Men of Many Crafts Enlist in Army Here
The army is getting recruits from practically all crafts and professions in civilian life, according to Col. J. A. Benjamin, one of the officers of the local recruiting station.
Colonel Benjamin kept an account of the various professions and trades of recruits accepted for service during the period of December 21 to 27, showing that many and varied are the occupations of the men now enlisting. During this period common laborers topped the list with 28 enlistments, with farmers second with 23. The others were as follows:
Box nailer, 1; carpenters, 2;

City Spends $107,601 on Parks in Course of Year
City Commissioner Thomas Falconer reports that the park, boulevard and recreation departments for the year cost the following amounts for maintenance:
General park fund, $107,601.55; garage fund, $7,500; recreation fund, $21,182.90; road fund, $23,278.18; park bond fund, $87,546.40.
The principal improvements of the year were keeper's house, new animal fences and ovens in Riverview park; filling in depressions of Athletic park; grading Christie park; golf course in Fontenelle park and rebuilding sections of Carter park boulevard.
This department expects a larger appropriation for recreation purposes in 1921, when a series of summer band concerts will be given. No park concerts were given during 1920 by the city.
