

Many Believe Soviet Regime Is Nearing End

Consensus of Opinion From All Angles Is That Bolshevik Rule in Russia Is Near Collapse.

Chicago Tribune-Omaha Bee Leased Wire. Washington, D. C., Nov. 5.—Predictions received from all angles in a review to the State department, indicate that the bolshevik regime in Russia will collapse in the coming winter, but some observers are quoted as expressing the view that there will not be a definite collapse, but that bolshevism will "sooze out" and that the soviets' dissolution will be gradual.

Russian spokesmen here refuse to venture any speculation fixing an approximate date for the overthrow of the soviet republic, but are confident that its power is already waning, that the economic, as well as political difficulties confronting it are insurmountable, and that it is not favored by the masses of population, who, however, are intimidated by the red armies and by the extraordinary tribunals and thus prevented from rising against the tyranny.

The defeat of General Wrangel is admittedly a blow to the hopes of the anti-bolshevik Russians, who had expected his small army to constitute a nucleus which would attract accessions from the peasants as it slowly advanced northward, and have by next spring, sufficient strength and momentum to carry it to Moscow.

For economic, as well as political reasons, it is said by Russians the Moscow government will be obliged to demobilize the greater part of its forces after the conclusion of peace with Poland, and demobilization contains dangers that the soviet leaders have not heretofore experienced. It is doubted whether red soldiers will be content to return to civilian life and conscripted into industrial labor.

A greater opportunity will be afforded, it is declared, for ambitious generals, leading large aggregations of discontented soldiers, to start a new revolution that at any other time since the bolsheviks seized the national power. There are many former czarist officers in the bolshevik armies, whose allegiance to the soviet system always has been questionable.

Witnesses in Chicago Booze Running Case Ordered to Quit Town

Chicago Tribune-Omaha Bee Leased Wire. Chicago, Nov. 5.—Every material witness in the "Mike De Pike" Heitler booze-running case has been approached with money offers, and, this failing, has been ordered to get out of town and stay out, under penalty of death, it was authoritatively announced at the Federal building.

Important developments of the day include:

"Discovery of a 'pipe line,' by which thousands of gallons of Canadian whisky have poured into Chicago during the last few months. Suspension of three policemen who were found in a party which was raiding a South Chicago saloon.

The "pipe line" was revealed by Federal Judge Landis while he was questioning Oscar Anderson, a neighborhood cleaner. Anderson admitted an organized "ring" of Pullman car porters on the Canadian Pacific railway were engaged in bringing in the whisky.

Germany and Austria to Ask For Membership in League

Paris, Nov. 5.—Applications for membership in the league of nations will be made at the meeting of the assembly in Geneva this month on behalf not only of Germany, but of Austria, according to information here. Bulgaria, it is learned, will make a direct application.

Premier Stambouliaki of Bulgaria, who is paying political visits to European capitals, will stop at Geneva on his way to Sofia to support Bulgaria's claim personally.

Conference Is Called to Discuss Grain Weights

Washington, Nov. 5.—A conference of state commissioners, shippers and railroad representatives was called by the Interstate Commerce commission to meet at St. Louis, November 15, to discuss the proposed changes in existing minimum weights on grain and grain products. The railroads have sought to continue present minimum weights indefinitely beyond December 31, when the present tariffs expire, and to re-establish a minimum weight of 60,000 pounds on grain products.

Soldiers Recover Whisky Valued at Over $40,000

Baltimore, Nov. 5.—Stolen whisky valued at more than $40,000 was recovered by a detachment of soldiers and city detectives at an isolated cabin a few miles east of the city. Six men, five of whom are soldiers, and the liquor, were arrested. Reports to the military authorities that soldiers were concerned in the theft of the whisky brought the military into the case.

United States Court Rules Cash Bail Is Mandatory

Chicago, Nov. 5.—The United States district court of appeals ruled that it is mandatory to accept cash bail in bailable cases. The court reversed the decision of District Judge Geiger, in the Milwaukee district, in a case in which Charles H. Rowan, charged with using the mails to defraud, sued the federal marshal after refusal to accept cash bail of $36,000.

Former Governor Pardoned On Same Day of Sentence

Montpelier, Vt., Nov. 5.—Governor P. W. Clement late today granted full and unconditional pardon to former Governor Horace F. Grahan, who was sentenced in the supreme court earlier in the day to imprisonment for five to eight years for embezzlement of state funds while he was state auditor.

Conferences on Education to Be Held in Chicago

United States Commissioner Calls Meeting for November 29—Says Teacher Problem Nearing Crisis.

Chicago Tribune-Omaha Bee Leased Wire. Washington, D. C., Nov. 5.—The first 12 regional conferences on education will be held in Chicago, November 29, according to an announcement of the bureau of education, at which the states represented will be Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Michigan and Wisconsin. The second will be for the states of Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota and Iowa, and the concluding conference of the New England states will be held, probably in Boston, December 18.

The teacher shortage presents a problem amounting to a crisis, in the view of Dr. P. P. Claxton, United States commissioner of education, who has issued the call for the conferences.

Unless salaries are raised and policies changed, according to Dr. Claxton, "the teachers of the public schools in the future will be made up of young men and women of very mediocre ability serving in the schools for short terms, and those of still less ability who will remain longer because they have not the energy, personality or ability to undertake anything else. This means deterioration and disintegration of the public school system."

The conferences, dates and places for which are now being arranged, are the outcome of the National Citizens' Conference on Education held here last May, and will be attended by the governors of the respective states or their representatives, mayors of cities, members of chambers of commerce, Rotary clubs, boards of trade, women's organizations, labor and farmers' unions, ministers, lawyers, physicians, editors, and business men as well as educators.

Arnstein to Have Hearing in New York Bond Theft

Washington, Nov. 5.—Jules (Nick) Arnstein will be arraigned tomorrow before Justice Gould in the District of Columbia supreme court on an indictment charging him with conspiracy to bring a part of the stolen securities involved in the $5,000,000 New York bond theft into the district.

Plans Already Being Made for Inauguration

Changes to Come in Washington Social Life With Advent of New President. Popular Topic.

Chicago Tribune-Omaha Bee Leased Wire. Washington, D. C., Nov. 5.—Inauguration plans, and the changes in social life as well as officially in Washington are now the principal topics of conversation in the capital.

Already the air is thick with speculation and prediction ranging from the capitol with President-elect Woodrow Wilson, a matter of extreme local interest, to whether or not there will be an inaugural ball; whether President Wilson will ride to and from Harding, and if not, whether he will be represented by Secretary Colby, or by Mrs. Wilson, or leave the senator to be accompanied by Mrs. Harding, for which a partial precedent was established at the Fair inauguration, when Mrs. Taft rode with her husband from the capitol to the White House; as to whether there will be an inaugural ball, forbidden by President Wilson at his first inauguration, and the question of which will be raised when he is re-elected; whether there will be restored the afternoon concerts formerly held in the inaugural ballroom for two days following the inauguration, and last but not least, whether there will be again New Year receptions at the White House and in general, a return to the social customs and standards of the old republican regime which rose to its height during the Roosevelt administration and passed with President Taft.

While local republican leaders consider the present a trifling premature to predict in regard to the personnel of the inaugural committee, a meeting has been called for next week to discuss the matter, and names are even now being quietly suggested.

Nonpartisans Will Contest Governors' Vote in West Virginia

Charleston, W. Va., Nov. 5.—A statewide contest of the November 2 election for governor of West Virginia, will be instituted next Monday by the non-partisan league, according to a statement issued here.

League headquarters by C. Frank Keene, president of District No. 17, United Mine Workers, and an official of the party in this state. "Thousands and thousands of voters," said the statement, "republicans and democrats, but mostly the former, made the cross mark in the circle at the head of their respective tickets last Tuesday, and then went over to the Non-partisan league ticket and put another cross mark opposite the name of Mr. Montgomery. This vote for Montgomery has not been counted."

Latest returns in the gubernatorial contest, 1466 precincts out of 1868 in the state, show Judge Morgan, republican, leading with 202,644; Koontz, democrat second with 149,464 and Montgomery, Nonpartisan, third with 67,169.

Wilson Greeted By Big Crowd of League Backers

President Makes First Public Appearance in More Than Year—Receives Prolonged Applause.

Washington, Nov. 5.—President Wilson made his first public appearance last night in more than a year, when he was lifted in his wheelchair to the east portico of the White House while hundreds of Washington league of nations adherents gathered on the White House lawn to do him honor.

The crowd of men, women and children bearing state banners and the national flag under the leadership of John F. Costello, democratic national committeeman for the District of Columbia, assembled at democratic national headquarters and marched to the White House, where the gates were open to the public for the first time since the beginning of the war.

As the president was lifted in his wheelchair up the steps from the interior of the White House leading to the east portico, the crowd on the terrace below broke into applause and joined in the singing of "America."

Mrs. Wilson and members of the family stood about the president while the crowd sang. With an overcoat buttoned closely about him and a soft hat shading his face, the president sat silent watching the throng below. There was more cheering as the spng ended. A soloist sang, "Carry Me Back to Ole Virginny" and the crowd picked up the chorus. The president's face relaxed and he turned his head to speak to Mrs. Wilson beside his chair. As the song ended amid renewed cheers a large bouquet of flowers was laid upon the balustrade before him. Mr. Wilson raised his hat and held it aloft as attendants rolled his chair back toward the door. The crowd sent up cheers for the league and for the president and as Mrs. Wilson waved a final greeting from the doorway, sang "The Star Spangled Banner."

Miners in Mexico Protest Seizure

Mexico City, Nov. 5.—American, British and French mining companies in the state of Coahuila plan a protest to the Mexican government against the latter's decision to operate many mines in the state, owing to the inability of employers and striking workmen to reach an agreement ending the present strike.

It is denied in official circles the government has intended to confiscate the mines, but it is asserted drastic measures are necessary to supply railroads and factories with fuel. The constitution, it is pointed out, authorizes the government to act in such an emergency.

Representatives of the Governor of Coahuila yesterday took over five mining properties, announcing that operations would start probably today. The men have been idle for 10 days following a strike in support of demands for wage increases ranging from 100 to 250 per cent.

All profits, it is said, will be turned over to the owners of the mines.

Important deposits of high-grade iron ore, similar to that of Lake Superior, are being developed in India.
