Admiral Coontz to Review U. S. Atlantic And Pacific Fleets

Washington, Nov. 13.—Admiral Coontz, chief of naval operations, will witness the first joint maneuvers of the Atlantic and Pacific fleets in Panama bay and off the South American coast early next year, Secretary Daniels said today, adding that if possible, he also would be with the fleets at that time.

The fleets will meet in Panama bay in February and under command of Admiral Henry B. Wilson, commander of the Atlantic fleet, will steam southward, holding maneuvers en route. At a point midway between Callao, Peru, and Valparaiso, Chile, the fleets will separate, Mr. Daniels said, the Atlantic fleet going to Callao for a week's visit, and the Pacific fleet continuing on to Valparaiso.

After the visits the fleets will join again and proceed to Panama bay, where they will separate and proceed to their separate winter drill grounds for target practice.

Brother to Wed Nurse He Met at Soldier Funeral

Council Bluffs Lad to Announce Engagement to Girl Who Nursed Brother in France.

Cupid shoots his arrows fast and sure. He wove many romances during the war, and he shattered many. But in Council Bluffs today he will reveal his handiwork in which he used love, death, consolation, compassion, and love again.

For the engagement of Miss Margaret Hays, 740 Myster street, and Morgan B. O'Brien, 1001 Madison avenue, will be announced. The date of the wedding is not set.

The story of their meeting and courtship is an unusual one.

Tumulty to Receive Handsome Job From Wilson Quite Soon

By Universal Service.
New York, Nov. 13.—According to information reaching here today, President Wilson is saving the appointment of a presiding judge of the United States court of customs appeals as a valedictory gift to his secretary, Joseph P. Tumulty. The salary is $10,000 per year, good for three years, and the duties are light.

The court meets in Washington and passes upon appeals from lower courts upon the classification of imports. Mrs. Tumulty last week purchased the old Governor Shepherd home in Washington. The hours required to sit upon the bench are not such that Mr. Tumulty would not be able to devote considerable time to tending to political affairs in New Jersey, where he has been active for years.

The presiding judge of the court, Robert M. Montgomery, died some time ago.

Reprisals Are Threatened For Abduction of Griffin

Cork, Nov. 13.—Reprisals have been threatened in connection with the abduction of Thomas Griffin, a member of the Cork jail, who was kidnaped October 10 while on the way to his home.

The following notice was found posted today on the front door of the offices of the Cork Examiner:

"Final notice!
"If Warden Griffin is not released within 48 hours Cork will remember his abduction.—(Signed) By Order of the Black and Tans."

Adopts French Orphan. Miss Hays Served Overseas as a Nurse. While in France, she met a little French war orphan who captivated a corner of her heart. She adopted him and returned to her home in Omaha five months ago.

Two weeks ago, she read of the arrival in Council Bluffs of the body of Nicholas O'Brien, A. E. F. soldier, who gave his life overseas.

She communicated with the family in Council Bluffs, and after telling them of her close friendship with the dead soldier during his treatments in several hospitals where she was a nurse, was accepted into the family circle as a very dear friend.

Nurse at Hospital. O'Brien died in base hospital 39 in Gierres, France. Miss Hays was a nurse there.

She attended the funeral two weeks ago Sunday, with the family. At the funeral she met Morgan O'Brien, brother of the dead soldier.

Sympathy for the mutual loss burst into the flame of love—and Cupid's arrow had reached its mark. The engagement will be announced.

Red Cross Pays Tribute To Memory of Its Founder

New York, Nov. 13.—Special ceremonies in honor of Florence Nightingale, famous British nurse during the Crimean war, was held today by the Red Cross at the base of the Statue of Liberty in New York harbor. The program was planned as a part of the Red Cross annual roll call activities.

Man Gets Wreath for Third "Death" Which Also Did Not Happen

Chicago, Nov. 13.—Fred Emich, 23, who was twice reported dead in the world war, returned safely and personally denied both statements, but today he received a wreath of flowers for "his funeral."

Emich did not particularly care for the flowers, so he sent them to the home of Samuel Payer, who was killed in an automobile crash Wednesday.

Emich and his father were riding in the car that killed Payer, but both escaped death.

During the war young Emich was shot three times, one bullet exploding in his right arm. He was first reported dead in a message from France, saying he had been killed in action. Still later another message placed him among the casualties. The last announced he had met death under a wrecked automobile last Wednesday.

Hiram Johnson Scores Wilson by Writing Poem

By Universal Service.
Altoona, Pa., Nov. 13.—Senator Hiram Johnson passed through here today on his way to Washington and handed a reporter this poem written in his own hand:

Because Wilson kept us out of war,
He kept us out of shoes,
He kept us out of booze,
He kept us out of danger,
He kept us out of beer
And made America safe
For rent hogs and profiteers.

Merchandise at Less Than Wholesale? Yes!—But Each Item For One Day Only—Please Read Why

The special bargains offered each day in these advertisements will be priced not only lower than today's actual wholesale price, but in most instances at less than the actual cost of the raw material.

Each item will be offered for one day's selling only. It will be necessary to limit purchases to reasonable amounts, as we wish to give everyone an opportunity to profit by these offers, but not to supply wants for a year or more in advance.

The demand will naturally be very great. While we have provided large quantities of these goods, we cannot guarantee them to last for any definite time, although we shall try to have enough for an entire day's selling.

We kindly request retail merchants not to attend these sales for the purpose of replenishing their stocks, as these bargains are for the benefit of the consuming public, and positively cannot be purchased by anyone for resale.
