

Henshaw Hotel Property Sold to Harley Conant

Management to Change Hands February 1—New Owner to Refurbish and Redebrate Property.

The Hotel Henshaw has been purchased from George Petros, present owner and manager, by the Conant Hotel company, which operates the Hotels Sanford and Conant.

Management of the Henshaw will be under the supervision of Harley Conant, president of the purchasing company, beginning February 1. Mr. Conant plans to begin remodeling, furnishing and redecorating his property immediately.

He estimates the cost of purchasing the leasehold rights from Mr. Petros and cost of improvements will total more than $50,000. The hotel building is the property of the Redick estate.

Joseph Keenan, former manager of the hotel, will return in the same capacity.

Although negotiations are not complete it is understood the large Henshaw cafe—the scene of many happy supper dances—will become a cafeteria, under the new management, and will be conducted by Louis Beatty.

Mr. Petros, retiring manager, acquired a lease on the Henshaw a little more than a year ago. His lease was for but two years. The Conant Hotel company has procured an extension of the lease from the Redick interests for five years.

Jimmy Cosgrove Goes Back to Jail

Jimmy Cosgrove is going back to jail.

Jimmy, who has been arrested so many times Omaha police have lost count, is on his way back to the Iowa state reformatory at Anamosa. He was surrendered to Sheriff Groneweg of Council Bluffs by Wallace Benjamin, his bondsman.

The bondsman surrendered Jimmy because he suspected the Omaha youth of violating provisions of his parole.

Omaha police never have been able to tip Jimmy behind iron bars more than a few hours at a time. Iowa authorities, however, plan to keep him at Anamosa three years.
