Dress Shields

There are several good shields on the market, but the prices are high on all of them and very few of then stand more than two or three wash-

A little experimenting has proved that a woman can make her own shields at home at much less expense and that they are more satisfactory and durable.

Buy a piece of thin rubberized sheeting, the kind with a dull finish on both sides. It comes at about $1.35 per square yard. A yard will make six pairs of large shields, and you can make them whatever shape and size you desire. Lay a shield folded flat on a piece of the sheeting and cut out another exactly like it. Sew together at the op in a flat seam. Bind the shield with a thin cotton binding or place ace or embroidery edging around t to hide the raw edges. Wash this shield in the same manner as any other shield. Soak a few We should say the answer to this cominutes in lukewarm soap suds. Then lay it flat on a table, or in he sink, and brush with a medium stiff brush dipped in soapy water. Rinse by holding it under the faucet or flinging it about in a pan of water. Do not wring, of course,

So many of the frocks of this autumn seem inspired with the one ambition to resemble a suit that there is apparently only one other passion equaling this in in-tensity. It is the determination of the suit to look like a dress.

The NEW EDISON "The Phonograph with a Soul" What Edison did during the War .

THE official announcement is out. Ask us for your copy of "What Edison Did During the War." Write for it, if you can't call.

It tells how Edison left his home and business and went to sea, how Edison's "Yankee magic" foiled the German submarines.

The bulletin tells many other things Edison did while Chairman of the Naval Consulting Board. It explains how Edison kept the price of his phonograph at bed rock during an era of high costs and soaring prices. Since 1914 the New Edison has advanced in price less than 15%-and part of this is war tax.

This bulletin also describes the Budget Plan, which makes it possible for every home to enjoy the benefits of good music without feeling the financial outlay.
