

Movie Theaters To Show Pictures In Bee Contest

Partial Photographs of Film Stars to Be Placed on Screens—Big Prize Competition Starts Sunday.

Just a moment, you movie fans! Hold your enthusiasm one day longer—then out with it in The Bee's Movie Contest. It'll be a great game. Let no one miss it. Identify the photos of motion picture stars that will appear in The Bee each day for 30 days beginning Sunday and win cash prizes of $100, $50, $25, $15, $10 and $5.

Oh yes, your ability to recognize the photos may win for you autographed pictures of your favorite film star and also sets of your screen idols including "Doug" Fairbanks, Mary Pickford, "Bill" Hart and Charlie Chaplin.

Theaters to Co-Operate. Awards will be made to those persons identifying the largest percentage of the 60 photographs. Your only means of identification of the stars will be the photos. Don't get cold feet.

You will receive co-operation from the motion picture theaters. Portraits of the film stars as they appear in The Bee each day will be flashed on the screen of each theater.

Fill Out Coupon. That you may be positive in the identification of the photos, many of the film stars whose pictures will appear in The Bee will be featured in Omaha theaters during the contest.

So have hope. Fill out the Movie Contest coupon in next Sunday's Bee, and thereafter mail all identifications of stars' photos within three days of publication to the Movie Contest Editor, Omaha Bee.

It'll be an enterprising game for the family circle as well as for individuals.

Don't miss a day during the contest.

Aid Sought for Omaha's Modern Job and His Wife

Members of the Metropolitan Water board have expressed themselves as willing to reconsider the case of E. A. Worm, 3305 North Fourteenth avenue, for 25 years employed as a plumber by the Water board, who lost his sight two years ago as the result of injuries received while in the employ of the board. Although one-armed from boyhood, Worm was rated as one of the best plumbers in Omaha.

Worm was injured October 14, 1918, while installing a meter at St. Bridget's school, Twenty-sixth and F streets, when his helper dropped a heavy water meter on his head. The meter struck the skull at the base of the brain causing partial paralysis and later blindness. Worm applied for compensation. At the hearing before the board and Labor Commissioner Frank Kennedy, Dr. A. D. Dunn, expert diagnostician, who is said to have made an examination of the injury six months after the accident, decided blindness had resulted from an attack of the "flu." He was substantiated by John L. Webster, attorney for the water board, who held out for a $500 settlement.

Fifty-Year-Old Man Pilots Own Ship to Valley

Omaha Designer of Baby Plane Makes Successful Trip After Only 2 1/2 Hours of Actual Instruction.

A. H. Fetters, Omaha's first locally trained aviator and one of the two men who have learned to fly after their 50th birthday anniversaries, after having safely completed his first trip Thursday, declares he will fly again and that his experience was worth the time and efforts in learning to pilot a plane.

"How did you like your first flight?" he was asked yesterday. "Fine and believe me I'm some pilot for an old man. Of course I had a trained pilot with me and if anything had gone wrong he would have helped me but everything went right. I intend to take my wife up with me some day. She is interested in aviation and when I have had more experience I'll take her with me."

Fetters had made numerous flights with pilots and has a wide knowledge of aviation. His actual instruction in solo flying was about two and one-half hours. He flew from Omaha to Valley, Neb., yesterday afternoon, "hopping off" at Ak-Sar-Ben field at 1:45 and landing at Valley at 2:05.

"I took all the flying tests at Fort Omaha," Fetters said, "and I found I reacted all right in the air. I concluded then if I couldn't learn to fly it was not my age but my head that would be to blame."

Fetters, with two associates, built the "baby" biplane, which recently made a trial flight at Ak-Sar-Ben field and which surprised experts by its perfect construction.

Fetters is employed as a mechanical engineer by the Union Pacific railroad.

The Pleasing Effect of a Woman's Costume is made or marred by the shoes she wears. This explains why particular women use such care in selecting footwear. It isn't enough that a shoe should conform outwardly to the prevailing fashion, as, in everything else, the degree of care given to the small details determines whether the effect aimed at is achieved. STYLE and QUALITY are fundamental in shoes. But in addition to these they possess the small refinements that well dressed women look for.
