

Electoral Vote Of Harding Will Be Total of 404

President-Elect Captures 37 of 48 States in Tuesday's Balloting—Cox Secures But 127 Ballots.

New York, Nov. 5.—With the sire of President-elect Harding's electoral vote virtually settled at 404 out of a possible 531 and the complexion of the new senate set down as 29 republicans and 37 democrats, republican leaders today awaited belated returns on eight contests in six states to fix the exact size of the republican house majority.

Exclusive of the eight undetermined seats in the lower house, the republicans had 286 members to 137 democrats and four of other designations, a plurality of 149—the greatest ever held by any party in the house. The nearest approach to it was in the fifty-second congress, when the democrats had a lead of 148.

Lead in Contests. Republicans appeared to be assured of better than an even break on the eight outstanding seats, which would give them a record party margin in the house. The seats still in doubt were the Fourth Maryland district, Eighth Minnesota, Fifth Missouri, 15th, 21st and 23d New York, First North Dakota and Fifth West Virginia.

Montana, with a large part of its vote unreported, still was technical in the undetermined column as to the disposition of its four electoral votes. But as both of its representatives and the presidential vote so far counted favored Harding, it seemed likely she would fall into the long Harding list, without Montana, Harding would have 400 electoral votes.

Hints for Teaching "Stenos" Told at Meet

Miss Loretta Given of Lincoln told members of the commercial section of the State Teachers' association yesterday afternoon that they should teach their pupils how to behave and dress in an office, as well as teaching them stenography and shorthand.

Other speakers before the commercial section, which met in the Commercial High school auditorium, were Mary L. Colford of Omaha; Professor LeRossignol, dean of the college of business administration, University of Nebraska; and Miss A. Hodwen Beynon of Lincoln.

The Latin section of the Teachers' association met at the Hotel Castle. Speakers were Elsie Ford Piper, Wayne State Normal school; Professor J. A. Rice, University of Nebraska; and Alice Hunter, Wesleyan university.

Benefits of Dramatic Art Courses Are Discussed. J. H. Beveridge, superintendent of Omaha schools, was the principal speaker at the public speaking and dramatic art conference in the rathskeller of the Henshaw hotel yesterday afternoon.

His subject was "Why Public Speaking Was Introduced in the Central High School." He said it was the aim of the department to make the students enunciate distinctly, articulate clearly, and pronounce correctly.

Socialists and Liberals Clash in Yucatan Voting. Mexico City, Nov. 5.—Serious clashes between socialists and liberals incident to the Yucatan state election campaign are reported in dispatches from Merida. Assertion is made that the socialists who are dominant in that state have employed troops to suppress demonstrations. The election will be held on December 1.

School Courses in Agriculture Benefit Farms

Principal of State College Cites Phenomenal Success of Bureau Extension Work in Seward County.

Agricultural education has been proven to be a great help to farmers and farming communities. H. E. Bradford, principal of the School of Agriculture, Lincoln, stated in his address, "The Trend in Agricultural Education," before the agricultural section of the state teachers' convention in the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Bradford found in a canvass of high school teachers in farming communities, he said, that agricultural education tends to keep farmers' boys in school, to make better farmers and to promote interest in school work.

In 1919 there were 30 high schools in the state with agricultural courses in which were enrolled 600 students, while this year there are 38 schools carrying the courses, in which there are enrolled 850.

Professor Links, of the state department at Lincoln, declared that soon every college in Nebraska will have farm bureaus. He traced the phenomenal success of extension farm bureau work in Seward county, started in 1907.

The extension work was first carried on through instruction by men from the farm bureaus who worked as hired men with the farmers and gave them practical demonstration of scientific methods of tilling the soil and raising good crops. Today there is a county farm bureau with a membership of 1,000 farmers in Seward county, he said.

Benefits Pointed Out. Professor Biskie, vocational instructor at Millard, Neb., pointed out the many benefits of vocational agricultural courses in high schools. He said that these courses create interest in the general school work, bring a closer relationship between parents of the student and the school work, teach the virtues of thrift, help those who do not get a college education, increase atten-

Many Thefts of Cash and Clothing Are Reported to Police

Charles W. Hull, North English, Ia., reported to the police that pickpockets stole $100 in cash and $350 in certificates of deposit from him at Sixteenth and Farnam streets yesterday.

Mrs. M. W. Fahr, 229 North Forty-fifth street, stated that $7 was taken from her purse while on a street car.

Miss Frances Kennedy, school teacher from St. Elma, Neb., lost a suit case containing clothing valued at $100.

John Priest, 804 South Thirteenth street, reported that his room was ransacked of clothing.

E. A. Riley, Keystone hotel, was the victim of thieves who stole $100 worth of clothing.

Mrs. Ida Tobin, 3943 California street, told police that burglars stole $1,000 worth of jewelry and clothing.

C. H. Wilson, 716 North Twentieth street, also reported clothing stolen.

Teaching Methods Taken Up by Science Section. The physical science section meeting in the Loyal hotel devoted its attention yesterday to discussion of methods of teaching science in the schools of South Africa and applied physics as taught in the Omaha High schools. Speakers were Mariel C. Gere, Lincoln; Dr. Ernest Anderson, University of Nebraska; and J. G. Schmidt, Omaha High school.

Crooks Active Again in Bluffs Thursday Night

One Safe Blown, One Man Held Up and Woman Attacked in Spite of Police Campaign.

Although Council Bluffs police are waging an active campaign against crime by arresting upon vagrancy charges all unemployed men found loafing in the city, crooks continue to stage holdups and robberies.

Police reports yesterday carried records of two holdups and one safe blowing Thursday night. Waldo Merrill, 714 First street, night car checker for the Union Pacific railroad, was held up by a masked highwayman who jumped off a freight train, which was just pulling into the yards. He was robbed of his watch but no cash.

Miss Helen Cain, 18 1/2 daughter of Mrs. Margaret Cain, 105 Seventh avenue, was attacked by a robber at the entrance to the alley in the rear of the Lewis Kost home, 1000 Sixth avenue. The girl had alighted from a Fifth avenue street car and was on her way home when the man grabbed her by the throat. When she screamed he released her and disappeared.

Police investigated the shutting off of the electric light above the safe in the office of the Singer Sewing Machine Co., 622 West Broadway, after midnight Thursday, and found that yegmen had blown the safe. Nothing was taken.
