Problems That Perplex Answered by BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Not a Straight Story. Dear Miss Fairfax: I am a constant reader of the love column, so I am coming to you for advice. I am a young lady 16 years old. Some months ago while in a small town near by I met a young man about 32 years old whom I had never seen before or do not know his name. Now, Miss Fairfax, please tell me how to get acquainted with this man and also tell me how to find out where he is living, as I learned to know he is a very dear friend of mine. And also, Miss Fairfax, do you think it would be proper if I find his address to send him a friendly letter? Please answer in The Omaha Daily Bee soon. I am SWEET SIXTEEN. Your story is not a very straight one. You say you met this man. Then why do you not know his name, or why can you not ask it of the one who introduced you? Evidently you did not meet him in a proper way if at all. Also you say you had never seen this man before and then say that you learned he is a very dear friend of yours. Your thoughts are woolly. Now, my dear, you are young. Do not start out on your career as a young lady by seeking promiscuous acquaintances. Be fine and true and good and sincere. The men you can pick up an acquaintance with are not the men who will bring you honor and happiness. Let the man seek your friendship and let him do it in a respectable and manly way if he would succeed in gaining your favor. Harry H.: There is no rule about the young man walking on the right or left of a girl. He usually takes the outer side of the walk. Heartbroken: Some people think it is fun to quarrel, just to have a chance to make up. Maybe you are one of that kind. I never could see the pleasure in that sort of diversion. There is always a little sting and pain over a quarrel, and if you are in earnest, and the point was one of principle, I think the renewed friendship suffers. Evidently the young man has had enough of quarreling and doesn't care to go with you any more. Perhaps he is as much to blame as you. At any rate, the experience may teach you more of the value of friendship. Keep your friendships unscathed by cross words, arguments and angry feelings. My Dear Peggy: I am afraid you and I cannot settle all the courts and legal problems in the country. If we do what is right ourselves, maybe we can keep out of them.

Debutante

MARY GIFFORD

Miss Mary Gifford, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Harold Gifford, was the third of the season's debutantes. Her formal bow to society was made Monday evening at the Fontenelle at a dancing party for members of the younger set. This is the first debut party which has been given exclusively for the members of the young set. About 300 attended the dance, which was followed by decorations were used. In the receiving line were Dr. and Mrs. Sanford Gifford and Mr.

and Mrs. Newman Benson. The other debutantes assisted. Miss Gifford wore a gown of geranium pink velvet trimmed in sequins and carried Ophelia roses. Mrs. Harold Gifford wore black net combined with jet. The debutante leaves January 1 for New York City to enter the

Makes a Family Supply of Cough Remedy

Really better than ready-made cough syrups, and saves about $2. Easily and quickly prepared.

If you combined the curative properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you probably could not get as much real curative power as there is in this simple home-made cough syrup, which is easily prepared in a few minutes. Get from any druggist 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with syrup, using either plain granulated sugar syrup, clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, as desired. The result is a full pint of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Tastes pleasant and never spoils. This Pinex and Syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the nasty throat tickle and heals the sore, irritated membranes so gently and easily that it is really astonishing. A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma, there is nothing better. Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations to break severe coughs. To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded.
