

Chicago Player To Be Banished From Base Ball

White Sox Hurler Agrees to Reveal Details of "Thrown Games" On Witness Stand.

Chicago, Nov. 17.—Eddie Cicotte, Chicago White Sox pitcher, whose confession resulted in numerous indictments by the special Cook county base ball grand jury in connection with the 1919 world series scandal, probably will not be punished for his part in the game "throwing" according to officials of the state's attorney's office. Cicotte will turn state's evidence when the men indicted are tried and his only sentence will be banishment from organized base ball, it was said tonight.

D. P. Cassidy of Detroit, Cicotte's attorney, conferred yesterday with state attorneys over the pitcher's confession and possible testimony. At this conference, according to state officials, Mr. Cassidy promised that Cicotte would tell the court the same story he told the jury. As a result, it was arranged for the pitcher to furnish bonds without personally appearing. While other indicted players who have voluntarily surrendered have been required to furnish $10,000 bonds, Cicotte's bail was fixed at $5,000 on the plea of Mr. Cassidy that it would work a financial hardship on the White Sox player to force him to put up more than that amount. Dr. Cassidy deposited $5,000 in Lafayette city jail.

Not Satisfied Evidence.
While no official announcement was made by the state's attorney's office, an official let it be known that Cicotte's testimony the jury never would have had sufficient evidence to indict more than one or two persons and that there would be little chance for conviction without the pitcher as a state witness.

Before Cicotte confessed, he had made of hearsay evidence, an official said tonight, "but none of it would have held more than one or two persons and that there would be little chance for conviction without the pitcher as a state witness." Cicotte's confession, however, was held to be sufficient to indict more than one or two persons, and that there would be little chance for conviction without the pitcher as a state witness.

Testified He Received $10,000.
He testified that he was given $10,000 which was used to buy "throw" games. He named "Buck" Weaver, "Swede" Ribbers, "Happy" Felsch, George McEhin, "Chick" Gandell, Joe Jackson and Claude Williams as his confederates in the 1919 world series. Williams and Jackson testified before the grand jury. Williams was quoted in local papers as testifying as to "throwing" games. McEhin and Weaver, however, maintained their innocence and are planning to fight the case. Gandell is denying implications in the deal, and his whereabouts is now unknown. The jury voted indictments against Cicotte as soon as Cicotte finished his testimony. The indictments were returned later.

Layton and Capron Win Billiard Games

Chicago, Nov. 17.—John Layton of Sedalia, Mo., continued today his steady playing in the preliminaries for the national three-cushion billiard championship, defeating Charles Morin of Chicago, 50 to 23, in 45 innings.

Joseph Capron of Chicago won his first game of the tournament, defeating Hugh Heal of Toledo, 50 to 49.

Naval Academy Foot Ball Team Prepares for Army

Dailley and Kallio Wrestle to Draw

Axtell, Neb., Boy and Local Grappler Give Exhibition Of Mat Game.

Owen Dailley, lightweight grappler of Axtell, Neb., and Gus Kallio of Omaha, wrestled one hour and 34 minutes to a draw at the Creighton gymnasium Tuesday night.

Both men were evenly matched, and staged a good exhibition of wrestling. The men went to the mat immediately after entering the ring. Neither man stalled for time.

Kallio took the initiative at the start, and pushed his opponent hard. Dailley managed to keep from Kallio's grasp by some fast mat work. At the end of an hour, Dailley took the lead, putting Kallio on his guard. The former succeeded in getting a toe hold several times on his opponent, but was not able to do any great amount of damage with the hold.

At the end of an hour and a half both men showed signs of exhaustion and Referee Ernie Holmes called the match a draw.

Denies Reports That Eddie Cicotte Will Turn State's Evidence

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 17.—Daniel P. Cassidy, attorney for Eddie Cicotte, today denied published reports that the former White Sox pitcher had agreed to turn state's evidence when the men indicted by the Cook county grand jury, in the recent base ball investigation, are tried.

Girl Swimmers Must Wear Higher Necks In Bathing Suits, A. A. U.

New Orleans, La., Nov. 17.—Girl swimmers who compete in Amateur Athletic union contests in future must wear swimming suits that come higher about the neck and must be cut out with a due allowance for shrinkage, under a rule adopted last night at the final session of the annual convention of the union here.

Judge Barlow S. Weeks, chairman of the legislative committee, described the low-cut and tight-fitting suits worn by American girls in the Olympic games and said these girls had been criticized by the Europeans.

Under the terms of the new ruling regulation suits must be worn by both men and women.

The convention yesterday elected Robert S. Weaver of Los Angeles president.

PROMINENT LINCOLN MAN ENDORSES TANLAC

F. W. Knore, Proprietor Lincoln Brass Foundry, Says It Has Completely Restored His Health.

Still another well-known Nebraska man relates his experience with Tanlac. This time it is Frank W. Knore, proprietor of the Lincoln Brass Foundry, living at 1448 L street, Lincoln, Neb. Mr. Knore has this to say:

"At the time I began taking Tanlac I had been absolutely unfit for work for several months, but today I am as well as anybody. I had sciatic rheumatism for three years and was also troubled with my kidneys. The pains in my legs and sides and in my back were almost unbearable.

"When I sat down in a chair I couldn't get up without difficulty. My joints and muscles pained me so at night, I couldn't rest in bed and had to be propped up in a rocking chair. I had a sleepless night on account of my misery. Finally I got down to where I just had to spend most of my time either in bed or in a rocking chair.

"But I had hardly started on Tanlac before I got to feeling better and now my rheumatism seems to have gone completely. For I never feel a sign of it. All my other pains have left me, too, and I sleep fine and am, in fact, in splendid health. Tanlac is my standby from this on, for I know by experience what it will do."

Tanlac is sold in Omaha at all Sherman & McCoull Drug Company's stores, Harvard Pharmacy and West End Pharmacy. Also in South Omaha and Benson Pharmacy, Benson, and the leading druggist in each city and town throughout the state of Nebraska.

Many a Pretty Face Spoiled by Pimples

Don't close your eyes to the warning which nature gives, when unsightly pimples appear on your face and other parts of the body.

Not only are these pimples and blotches disfiguring, but they lead to serious skin diseases that spread and cause the most discomforting irritation and pain. Sometimes they foretell Eczema, boils, blisters, scaly eruptions and other annoyances that burn like flames of fire, and make you feel that your skin is ablaze.

When these symptoms appear on any part of the body, take prompt steps to rid the blood of these dis-

Prospects Bright For Cage Quintet

Coach Harold Mulligan of Central Will Organize Team Around Clement.

Basket ball prospects at Central High school are bright this year, according to Coach Harold R. Mulligan, who started making plans for the winter season.

While three of last year's regulars have been graduated there are several men in the school who were unable to play last year and who will easily fill the vacancies. Ivan Robertson, Herman Swabod and Arthur Logan are the regulars who have left school. Logan played center, and Robertson and Swabod were guards. Mangold, who was used as utility man, is not at Central this year.

Ray Clement who plays halfback on the grid team, is captain of the floor quintet. He plays forward, and was one of the best players in the state last year. The team will be built around him. Leo Kofsky, who played a forward position last year, is expected to leave school by basket ball season.

George Benolken, who played as a utility guard during his first year in school, and who has been out of the game for two years because of knee trouble, will play this year. He is expected to hold down a guard position. Thorval Berg, an all-state guard in South Dakota last year, will try out for a position.

Among the men who played class ball last year, and who will try for places on this team are, Clarence Hanter, Edward Reynolds, Robert Mallory, Wilmer Beckle and Frank Bunell.

A definite schedule has not been worked out, but many good games have been booked, according to Andrew Nelson, faculty manager. Games will be played with Commerce, South and Council Bluffs. Two games are booked with Lincoln, St. Joseph, Fort Dodge, Sioux City and Beatrice. Lincoln and Beatrice will be played on the same trip as will the Sioux City and Fort Dodge teams.

Practice will be started before Christmas this year in order to give more time to round out a team. The first game will probably be played the second week in January.

Fast Mail Derailed.

Spokane, Wash., Nov. 17.—Great Northern fast mail train No. 27 was derailed near Katka, Idaho, early today, according to a report received here. "TWO AND THREE" "PUTTING THE NEXT ONE OVER" WITH "BUGS" DAIR

Numbering foot ball players is unfair to the boys in the cooler who earned their numbers in unfair competition. It is also unfair to the athletes themselves. Why do the spectators want to know what it's all about, when the players don't know themselves.

Nobody has asked that the cheer leaders be numbered because even the most habitual foot ball bug knows there ain't fractions that small. A cheer leader belongs to the same branch of the Rotary club that admits squirrels in revolving cages to admit membership.

No circus is complete without a battery of clowns, and no big inter-collegiate market day would be official without a cabinet of Barnum secretaries. Cheer leaders are sent to college because papa and mamma figure that a pet squirrel is easier to feed and takes up less room around the house. They send the boy off to Yale or Princeton to study modern mythology and the hieroglyphics on ancient African tablets.

African Sanskrit.

The hieroglyphics on ancient African tablets have never been deciphered with profit to the party of the first part. The African spoke and wrote a dotted language on square ivory stationery. There seemed to be only 12 dots in their alphabet. The Morse code has both dots and dashes. Science figures that Afro-Diceo was the Retorse code.

The ancient Africans used to shake their education well before taking and follow it up with a long roll for a finishing course. The dots seemed to have a very peculiar significance.

Two dots were known as crap and was a symbol of mourning. Possibly a corruption of crepe, meaning something on the doorbell after a patient had just died. It was also called Snake Eyes or Chinamen's Eyes.

Three dots meant the same thing. Four dots was Little Joe, an orphan, who was the champion of the ester of his age. Nobody could throw him.

Five dots was Phoebe from the south, a young sister of Nine Dots, known as Nellie with the Long Green Stockings.

Six dots was a point if you made it. If you didn't make it, it was only a number.

Seven dots had two meanings. It was or it wasn't. If you didn't throw it first, it threw you.

Eight was the same as six. Either a point or a number.

Nine was Big Dick from Boston and was the birthstone of Lucretia Borgia, the inventor of slow poison.

Eleven was a natural. Named in honor of John Burroughs, the great naturalist.

Twelve was box cars or Packards. Because it was made with twin sixes. It was a very queer language and a guy could speak volumes without saying a word. After a cheer leader graduated in African tablets he would go home, frame an I. O. U. for a diploma and spend the rest of his life helping the town loafer to build up his business.

You may bowl out a cheer leader, but remember that he has more fun for less money than a pyromaniac in Hades.

Nebraska Team Is Preparing for Michigan Squad

Cornhuskers Working on Aggie's Plays; Expect Hard Grid Battle; Play Washington State Nov. 25.

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 17.—(Special.)—Forty Nebraska gridiron warriors were put through a stiff practice yesterday afternoon in preparation for their battle with "Potsy Clark's Michigan Aggies" aggregation Saturday.

Coach Schulte's husky line is still undaunted. The seven 30 and 200-pound men that kept Nebraska's opponents from gaining on line plunges kept Penn State and Kansas and forced the opponents to run the ends and resort to aerial work. For them, Coach Schulte is giving a little rest to insure them from staleness before the end of the season.

Cornhuskers Get Lohr Workout.

Tuesday evening, the Husker mentor gave his men a long workout on getting down under punts. Weller and Moore footed the pigskin. Then he showed the backfield men how to break up passes such as the ones that almost defeated Nebraska last Saturday.

It should be remembered in reckoning the game with Kansas, that the Nebraska backs busted up about half a dozen passes in the first half that were of the same kind as those that brought big gains in the final periods.

Freshman Coach Schissler trained his men in Michigan Aggie plays Monday and Tuesday. The yearling ran signals for two hours while the varsity did the same thing for nearly as long a time.

Expect Hard Battle.

Schissler reports that while the Michigan Aggies suffered some ignoble defeats during the early part of their season, they have improved and are sure to show Nebraska a real battle. The Aggie's team is said to be superior to anything that Nebraska has met this year with the exception of Notre Dame and Penn State.

The Washington State team that earned a 28-0 victory over Oregon Aggies last week, will oppose the Cornhuskers at Lincoln Thanksgiving day. Although defeated by California, Washington State has a formidable aggregation.

Charlie Cutler Wins.

Little Rock, Nov. 17.—Charlie Cutler of Chicago, defeated Jesse Westergaard of Iowa, in a wrestling match here last night with two straight falls.
