

Wife Drops Suit On Omaha Woman Over Mate's Love

Wife of Shenandoah, Ia., Doctor Retracts All Charges Made Against Mrs. Carrie Stickler.

Shenandoah, Ia., Nov. 30.—(Special Telegram.)—Mrs. Bessie W. Kinney, wife of Dr. C. L. Kinney of Essex, who recently withdrew her suit against Mrs. Carrie Stickler, Wellington, Ia., for attempting to seduce her husband's affections, has filed with the court a dismissal of attachment, in which she asks that all charges against the character of Mrs. Stickler be expunged from the records.

Mrs. Kinney states that she now knows her information was wrong and false and that Mrs. Stickler and her husband, Dr. Kinney, were not guilty of improper conduct.

Mrs. Kinney has dismissed and released all attachments made against the property of Mrs. Stickler in Shenandoah.

The wife states in her petition that she has fully investigated the alleged facts and circumstances upon which the cause was based and retracts statements made to the court and to the defendant and withdraws all of charges and asks that they be stricken from the files and all charges against the good name and character of the defendant, Mrs. Stickler be expunged from the records.

She declares that the statements are freely made without consultation or agreement with the defendant or anyone representing her.

Police Break Up Alleged

Booze Party at Fremont
Fremont, Neb., Nov. 30.—(Special Telegram.)—Fritz Eggers, it is alleged, was entertaining a few friends yesterday at his home at 635 West Jackson street with home brew or imitation Schlitz, as the leading course on the list of drinks. Neighbors took it upon themselves to inform police. Officers visited the home, where it was said the jug of Omar Khayyam had been overturned, and in the search, uncovered several bottles of homemade beer, a quantity of beer caps and hops. Members of the party were arrested. Bonds were placed at $200.

More Truth Than Poetry

By JAMES J. MONTAGUE

NOTHING TO CHEER ABOUT

I own it cheered me quite a lot to read that old Marines had got more strength of limb, zip and vim than men of age when men engage. For being well past forty-five, I thought my chances to survive the rack and strain of a campaign might be extremely slender.

"If these old birds the pace can hit," said I, "and never quail or quit, if on their feet through rain and sleet they still are brisk and shifty. There seems to be a ray of hope for people going down the slope—Such folks as me, who soon will be well, say along toward fifty."

"Let youth deride my graying locks, I can abide its jibes and knocks. Though past the age when men engage in foolish feats of muscle. These old marines have shown me that I'd leave all callow youngsters flat if I should need to go and lead a scrap or fight or tussle."

But soon, alas, my high hopes sped; the old Marines of whom I read, whose strength of limb and zip and vim had filled the world with wonder, were not so old as I supposed; a printed list of them disclosed that all the squad was thirty odd, or three or four years under.

Des Moines, Ia., Nov. 30.—(Special Telegram.)—Police here have been asked to search for Miss Genevieve Blee, 22, from Omaha, who has been missing since Saturday night. D. P. McGinty, who police say is her fiance, arrived here today to personally head the search.

Complaint Filed Against Lawyer

Missing Attorney Is Charged With Embezzlement of Clients' Funds.

Fremont, Neb., Nov. 30.—(Special Telegram.)—J. J. Gleason, prominent attorney of North Bend, has filed a complaint against the missing attorney, charging that he has taken with him funds embezzled from clients and had issued several checks before his departure for sums exceeding his bank account.

The latest complaint was filed here today by Martin Rees of that city, recently sued by Clara Rees for divorce and connected with the $50,000 alienation suit against Mrs. Emma G. Johnson. Rees states that Gleason failed to turn in the collection of a sum of money from Floyd Snover for whom Rees had built a house.

The bill was paid to Gleason. Similar cases are reported and it said that various residents of North Bend are looking for the attorney. He left a wife and one child.

Youth Blind From Birth Pushing Through Darkness in University

By WILL JOHNSON, Universal Service Staff Correspondent.

New York, Nov. 30.—Blind, but pushing through the darkness for a degree of bachelor of arts and then on to a degree of master of arts! Sightedless from birth, Alfred Losinsky, 19, has entered Fordham university, undertaking the well-nigh impossible, but with a quiet determination to go through with his heavy task. There is no doubt in Alfred's mind. He is convinced he will obtain the A. B. and, while doubtful of gaining the more ambitious degree, this doubt concerns only the chance to try.

This intellectual blind youth was found hard at work on his studies up in the Bronx this afternoon. At the moment he was engaged in writing a bit of verse—the idea of the poem had struck him while planning his English lessons.

Alfred receives one with a smile, a rare trait of a person blind for life. His features do not bear the hard set lines usually associated with the blind and he carries himself well as a host. His sense of direction is almost perfect.

"How do you manage to do your written college work?" he was asked, and the sightless college boy instantly hurried to his desk and brought forth his kit of tools.

The complex Braille board is his open sesame to the knowledge within the covers of printed books. A chapter or a lesson is read to him and with an instrument resembling a thick needle he punches a series of holes through spaces in the Braille board and then with deft fingers touches the needle perforations and recites what has been read. It isn't necessary for one to slow up while reading to the blind youth—he has invented a shorthand system of his own which enables him to keep up with the others in his class at Fordham.

"Greek is the hardest for me and requires the greatest concentration," Losinsky said. "The Braille board does not suffice for that, but I have an apparatus that enables me to follow recited Greek."

What Dual Valves Do In Pierce-Arrow Trucks

THE Dual Valve principle is the greatest advance in trucks since the Worm Gear was introduced in 1910 by Pierce-Arrow. It means a surpassing performance—vast power and surprising economies.

They Save Road Time

More power and more speed mean avoiding road delays, doing more work, making more trips. The pulling power is equal to any demand. Hills and rough going have no terrors.

They Save Operating Costs

Increased valve area means a fuller, purer gas mixture. Fired by two sparks, all of the charge is converted into power. This means a big saving in gasoline—more miles per gallon.

They Save Shop Time

Sturdiness keeps Pierce-Arrow out of the shop. The ready accessibility of its parts permits repairs to be made when necessary, in the least time and saves big labor charges.

THREE TRUCK SIZES:

2-ton, 3 1/2-ton and 5-ton—and a tractor—all electric lighted, worm driven, and equipped with Dual Valve engines.
