

Boy Pastor Says He Has Made Fortune

"I Have Struck It Lucky," Wires "Oil Shale Ponzi" From His Chicago Office.

Has the dream of Robert E. Jenkinson, preacher-promoter, come true?

Charles Pipkin, head of Pipkin's detective bureau, received the following telegram yesterday from Jenkinson, who is in Chicago:

"Have struck it lucky. Have cleaned up; notify all stockholders I will pay them spot cash for their stock; I appreciate their faith in me."

R. E. JENKINSON.

Has oil been struck on Jenkinson's land in Colorado?

Has he obtained sufficient financial backing to work the shale himself?

Nobody Seems to Know.

Has he promoted another get-rich-quick scheme?

His acquaintances and investors in stock of the United Oil Shale Products, of which he was president and general manager, are wondering.

"I'll make good. Watch me," was Jenkinson's plea to his creditors who turned against him when he was Stalcup of Blair, Neb., former business associate, had him arrested in Denver on September 21 while honeymooning by automobile with his bride of a week, formerly Miss Martha Peterson, 4212 North Fort street, this city.

A charge of passing a worthless check for $300 is still pending in district court against Jenkinson, though the complaining witness has made public declaration that he would not appear against him.

Pastor of Church.

Other persons known to be holding notes against Jenkinson, declare they "have utmost faith in him," and recognize his business ability.

Jenkinson came to Omaha a year ago as pastor of a church in Minneapolis. He maintained his connection with the church while promoting his oil shale scheme.

Election Sweeping Victory for "Dry," Leader Declares

Chicago Tribune-Omaha Bee Leased Wire.

Washington, Nov. 6.—Results of the election were described as "the most sweeping victory for prohibition in the history of the movement," in a statement issued by Deets Pickett, research secretary of the board of temperance, prohibition and public morals of the Methodist Episcopal church.

The New Jersey and New York state leaders who succeeded in wresting control of the democratic party from its better elements at San Francisco on the plea that they could deliver the votes of the wet cities and the entire east, have demonstrated their stupidity and futility with grotesque completeness," said Mr. Pickett.

"Just as an indication of the sweeping character of the American verdict against prohibitionism and saloonism it can be instanced the fact that of 231 house members voting for the Volstead act on original passage and who were re-nominated, every one concerning whom reports have been received at this time, 156 in number, have been re-elected.

E. W. Bubb Is Elected Head of Omaha Kiwanis Club

Charles Gardner spoke on Ak-Sag and Miss Irene Rowe of New York spoke on the Y. W. C. A. before the Kiwanis club Friday night at Hotel Rourke.

W. C. A. asked the governor to deliver the principal address Monday night at the dinner at the Y. W. C. A. with which the fund campaign will start.

Gov. McKelvie Invited to Speak Before Y. W. C. A. Here

In a telegram of congratulations on his re-election sent to Governor McKelvie Friday night, Mrs. Frank Judson, chairman of the $70,000 budget drive of the Omaha Y. W. C. A., asked the governor to deliver the principal address Monday night at the dinner at the Y. W. C. A. with which the fund campaign will start.

Coal Restrictions in England Are Removed

Washington, Nov. 6.—American ships will no longer have to take aboard at home ports sufficient coal to make the round trip to England. It was learned today at the British embassy that as a result of the settlement of the coal strike in England the restrictions imposed on the supply of bunker coal had been removed.

A DRESS SALE MONDAY

Trotline dresses, velvet dresses and silk dresses—special sale price $15.00, $19.50 and $25.00. Scores of clever new styles in all sizes. Don't miss it.

JULIUS ORKIN 1508-10 Douglas Street

DRESSES DRESSES DRESSES

Hundreds of new tricotline, velvet and silk dresses on special sale Monday at $15.00, $19.50 and $25.00. They are truly wonderful bargains.

JULIUS ORKIN 1508-10 Douglas Street

"I'm Rich Now," Says Omaha Boy Pastor

REV. ROBERT E. JENKINSON

Commercial Body Gives Concert in Honor of Teachers

Mary Jordan, Contralto, and Local Artists Appear Before Visiting Pedagogues at Auditorium.

Mary Jordan, contralto, was the visiting artist at a complimentary concert tendered the Nebraska State Teachers' association by the Omaha Chamber of Commerce at the Auditorium Friday night.

Admission to the concert was by tickets and by the appointed time the huge building was practically filled.

Miss Jordan, Henry Cox of Omaha, and the Omaha Stringed orchestra united in presenting the program, which did not contain one song or instrumental number without individual merit, but as whole lacked in contrast and brightness, for the majority of both songs and numbers for strings were of the quiet, serious type.

Beautiful Voice

Miss Jordan gave the larger part of the program. Her voice is a gorgeous organ of pure contralto quality, with unusual sweetness and power. It has a natural depth and velvety contour of tone that is as rare as it is beautiful. Her exquisite low tones frequently resembled those of a cello, in their mellow resonance.

The return is effective November 14. Running time on Omaha, Chicago and Pacific coast lines will be reduced.

Most important revision for Omaha, according to Mr. Craig, is the addition of a new section to the two Overland limited trains, with a change in schedule and reduction in running time of these trains.

Overland Limited No. 1 will leave Chicago over the Northwestern at 7:10 p. m. and arrive in Omaha at 9:30 a. m. and San Francisco at 1:30 p. m., with a running time of 68 hours and 20 minutes. Previous running time was 72 hours.

Los Angeles Limited No. 7 will leave Chicago at 7 p. m., reach Omaha at 8:30 a. m., and Los Angeles at 1:30 p. m. Running time will be 68 hours and 30 minutes. At was 72 hours.

Oregon-Washington Limited No. 17 will leave Chicago at 9:30 p. m., reach Omaha at 11:30 a. m., and Portland at 7:30 p. m. Running time will be 72 hours. It was 74 hours.

Pacific Limited will leave Chicago over the Milwaukee at 10:45 p. m., reach Omaha at 1:20, pick up the Omaha-Cheyenne sleeper and reach San Francisco at 8:30. Running time 71 hours and 45 minutes.

Continental Limited No. 19 will leave Chicago at 10:30 a. m., reach Omaha at 1:25, Los Angeles at 9:30 and Portland at 8:30. Running time to Los Angeles will be 73 hours and Portland 72 hours. Eachbound overland trains will give a like expedited and improved service.

Price of Newspaper Paper Around $130 Ton in 1921

Montreal, Nov. 6.—The price of the newspaper paper for export to the United States during the first quarter of 1921 probably will be between 6 1/2 and 7 cents a pound or $130 to $140 a ton, it was announced semi-officially here. While definite information is lacking as to the prices at which Canadian producers will renew contracts with consumers in the United States, it was stated that official information will be forthcoming within a few days.

British Explorer to Join Antarctic Expedition

San Francisco, Nov. 6.—Capt. G. B. Wilkins, British explorer, was here on his way to Montevideo, where he said he would join a British Antarctic expedition, scheduled to leave the southern port in two months aboard the steamer Thor.

The Thor, he said, is on its way to South America from Standford, Norway. Captain Wilkins was with Vilhjalmur Stefansson, Canadian explorer, in the arctic between 1913 and 1917.

Plans Are Made to Test Anti-Alien Land Measure

San Francisco, Nov. 6.—Announcement that it intended to test the California anti-alien land measure, passed at Tuesday's election, by leasing land to a Japanese after the law had been proclaimed by the secretary of state, was made here by John P. Irish, Oakland, who wrote the ballot argument against the law.

Irish said he would lease some of his property near Stockton, Cal., and will have the lease recorded. He will then notify the attorney general of his action.

Original Land Grants Presented in N. Y. Trial

New York, Nov. 6.—Records of land grants made by Peter Stuyvesant before the end of the Dutch regime in New York, were presented by the city in its action to prove title to a stretch of land along the Hudson river side of Manhattan Island, now occupied as a "right of way" by the New York Central railroad.

The strip of land in litigation extending about eight miles from Seventy-second street, Spuyten Duyvil, counsel for the city asserts, is city property under provisions of the Dongan charter vesting the city with title to all "vacant, unpatented and unappropriated land."

Omahans In Caricature

GEORGE BRANDEIS.

High Army Officer Coming To Omaha on Retirement

Mrs. Robert Loghry, Washington, D. C., attached to the United States army signal corps and now in charge of recruiting for the signal corps school at Camp Albert Vail, near Long Branch, N. J., has advised his wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Johnson, 5111 North Twenty-fourth street, that he expects to be retired soon and will make his future home in Omaha.

The colonel has had a long and varied military experience, beginning with two years in France as chief of the radio work of the American battle front. Because of his two years' experience in Alaska he was called in by the heads of the aviation section of the army to lay out the route for the Minola to Nome air trip which was recently completed by four army airplanes.

He served about two years at Fort Omaha before the world war, when he went to Fort Leavenworth as instructor, then to Alaska and then overseas.

In Charge of Exhibit.

A few weeks ago he was in charge of the United States army signal corps exhibit at an electrical show held in the Grand Central Palace, New York City, where he was given considerable attention by the newspapers. With several expert assistants he demonstrated the uses of the wireless telephone as applied to airplanes, showing how this apparatus may be used from ground to plane or from plane to plane. He likewise demonstrated the "pack set," which is carried by two miles and can be set up in five minutes. This feature being an adjunct of the cavalry and used when the men are away from their horses.

While in the radio service overseas, Col. Loghry had 600 to 700 men in his charge at various times. Much of his work was what is known as "intercept work," being the interception of enemy wireless messages. Jules Greevy of 3082 Davenport street has known the colonel for years, having met him frequently while in France and returned with him to the states on the same boat. Mrs. Loghry was born in Omaha, where she was known as Rea Johnson before her marriage 10 years ago.

Wife Born in Omaha.

While in the radio service overseas, Col. Loghry had 600 to 700 men in his charge at various times. Much of his work was what is known as "intercept work," being the interception of enemy wireless messages. Jules Greevy of 3082 Davenport street has known the colonel for years, having met him frequently while in France and returned with him to the states on the same boat. Mrs. Loghry was born in Omaha, where she was known as Rea Johnson before her marriage 10 years ago.

Wife Born in Omaha.

While in the radio service overseas, Col. Loghry had 600 to 700 men in his charge at various times. Much of his work was what is known as "intercept work," being the interception of enemy wireless messages. Jules Greevy of 3082 Davenport street has known the colonel for years, having met him frequently while in France and returned with him to the states on the same boat. Mrs. Loghry was born in Omaha, where she was known as Rea Johnson before her marriage 10 years ago.

Wife Born in Omaha.

While in the radio service overseas, Col. Loghry had 600 to 700 men in his charge at various times. Much of his work was what is known as "intercept work," being the interception of enemy wireless messages. Jules Greevy of 3082 Davenport street has known the colonel for years, having met him frequently while in France and returned with him to the states on the same boat. Mrs. Loghry was born in Omaha, where she was known as Rea Johnson before her marriage 10 years ago.

Wife Born in Omaha.

While in the radio service overseas, Col. Loghry had 600 to 700 men in his charge at various times. Much of his work was what is known as "intercept work," being the interception of enemy wireless messages. Jules Greevy of 3082 Davenport street has known the colonel for years, having met him frequently while in France and returned with him to the states on the same boat. Mrs. Loghry was born in Omaha, where she was known as Rea Johnson before her marriage 10 years ago.

Wife Born in Omaha.

While in the radio service overseas, Col. Loghry had 600 to 700 men in his charge at various times. Much of his work was what is known as "intercept work," being the interception of enemy wireless messages. Jules Greevy of 3082 Davenport street has known the colonel for years, having met him frequently while in France and returned with him to the states on the same boat. Mrs. Loghry was born in Omaha, where she was known as Rea Johnson before her marriage 10 years ago.

Wife Born in Omaha.

While in the radio service overseas, Col. Loghry had 600 to 700 men in his charge at various times. Much of his work was what is known as "intercept work," being the interception of enemy wireless messages. Jules Greevy of 3082 Davenport street has known the colonel for years, having met him frequently while in France and returned with him to the states on the same boat. Mrs. Loghry was born in Omaha, where she was known as Rea Johnson before her marriage 10 years ago.

Wife Born in Omaha.

While in the radio service overseas, Col. Loghry had 600 to 700 men in his charge at various times. Much of his work was what is known as "intercept work," being the interception of enemy wireless messages. Jules Greevy of 3082 Davenport street has known the colonel for years, having met him frequently while in France and returned with him to the states on the same boat. Mrs. Loghry was born in Omaha, where she was known as Rea Johnson before her marriage 10 years ago.

Wife Born in Omaha.

While in the radio service overseas, Col. Loghry had 600 to 700 men in his charge at various times. Much of his work was what is known as "intercept work," being the interception of enemy wireless messages. Jules Greevy of 3082 Davenport street has known the colonel for years, having met him frequently while in France and returned with him to the states on the same boat. Mrs. Loghry was born in Omaha, where she was known as Rea Johnson before her marriage 10 years ago.

Wife Born in Omaha.

While in the radio service overseas, Col. Loghry had 600 to 700 men in his charge at various times. Much of his work was what is known as "intercept work," being the interception of enemy wireless messages. Jules Greevy of 3082 Davenport street has known the colonel for years, having met him frequently while in France and returned with him to the states on the same boat. Mrs. Loghry was born in Omaha, where she was known as Rea Johnson before her marriage 10 years ago.

Wife Born in Omaha.

While in the radio service overseas, Col. Loghry had 600 to 700 men in his charge at various times. Much of his work was what is known as "intercept work," being the interception of enemy wireless messages. Jules Greevy of 3082 Davenport street has known the colonel for years, having met him frequently while in France and returned with him to the states on the same boat. Mrs. Loghry was born in Omaha, where she was known as Rea Johnson before her marriage 10 years ago.

Wife Born in Omaha.

While in the radio service overseas, Col. Loghry had 600 to 700 men in his charge at various times. Much of his work was what is known as "intercept work," being the interception of enemy wireless messages. Jules Greevy of 3082 Davenport street has known the colonel for years, having met him frequently while in France and returned with him to the states on the same boat. Mrs. Loghry was born in Omaha, where she was known as Rea Johnson before her marriage 10 years ago.

Wife Born in Omaha.

While in the radio service overseas, Col. Loghry had 600 to 700 men in his charge at various times. Much of his work was what is known as "intercept work," being the interception of enemy wireless messages. Jules Greevy of 3082 Davenport street has known the colonel for years, having met him frequently while in France and returned with him to the states on the same boat. Mrs. Loghry was born in Omaha, where she was known as Rea Johnson before her marriage 10 years ago.

Wife Born in Omaha.

While in the radio service overseas, Col. Loghry had 600 to 700 men in his charge at various times. Much of his work was what is known as "intercept work," being the interception of enemy wireless messages. Jules Greevy of 3082 Davenport street has known the colonel for years, having met him frequently while in France and returned with him to the states on the same boat. Mrs. Loghry was born in Omaha, where she was known as Rea Johnson before her marriage 10 years ago.

Wife Born in Omaha.

While in the radio service overseas, Col. Loghry had 600 to 700 men in his charge at various times. Much of his work was what is known as "intercept work," being the interception of enemy wireless messages. Jules Greevy of 3082 Davenport street has known the colonel for years, having met him frequently while in France and returned with him to the states on the same boat. Mrs. Loghry was born in Omaha, where she was known as Rea Johnson before her marriage 10 years ago.

Wife Born in Omaha.

While in the radio service overseas, Col. Loghry had 600 to 700 men in his charge at various times. Much of his work was what is known as "intercept work," being the interception of enemy wireless messages. Jules Greevy of 3082 Davenport street has known the colonel for years, having met him frequently while in France and returned with him to the states on the same boat. Mrs. Loghry was born in Omaha, where she was known as Rea Johnson before her marriage 10 years ago.

Wife Born in Omaha.

While in the radio service overseas, Col. Loghry had 600 to 700 men in his charge at various times. Much of his work was what is known as "intercept work," being the interception of enemy wireless messages. Jules Greevy of 3082 Davenport street has known the colonel for years, having met him frequently while in France and returned with him to the states on the same boat. Mrs. Loghry was born in Omaha, where she was known as Rea Johnson before her marriage 10 years ago.

Wife Born in Omaha.

While in the radio service overseas, Col. Loghry had 600 to 700 men in his charge at various times. Much of his work was what is known as "intercept work," being the interception of enemy wireless messages. Jules Greevy of 3082 Davenport street has known the colonel for years, having met him frequently while in France and returned with him to the states on the same boat. Mrs. Loghry was born in Omaha, where she was known as Rea Johnson before her marriage 10 years ago.

Wife Born in Omaha.

While in the radio service overseas, Col. Loghry had 600 to 700 men in his charge at various times. Much of his work was what is known as "intercept work," being the interception of enemy wireless messages. Jules Greevy of 3082 Davenport street has known the colonel for years, having met him frequently while in France and returned with him to the states on the same boat. Mrs. Loghry was born in Omaha, where she was known as Rea Johnson before her marriage 10 years ago.

Wife Born in Omaha.

While in the radio service overseas, Col. Loghry had 600 to 700 men in his charge at various times. Much of his work was what is known as "intercept work," being the interception of enemy wireless messages. Jules Greevy of 3082 Davenport street has known the colonel for years, having met him frequently while in France and returned with him to the states on the same boat. Mrs. Loghry was born in Omaha, where she was known as Rea Johnson before her marriage 10 years ago.

Wife Born in Omaha.

While in the radio service overseas, Col. Loghry had 600 to 700 men in his charge at various times. Much of his work was what is known as "intercept work," being the interception of enemy wireless messages. Jules Greevy of 3082 Davenport street has known the colonel for years, having met him frequently while in France and returned with him to the states on the same boat. Mrs. Loghry was born in Omaha, where she was known as Rea Johnson before her marriage 10 years ago.

Educators Are Invited to Hold Convention Here

Chamber of Commerce Begins Fight to Bring Convention of Educational Association to Omaha.

MRS. ROBERT LOGHRY

With Omaha saying goodbye to one educational association convention yesterday, A. C. Thomas, publicity manager for the Omaha Chamber of Commerce, began a fight to bring a still larger educational convention to Omaha next year—the superintendents' and principals' section of the National Educational association, with an average attendance of 6,000.

This winter the section will meet at Atlantic City and everything indicates a central western city will be selected next year. Thomas believes sufficient influence can be brought to bear to bring the convention to Omaha.

The relationship to Nebraska officers in the national association and in the superintendents' and principals' section follows:

Fred Hunter, Oakland, Cal., president of the National Educational association, formerly superintendent of schools at Lincoln.

E. U. Graft, Indianapolis, past president of the association, formerly superintendent of schools at Omaha.

J. W. Crabtree, secretary of the association, formerly state superintendent of schools and president of the Peru State Normal school.

Carroll G. Pearce, Milwaukee, chairman board of trustees of superintendents' and principals' section, formerly superintendent of schools at Omaha.

W. N. Davidson, Pittsburgh, president of the superintendents' and principals' section, formerly superintendent of schools at Omaha.

Col. Loghry is painstaking in his explanation of the wonders of the wireless apparatus and he might easily be called the king of recruiters. He was in charge of the wireless service overseas and has many stories of interest to tell of the important part played by the signal corps. He is authority for the statement that within six months the government will have perfected a wireless telephone apparatus that will enable recruiting parties in airplanes to establish direct communication with their base, more than 100 miles away.

While in the radio service overseas, Col. Loghry had 600 to 700 men in his charge at various times. Much of his work was what is known as "intercept work," being the interception of enemy wireless messages. Jules Greevy of 3082 Davenport street has known the colonel for years, having met him frequently while in France and returned with him to the states on the same boat. Mrs. Loghry was born in Omaha, where she was known as Rea Johnson before her marriage 10 years ago.

Wife Born in Omaha.

While in the radio service overseas, Col. Loghry had 600 to 700 men in his charge at various times. Much of his work was what is known as "intercept work," being the interception of enemy wireless messages. Jules Greevy of 3082 Davenport street has known the colonel for years, having met him frequently while in France and returned with him to the states on the same boat. Mrs. Loghry was born in Omaha, where she was known as Rea Johnson before her marriage 10 years ago.

Wife Born in Omaha.

While in the radio service overseas, Col. Loghry had 600 to 700 men in his charge at various times. Much of his work was what is known as "intercept work," being the interception of enemy wireless messages. Jules Greevy of 3082 Davenport street has known the colonel for years, having met him frequently while in France and returned with him to the states on the same boat. Mrs. Loghry was born in Omaha, where she was known as Rea Johnson before her marriage 10 years ago.

Wife Born in Omaha.

While in the radio service overseas, Col. Loghry had 600 to 700 men in his charge at various times. Much of his work was what is known as "intercept work," being the interception of enemy wireless messages. Jules Greevy of 3082 Davenport street has known the colonel for years, having met him frequently while in France and returned with him to the states on the same boat. Mrs. Loghry was born in Omaha, where she was known as Rea Johnson before her marriage 10 years ago.

Wife Born in Omaha.

While in the radio service overseas, Col. Loghry had 600 to 700 men in his charge at various times. Much of his work was what is known as "intercept work," being the interception of enemy wireless messages. Jules Greevy of 3082 Davenport street has known the colonel for years, having met him frequently while in France and returned with him to the states on the same boat. Mrs. Loghry was born in Omaha, where she was known as Rea Johnson before her marriage 10 years ago.

Wife Born in Omaha.

While in the radio service overseas, Col. Loghry had 600 to 700 men in his charge at various times. Much of his work was what is known as "intercept work," being the interception of enemy wireless messages. Jules Greevy of 3082 Davenport street has known the colonel for years, having met him frequently while in France and returned with him to the states on the same boat. Mrs. Loghry was born in Omaha, where she was known as Rea Johnson before her marriage 10 years ago.

Wife Born in Omaha.

While in the radio service overseas, Col. Loghry had 600 to 700 men in his charge at various times. Much of his work was what is known as "intercept work," being the interception of enemy wireless messages. Jules Greevy of 3082 Davenport street has known the colonel for years, having met him frequently while in France and returned with him to the states on the same boat. Mrs. Loghry was born in Omaha, where she was known as Rea Johnson before her marriage 10 years ago.

Wife Born in Omaha.

While in the radio service overseas, Col. Loghry had 600 to 700 men in his charge at various times. Much of his work was what is known as "intercept work," being the interception of enemy wireless messages. Jules Greevy of 3082 Davenport street has known the colonel for years, having met him frequently while in France and returned with him to the states on the same boat. Mrs. Loghry was born in Omaha, where she was known as Rea Johnson before her marriage 10 years ago.

Wife Born in Omaha.

While in the radio service overseas, Col. Loghry had 600 to 700 men in his charge at various times. Much of his work was what is known as "intercept work," being the interception of enemy wireless messages. Jules Greevy of 3082 Davenport street has known the colonel for years, having met him frequently while in France and returned with him to the states on the same boat. Mrs. Loghry was born in Omaha, where she was known as Rea Johnson before her marriage 10 years ago.

Wife Born in Omaha.

While in the radio service overseas, Col. Loghry had 600 to 700 men in his charge at various times. Much of his work was what is known as "intercept work," being the interception of enemy wireless messages. Jules Greevy of 3082 Davenport street has known the colonel for years, having met him frequently while in France and returned with him to the states on the same boat. Mrs. Loghry was born in Omaha, where she was known as Rea Johnson before her marriage 10 years ago.

Wife Born in Omaha.

While in the radio service overseas, Col. Loghry had 600 to 700 men in his charge at various times. Much of his work was what is known as "intercept work," being the interception of enemy wireless messages. Jules Greevy of 3082 Davenport street has known the colonel for years, having met him frequently while in France and returned with him to the states on the same boat. Mrs. Loghry was born in Omaha, where she was known as Rea Johnson before her marriage 10 years ago.

Wife Born in Omaha.

While in the radio service overseas, Col. Loghry had 600 to 700 men in his charge at various times. Much of his work was what is known as "intercept work," being the interception of enemy wireless messages. Jules Greevy of 3082 Davenport street has known the colonel for years, having met him frequently while in France and returned with him to the states on the same boat. Mrs. Loghry was born in Omaha, where she was known as Rea Johnson before her marriage 10 years ago.

Wife Born in Omaha.

While in the radio service overseas, Col