What's What

By HELEN DECIE

Very amusing to onlookers, but not too pleasant for the distracted conductor, is the little feminine squabble about paying carfare. This is not, as might be judged from all the to-do, a quarrel as to which is to pay the trifle of change; it is, rather, a mutual protest against the picaresque "treat," with the result that both attempt to pay double fare, while their dispute halts other passengers and delays traffic.

When one woman accompanies another into a car, and the first insists upon paying fare for both, the other one should tender brief thanks, and say no more about it. If she happens to be with the same woman again, she can pay the double fare then. As no one wants to be under a succession of petty wants obligations to another, the best way to deal with the woman who clamors to pay every one's fare is pleasantly to request her to pay her own—and only her own—traveling expenses. Problems That Perplex

Answered By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

A Foolish Girl.

Dear Miss Fairfax: I would like to know if it is unadvisable to accept invitations to go motoring and to dine with my employer, a married man?

My fiancé threatens to break our engagement if I accept another invitation. I can see no harm in it, but he and my aunt say it is not right to go out with married men. We have agreed to accept your answer in this matter.

My dear child—don't you realize you are doing ever so many folks a great injustice? You're being unfair to your employer's wife—to your own dignity—to the loyalty your fiancé has a right to expect of you. All the sweet, tender things are cheapened by deeds and a dinner don't mean so much to you that you're willing to ignore good taste, the opinion of the world, the rule of the game and your own best interests. It isn't right, dear—and in your soul of souls you know that it isn't worth doing a thing that is positively cheap.

A Man Without Shame.

Dear Miss Fairfax: Omaha Bee: I am a single girl of 18 and have been a resident of the town I live in since birth. A man of 38, also a life resident of this place, married and the father of two children, declared his love for me a month or so ago, but stated at the same time that he loves his wife and children and his love for me will make no difference in their lives. Please advise me how to end his infatuation.

A WORRIED GIRL. Put an end to this at once. Don't worry about doing it tactfully or with consideration for the man. He deserves none. It is absurd for him to tell you that the insulting affair he's trying to start with you won't affect his wife and children. It will either break up their home or ruin you—or both. The way to end a thing like this is to refuse to have anything to do with the man. Don't worry about his infatuation. If it has no encouragement, nothing on which to feed, it will die.

Attend Foot Ball Game.

A number plan to go to Lincoln Friday to attend the foot ball game between Lincoln High school and Central High school of Omaha. Among them are Alice Kimberley, Helen Sorenson, Lovica Allen, Caroline Forbes, Helen Brown, Dorothy Barber and Ruth Wallace.

"Go As Far As You Like"

To make Troco the world's best nut margarin

Our instructions to
A. E. Hoffman

These were our instructions to A. E. Hoffman when he joined the Troco organization. We said—you have full liberty to go as far as you like—what we want is perfected Troco.

We built him a new factory, up-to-the-minute in every detail of equipment and sanitation.

Now this expert, in this plant, has produced a new and perfected Troco—a fancy brand of nut margarin.

Mr. Hoffman has been identified with the butter business all his life. For over 30 years he has made and judged butter and taught butter making.

This ripe experience has taught him how to perfect Troco, which is churned like butter with snowy coconut fat replacing butter fat.

He gives it the same rarely sweet flavor which made his butter famous in his butter making days.

You want this new perfected Troco—for its fine flavor, delicacy and nutritive value. So order it from your dealer.

As we didn't ask Mr. Hoffman to meet a price, it may cost more, just as fancy butter commands a premium.

Women of Middle Age

Owing to modern methods of living not one woman in a thousand approaches this perfectly natural change in her life without experiencing a train of very annoying and sometimes painful symptoms. Those dreadful hot flashes, smothering spells, fainting spells, nervous troubles and irregularities are symptoms that should have prompt attention. These two letters prove what a successful remedy Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is for women at this time of life.

These Two Women Helped During Change of Life.

Taunton, Mass.—"I could not eat or sleep for six months, had fainting spells and could not walk without help for three months, caused by female trouble. My cousin, who was a doctor, told me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it helped me greatly. Then during the Change of Life I used the same remedy. I am seventy years old now and am able to do my own housework and walk one mile to church every Sunday morning and evening. I am recommending the Vegetable Compound to my friends having the same troubles as I had. Your remedy is the best on earth. I cannot find words to express my gratitude for it."—Mrs. SUSAN C. STAPLES, 157 B School St., Taunton, Mass.

Philadelphia, Pa.—"I want to let you know what good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me. I had organic troubles and am going through the Change of Life. I was taken with a pain in my side and a bad headache. I could not lie down, could not eat or sleep. I suffered something terrible and the doctor's medicine did me no good at all—my pains got worse instead of better. I began taking the Vegetable Compound and felt a change from the first. Now I feel fine and advise any one going through the Change of Life to try it, for it cured me after I had given up all hopes of getting better. I will tell any one who writes to me the good it has done me."—Mrs. MARGARET DANZ, 743 N. 25th St., Philadelphia, Pa.
