H. Baker, Formerly Physician and Surgeon Monmouth Memorial Hospital of New Jersey, Explains Why Iron Is One of the GREATEST OF ALL STRENGTH BUILDERS

Says: He has found nothing in his experience so effective for helping to make strong, healthy, red-blooded women as Nuxated Iron.

Miss McKinley has a voice of unusual quality and it was following her work singing for the soldiers that she became weakened and run-down and had recourse to Nuxated Iron. Once more in superb physical condition, Miss McKinley says she is convinced that Nuxated Iron has no equal as a Strength, Health and Blood-Building.
