COLDS

"Pape's Cold Compound" Breaks any Cold in Few Hours. Instant Relief! Don't stay stuffed up! Quit blowing and snuffling! A dose of Pape's Cold Compound taken every two hours until three doses are taken usually breaks up any cold.

The very first dose opens clogged nostrils and the air passages of the head; stops nose running; relieves the headache, dullness, feverishness. "Pape's Cold Compound" acts quick, sure, and costs only a few cents at drug stores. It acts without assistance, tastes nice, contains no quinine—insist upon Pape's!

Hairs Will Vanish After This Treatment

(Toilet Helps) You can keep your arms, neck or face free from hair or fuzz by the occasional use of plain delatone and in using it you need have no fear of marring or injuring the skin. A thick paste is made by mixing some of the powdered delatone with water. Then spread on the hairs and after 2 or 3 minutes rub off, wash the skin and all traces of hair have vanished. Be careful, however, to get real delatone.

Commercial and Benson High Winners

Helene B. Gille, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles N. Gille, received first place at the High School of Commerce, in the Drama League poem contest recently closed. Hers was the only poem submitted from that school. It follows: The Pilgrims. They could not worship God in their own true way. So in England, the Pilgrims decided not to stay. Setting sail for Holland they went to seek A land for those who are humble and meek. They liked the Dutch, who to them were dear. But the nonfamiliar language grated upon their ear. So off they sailed upon the ocean wide, Battling hard 'gainst ocean wave and tide. In two small ships "Speedwell" and "Mayflower". Knowing they would be helped by the "Only Power," Toward the land, America, they wished to sail. Even driven by the storms they did prevail. The little "Speedwell" leaked, and needed repair. But this, to the hardy Pilgrims, was but a small affair. So the "Speedwell" turned back and soon "read" land. Carrying with her but few of the Puritan band. But the leave "Mayflower" sailed on o'er For the angry sea. For its crew knew they were sailing to a land of the free. Each day these Pilgrims longed to seek comfort and rest. In that great and distant wilderness of the west. Then one day, the weary Pilgrims saw land in sight. They thanked, and to God gave thanks with all their might. Miss Lucy Phalen, who won the prize from Benson High school, is one of a family of eight, seven girls and one boy. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Phalen, live on a farm 10 miles from Benson. Miss Lucy and two other members of the family attend Benson High school, one child is in the Benson grade schools, two of the girls have graduated from Benson High and are teachers in Douglas county and the eighth child is under school age. Miss Phalen's poem is called "Our Pilgrim Fathers."

Pilgrim Fathers, by whose labors spent in toiling and privation on our shores, in building homes, in waging Indian wars. A mighty nation has been built, you bent to later uses, your sternness, your strength. A simple faith in God that, ever yours kept you steadfast and helped you throw doors of our resourceful country wide. You found a home in which you might obey the simple word of Christ as you thought right. And sought, first in Holland, then our wintry coast. Where your small colony on Cape Cod helped make a pathway for our nation's might. And for the flag and country we love most.

china, silver, flowers and service are all as nearly perfect as her purse and her "help" will permit she has done her best—and she can safely "leave the rest" to the auspices of the hour. If anything goes wrong with the service, she will rectify the mistake quietly; if a factious guest happens to "make a break" in conversation she will cover the inadvertence with a smiling observation on a different subject. Her first duty as hostess is to make the occasion pleasurable for all her guests, and she cannot accomplish this unless herself "all serene," she radiates serenity to the whole circle of her friends.

It is now possible for women to study and receive degrees at Yale university.

What's What

In preparing for a luncheon, dinner or any other social function, the hostess is naturally anxious about the success of the affair. But when the time comes, she is supposed to be entertaining her guests, and certainly, obvious anxiety contributes nothing to the entertainment. The famous American editor and philanthropist, George W. Childs, kept this motto above his desk in the Public Ledger office: "Do the best and leave the rest." When a hostess has invited "the right people"—that is, people who are congenial—when the food, linen,
