Johnson and Heydler Barred From Meeting

Efforts to Avoid War Will Be Made When Men Financially Interested in League Hold Confab.

Chicago, Nov. 11.—Efforts at reconciliation for the purpose of avoiding a base ball war in the major leagues will be made here tomorrow at a joint meeting of club owners of the National and American leagues.

The meeting was agreed upon when the warring factions met in Kansas City the other day while there to present their sides of the controversy before the minors. At this session, John A. Heydler and Ban Johnson, presidents of the National and American leagues, respectively, lawyers, stenographers and other attaches will be barred and only the men financially interested in the two leagues will be present. The meeting is to be informal and no record of what takes place will be made.

Each club owner is expected to speak for himself and give his opinion as to the best means for the reorganization of the game, so as to bring about peace. The magnates are scheduled to convene at noon. After the joint meeting adjournment will be taken while each league will deliberate on the proposals for a final report. In the evening another joint meeting will be held and it is expected that some decisive action will be taken which will mean peace between the warring factions.

Nonpareils Will Play Havelock Eleven at Rourke Lot Sunday

These two elevens were scheduled to play last Sunday, but rain interfered and in order to give the Omaha followers a chance to see the crack Havelock eleven in action, Manager Phil Lynch arranged another game for Sunday. The game will be staged at Rourke park, starting at 3 o'clock.

The Havelock squad is one of the strongest elevens in the state. Several of the players are former Nebraska University and Lincoln High school gridsters.

Maroons Will Tackle Wayne At Rourke Lot

Three Games Scheduled to Be Played by Nebraska Conference Teams Today; Islanders Beat York.

GAMES TODAY.
University of Omaha against Wayne State Normal at Kearney. Charles E. Donno college against Peru State Normal at Peru. Cotner university against Kearney State Normal at Kearney.

Nebraska conference football games will hold the center of interest among gridiron fans today. Three battles are scheduled to be staged by the conference schools.

Coach Ernie Adams' University of Omaha moleskin performers and the Wayne State Normal gridsters will provide the main grid attraction for local fans this afternoon. The two aggregations will get into action at Rourke park, the game starting at 3 o'clock.

The Maroons were sent through a light signal practice yesterday afternoon as the final preparation for the game. Adams had his players running through signals out-of-doors, but because of weather conditions the locals soon retreated to the gymnasium.

Quarterback Etter will probably be out of the game this afternoon. The local pilot has been on the sick list this week and it is doubtful whether he will be allowed to don the moleskins.

The game today is the first conference battle of the season for the Wayne aggregation. The strength of the Normal eleven is not known to local fans and grid dopsters believe Coach Adams' squad will buck up against a strong team when Wayne trots onto the field.

Doane college meets Peru at Peru and Cotner plays Kearney State Normal at Kearney. Grand Island college and York were scheduled to clash today, but the game was played yesterday as one of the features of the Armistice day celebration at York. The Islanders' college walloped the York warriors, 34 to 0. York was on the Grand Island one-yard line once during the game, but lacked the ability to carrying the oval across the goal line.

The Hastings and Midland college were scheduled to meet this afternoon on the former's gridiron, but the game was played yesterday because of the celebration. Hastings winning with a score of 20 to 3. Midland's three tallies were made during the last quarter by a dropkick.
