A BEAUTIFULLY appointed luncheon was given by Mrs. Halleck Rose at the University club, Saturday, honoring Mrs. Charles Marples of Evanston, Ill., who is visiting relatives in the city. A handsome basket of button chrysanthemums in yellow and brown, tied with a graceful bow of yellow tulle, adorned the table. Place cards and nut cases further carried out the color scheme in shades of yellow.

Mrs. Marples formerly resided in Omaha, leaving here about 10 years ago. She has recently returned with her husband from a year abroad, which took her into Germany. She was one of the first American women who went into that country after the armistice. Mrs. Marples has many interesting souvenirs from there, some of which she showed at the Saturday luncheon, relating incidents in connection with them. A knitted head bag, soft as a piece of silk, was a most gorgeous and attractive fancy she had from the country of our late enemy. Mrs. Marples says the Germans are fast resuming their commercial activity. She and her husband had no unpleasant experiences during their three months' stay there. Their son, Edward, was a first lieutenant in service abroad during the war.

Mrs. Rose's guests included: Mesdames Marples, Warren Blackwell, Charles Russell, Irving Baxter, E. J. Burke, Anna Metcalf, John W. Griffith, William Garrett, John McCague, A. W. Bowman, C. Mason, J. J. McMullen, Misses Lydia McCague and Laura Scott.

Mrs. Marples, who was Miss Anna McCague before her marriage, is being honored with many affairs. On Monday she was entertained at luncheon by Mrs. Charles Russell.

Problems That Perplex

Answered by
BEATRICE FAIRFAX.

Secretly in Love.
Dear Miss Fairfax, Omaha Bee: I am 21 and have a girl chum of my own age who is going about with a young man whom I have grown to love. My girl friend has repeatedly noticed my depression when in the company of the young man, and has often asked me to tell her the reason. I have been tempted to tell her many times but realized that it would ruin her happiness. The young man has always regarded me in a friendly manner and has taken me for a good sport. The question I wish to ask is this: Do you think that it would be best to discontinue seeing him, as I am sure that at some time I am bound to betray my love?

B. B. G.
Surely you aren't going to let your own fancied cost you a girl's friendship, a man's respect and, possibly, the happiness of every one concerned. If you haven't the strength of character to overcome your own unfortunate notion, you'd better run away. But you'd admire yourself more if you stayed and fought it out with yourself.

What's What

By HELEN DECIE

A well-bred woman does not accept favors from any but relatives or intimate friends. Even so small a matter as coffee is not to be paid for by a casual acquaintance who happens to be entering the care at the same time. Unless the woman finds momentary difficulty in getting at her change, he should not offer to pay, and even then only after asking permission to lend her the needed coin. When she repays him later, he should accept with a simple "Thank you," and without protest. A common exposition of untimely familiarity with social ethics is the untimely girl's attitude on this point, her expectation that every man with whom she has the slightest acquaintance must pay her carfare whenever opportunity offers, and her verdict that he is what she terms a "tightwad" if he does not avail himself of the privilege which, in more cultivated society, would be accounted an impertinence.

RECORDS COVER A CENTURY

One of the interesting places in Lowell, Mass., is the old apothecary shop on Merrimack Street, established in 1827. This location is still a drug store. The old prescription books have been preserved and form an interesting record covering nearly a century.

Perhaps one of the most interesting books is that of the year 1855. On one of the pages of this book, that dated June 9th, 1855, is written the original prescription for Father John's Medicine. This prescription was compounded for the Reverend Father John O'Brien at the old drug store on that date, and was so successful in treating Father John's ailment, which was a severe cold and cough, that he recommended the medicine to his friends and parishioners. In going to the drug store and calling for the medicine they always asked for "Father John's Medicine," and in this way the medicine got its name and was advertised.

Father John's Medicine is a safe family medicine for colds, coughs, and as a tonic and body-builder, because it does not contain opium, morphine, chloroform, or any other poisonous drugs, or alcohol, but is all pure, wholesome nourishment.

This Is Better Than Laxatives

One NR Tablet Each Night For A Week Will Correct Your Constipation and Make Constant Dosing Unnecessary. Try It.

Poor digestion and assimilation mean a poorly nourished body and low vitality. Poor elimination means clogged bowels, fermentation, putrefaction and the formation of poisonous gases which are absorbed by the blood and carried through the body. The result is weakness, headaches, dizziness, coated tongue, inactive liver, bilious attacks and all the attendant ills of indigestion, poor appetite, impoverished blood, sallow complexion, pimples, skin diseases, and often times serious illness.

Ordinary laxatives, purges and cathartics—senna, castor oil and the like—may relieve for a few hours, but real, lasting benefit can only come through the use of medicine that tones up and strengthens the digestive as well as the eliminative organs. Get a 25c box of Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) and take one tablet each night for a week. Relief will follow the very next dose, but a few days will elapse before you feel and realize the fullest benefit. When you get straightened out and feel just right again you need not take medicine every day—an occasional NR Tablet will keep your system in good condition and you will always feel your best. Remember, keeping well is cheaper and cheaper than getting ill. Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) are sold, guaranteed and recommended by all druggists.

Last Night's Audience Mystified by Phonograph

Drawn from actual photograph

Hears famous contralto

compare voice with RE-CREATION by Edison's new phonograph--could not tell the two apart

MARION EVELYN COX, the popular contralto, gave an extraordinary recital last night at the Rialto Theater.

Miss Cox walked on to the stage and stood beside a stately cabinet. She began to sing "Granny." The audience immediately yielded to the spell of her beautiful voice. Then suddenly there was a stir—a subdued murmur of surprise—and a perplexed rubbing of eyes. The voice continued to fill the auditorium with undiminished sweetness—your ears were proof of that—but her lips had become absolutely silent—your eyes told you that.

What wizardry was this! It was the test of direct comparison with the living artist, which Thomas A. Edison has developed to demonstrate that the Official Laboratory Model of his new phonograph will sing any song exactly, as it was sung by the artist, and that his Re-Creation of a singer's voice, as it comes from his wonderful new phonograph, positively cannot be distinguished from the singer's actual voice, when both are heard in direct comparison.

Miss Cox made repeated comparisons—always with the same result. It was truly wonderful. This master achievement of the great wizard, Edison, marks a new epoch in music.

The NEW EDISON

"The Phonograph With a Soul"

Miss Cox will repeat this astounding test every day this week at 3:40 p. m., 8:30 p. m. and 9:45 p. m. Go to the Rialto this week.

See if you can tell the difference between Miss Cox's living voice and her voice as recorded by Mr. Edison. Go to the Rialto. Don't miss this musical treat.
