

"Follies" Actress Fatally Injured In Motor Wreck

Helen Jessemmer Suffers Fractured Skull When Car Driven by Col. Hayward's Stepson Runs Into Tree.

New York, Nov. 2.—Miss Helen Jessemmer, 19, a "Greenwich Follies" actress of 41 East Twenty-ninth street, and whose home is 1417 First avenue, Seattle, Wash., is thought to be dying at the Fordham hospital from injuries received when her motor car crashed into a tree at 1 o'clock this morning.

Her car was being driven by Philip Morgan Plant, who is also at the hospital with a broken leg. Charles Morehead of Chicago has a fractured nose and his right eye is lacerated, and N. L. Hussey of Norwalk, Conn., has injuries in the back.

Miss Jessemmer's skull is fractured, her scalp torn off, and she has other injuries.

The young men were all pupils at a Yale preparatory school. Miss Jessemmer is the daughter of Mrs. H. B. Jessemmer of Seattle. She came to New York two years ago when she was 17 years of age. She first appeared in a dancing act at the Hotel Des Artistes in partnership with Lubovska. Afterward she appeared in the Zeigfeld "Follies" from which she went to the "Greenwich Village Follies."

She gave two wrong addresses here before it was learned who she was and where she lives. Plant is a stepson of Colonel William Hayward, commander of the Fifteenth infantry in the world war, and son of Selden B. Manwaring of New London, Conn. He adopted the name of Plant when his mother married the late Commodore Morton F. Plant, after divorcing Manwaring.

Detroit Jews Plan Recreational Center

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 4.—Detroit Jews will in the next six months erect a $200,000 educational and recreational center which is planned to be the biggest and most up-to-date of its kind in the country. The site is at Kirby avenue and St. Antoine street. It will be built by the directors and board of education of the United Hebrew Schools of Detroit and will serve as the headquarters for orthodox and traditional Judaism here and as a branch of the local Talmud Torah and Hebrew schools. The new center will be built in the shape of the Hebrew letter Dalek, or the English "L" inverted, so that a big part of the site, which measures 102x165, may be used for a properly equipped playground.

The new building will accommodate between 1,500 and 2,000 children. The first floor is to be used as an auditorium.

Under the auspices of the United Hebrew Schools of Detroit a new kindergarten will be opened at the Barnsworth Talmud Torah immediately after Succoth. Registrations are being taken.

Salvation Army Hopes to Reach Quota in Omaha

Citizens Responding Generously to Home Service Appeal—Many Unsolicited Contributions Received.

While sage politicians were making meaningless prognostications and consulting the ouija board to determine what the women were going to do at the polls, there was no shadow of a doubt concerning approval of the Salvation Army appeal by the newly enfranchised electorate.

Mrs. Robert S. Trimble captured first honors at the report luncheon Tuesday, when more than $1,000 was turned in from about one-half the precincts in the Eighth ward. With the work still uncompleted the canvass will show a considerably larger total, Mrs. Trimble said.

One of the first industries to complete its work was the Nebraska Telephone company which turned in nearly $500 in cash, representing practically every employe.

"There would be no question of raising the entire quota in the city of Omaha, if all the people could be reached," C. E. Corey, city chairman, said last night. "It has been impossible at this time to reach a sufficient number of workers. The checks that are coming in to headquarters unsolicited indicate that there are many people anxious to contribute if they could only be reached."

Indians Pay Fancy Prices for Candy-Striped Silk Shirts

San Francisco, Nov. 3.—Profiteers are not the only ones who today are lavishly spending money for the luxuries of modern civilization. They have met their equals in the Plute Indians of Mono and Inyo counties of California. These "just Americans" seemed to have cast away their native indifference and natural stoicism and are in an orgy of buying automobiles, silken hose and other expensive apparel. Young bucks and old bucks and squaws alike are reckless with their bank accounts. Reason: Indians shearing sheep get $12 a day; squaws doing housework get $3 a day. And so on the

Parisian Barber Shops Compel Shampoo

Paris, Nov. 4.—Whether you want your head washed, or not in Paris you almost have to have it. The congress of barbers has just decreed that gentlemen who have their hair cut without demanding a shampoo as well, must pay 50 centimes more. The barbers say they are acting in the interest of personal cleanliness.

"Vag" Wins His Freedom By Calling Judge "General"

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 3.—"Ernest, you're charged with vagrancy," spoke Judge John M. Kennedy in north municipal court as he looked down from the bench upon Ernest Stevens, a stage hand at the Gillis theater. "Whatcha got to say for yourself?"

"Captain, it's this way—I've been workin' hard at the Gillis theater, major, for several months now, and, colonel, I've—"

"Com-pan-ee—whoa!" shouted Judge Kennedy. "Whoa before you promote me to an admiral upon the bounding sea. You've got more nerve than a whole regiment. Fall out—you're dismissed!"

Fourteen Cash Prizes for Children Who Draw the Best Pictures of "Old Man Dollar."

Burgess-Nash Co. will pay $30 in cash to fourteen children, not more than 16 years of age, who make the best and cleverest drawings of "Old Man Dollar" showing him in action, as follows: First prize, $10; second prize, $5; third prize, $3; fourth prize, $2; next ten prizes, $1 each.

Contest closes at 6 o'clock November 11, and winners will be posted on a special bulletin board on the main floor, Saturday morning, November 13. A large number of the best drawings will also be posted in our show window at Sixteenth and Harney streets, the same day.

Notice These Simple Rules:

Each drawing must be a full length figure of "Old Man Dollar" not less than six inches high, and must have the face shown above. "Old Man Dollar" may be shown doing anything you wish—sawing wood, leading a horse, playing ball—anything, so long as he is doing something.

Name, address and age of the artist must appear on the back of each drawing. Children more than 16 years of age cannot compete.

Drawings sent by mail should be addressed to "Burgess-Nash Co., Advertising Department, Omaha." Children bringing drawings to the store, please hand them in at the Toy Department, 4th floor.

The cartoonists of the three newspapers—Omaha Bee, Omaha News and the World-Herald—will act as judges of the drawings. All drawings submitted become the property of Burgess-Nash Co., and cannot be returned under any condition.

Checks in payment of prizes will be mailed to the winners as soon as they are known. Names of winning contestants will be published in our Sunday advertisement, November 14.
