

Cashier Divorces Unfaithful Wife

Husband Testifies to Finding Mate in Arms of Another Man.

Chicago, Oct. 30.—Henry Kerr, cashier of the Jefferis State bank, was granted a divorce from his wife, Mabel, after he had described on the witness stand how a search for his wife on a stormy night had resulted in absolute proof of her unfaithfulness.

The search was on the shore of an inland lake at St. Brieux, Saskatchewan. Kerr told the judge his wife belonged to a prominent Canadian family and for their sake, as well as her own, he did all he could to protect her against the social consequence of her conduct. He was married February 5, 1915, and served with the Canadian army during the European war. He returned in March, 1919, and found his wife in company with Charles Anger.

Leaving home a few days later, Kerr said he found the house deserted when he returned. His boat was also missing. The night was very stormy and he and his wife's brother became alarmed for the safety of Anger and Mrs. Kerr, whom they surmised were out on the lake in the little boat. The brother patrolled one side of the lake and Kerr took the other. He had traversed about a mile when he came upon his wife and Anger, in each other's arms.

He produced letters from his wife admitting her guilt and insisting that she thought more of "Charley" than she did of him. Kerr thereupon came to the United States. The court granted him a divorce.

Boys Find Fortune In Checks Scattered About Indian Grave

Oklmulgee, Okla., Oct. 30.—Two negro boys, playing in an Indian cemetery just north of Okmulgee, found a mail pouch containing scores of letters, in some of which were checks aggregating $200,000. The pouch had been ripped open and the letters were strewn about an Indian grave.

The police learned that nearly all banks in Okmulgee had received telegrams from correspondents in Kansas City, advising them that their Monday remittances had not been received. Until these telegrams were received, postoffice officials here had not known the pouch was missing.

W. F. Johnston, an Oklahoma City postoffice inspector, learned that the pouch had been taken from a truck just before it was due to be placed on a "Brisco" train for Kansas City last Monday night.

Military Aid Given Many Mexican Cities to End Tieup

Mexico City, Oct. 30.—Military aid is being called to prevent disorders in a number of cities, notably Puebla and Vera Cruz, in connection with the strike situation, which apparently is far from a settlement. The general strike continues in Puebla. There was a small demonstration here today when 250 department store workers marched in front of the national palace and voiced demands for higher wages.

Dancing Masters Dies

Portland, Ore., Oct. 30.—Mose Christensen, president of the Oregon Dancing Masters' organization and former president of the National Dancing Masters' association, died here early today. He was in charge of the normal school held in New York the past three summers by the national association and originated several modern dances. His home was formerly at Boise, Idaho.

The Women Should Elect

the coal to be used in their homes.

It is the woman's task to keep the home in order and it is unfair to burden her with coal that does not produce a maximum of heat with a minimum of ashes, dust, soot, smoke and annoyance.

Sunderland's Illinois Coal is the Omaha housewife's friend.

Carefully sized, thoroughly screened, suitable for furnace, heating, stove or range, affording most heat per dollar; it is the coal you'll like.

Buying Opportunities for The Needs of the Home

Homes have been neglected in the last few years—not wilfully, but from necessity—because of the scarcity of merchandise, and because of high prices.

But now all of that is changed. There are plenty of things for every home, and at the new, low Burgess-Nash prices—prices the people have long hoped for.

Although everyone hated to see the summer days passing one by one, they are eagerly looking forward to brightening up the home for the long winter days and nights so close at hand, when they really enjoy the beautiful things in it.

The floors will be covered with warmer-looking rugs, and the windows will be hung with new curtains and bright, cheerful drapes. The furniture will be polished and reupholstered with the gay winter colors. There must be music in every home—a phonograph or a piano to furnish amusement for the entire family.

Bedding supplies will be well filled, for the nights are becoming colder and colder. Housewives are already busy making their lists of necessities to fill the linen chests, and the cupboards are waiting for new glass, china and silverware.

The kitchens need many, many little helpful labor-saving devices.

Burgess-Nash Co. earnestly urges you to take advantage of this opportunity to make replacements for the home at prices lower than have prevailed for years—now.
