(Turn to Page Two, Column Two.) 1,000 Acres of Rich Nebraska Land Will Be Opened to Farmers

O'Neill, Neb., Dec. 4 .- (Special.)-About 1,000 acres of the richest land in Nebraska, laying within less than 50 miles of O'Neill, will be thrown open to settlement by the govern-ment, at the land office at Lincoln, on February 7.

The land is in Knox county and is located one and one-half miles north of Niobrara, on the west bank of the Missouri river, beginning just above the old mouth of Ponca creek. It is extremely rich bottom land and much of it is timbered heavily with trees of good birth, some exceeding four t in diameter.

For years this land has been supof adjoining property in the neighunder flood water because of the old location on Ponca creek and was overlooked. Since the altering of the channel by the Northwestern railroad floods no more occur in the vicinity of the land and it has become noted for its fertility.

Three squatters, who have maintained residence on it for years, at last have succeeded in having i formally declared part of the public domain and will have priority rights in filing upon it. They are James W. Smith, Maxmillian Nappel and Charles Nappel.
