Urge Separate Douglas County District Court

Fight in House Over Number of Judges Starts Discussion of Smaller District.

Lincoln, . Jan. 19 .- (Special.)-Placing Douglas couny in a judicial district all its own is under discussion here following a hot debate in the lower house this morning over a bill signed by the entire Omaha delegation asking for 10 instead of seven district judges in the Fourth judicial district.

The billt was referred back to the juliciary committee after two hours' discussion in the committe of the whole. At the time it was intimated that the long-threatened reapportionment of judicial districts in Nebraska would be considered at this session.

Representative Williams of Fillmore, who got the bill referred back to the judiciary committee and who favored a judicial reapportionment bill, declared this afternoon that other members had convinced him that at this time corrective measures for poorly-apportioned districts should be considered with a possible general reapportionment bill at a future date.

Peculiar Problems.

"I believe firmly that Douglas county with its peculiar problems and peculiar environment should cleet its own judges and Burt and Washington counties, now in the Fourth judicial district with Douglas Comes Up To county, should be tacked onto a rural district, or, if the litigation in those counties warrant, they should be formed into a single judicial district," Williams said.

Representative Super of Chadren

Representative Snow of Chadron, started a fight on the 10-judge bill of the Douglas county delegation by moving to cut the proposed 10 judges down to nine. Snow threw the nightmare of high taxes before the house declaring the large transfer of the country that have been said to the large transfer of the lar the house, declaring that if Omaha were forced to pay, in whole, for ladopt a rule providing for secret the judges the metropolis might sessions when the confirmation of lawe two dozen if it wanted.
