Cattle—A run of 2.400 cattle for Friday was considered rather liberal and receipts for the week will not fall very far short of a week ago or a year ago. Trade to day was very dull and both packers and shippers bid lower prices for the few desirable beeves on offer. Best grade sold stoud $8.00 and a good share of the sold ground $8.00 and a good share of the offerings sold under $7.00. Cows and helfers ruled just about steady with Thursday and show no particular change for the week. Faf cattle are now selling at the lowest prices of the season anywhere from $60.69$1.00 lower than the low time last week. Stockers and feeders were in limited supply and demand and loading prices for the week are around $15.00 lower.

Rievators Buying.

Pressure of cash corn continues of good volume, with elevators buying the cash and selling the May at good profits. Commission houses are buying July and selling May for the carrying charges. Country offerings, while not large, appear aimple and the movement is large. Primaries for five days this week aggregate 10.417.000 bushels, against 4,225,000 bushels last year. Export clearances for the week of 1,562,-000 bushels, were the largest of late. Arrivals here for the day were 461 cars. Cash prices were up nearly 10.

Buying of July and selling of May oats was a feature of the trade. Prices were up $1.0. Buying of July and selling of May oats was a feature of the trade. Prices were up $1.0. Early sellers were buyers around the top and buyers at the top were sellers later at lower prices. Shipping sales were 30,000 bushels and receipts 64 cars. Cash prices $2 higher.

Rye broke 2½c and rallied 1½c. Selling was largely local. Outside markets made small sales for export. Barley gained 3 cents.

Pit Notes.

The government report on wheat reserves January 1 came on the trade unexpectedly. It showed 220,000,000 bushels surplus for consumption and export to July 1, this year. The trade did not understand the figures and considered them bullish for a time, as compared with 420,000,000 bushels last year. Late in the day a message from the agricultural department said the figures were of the marketable wheat only, and did not include the $4,000,000 bushels estimated for seeding and farm consumption. Traders here construed the report as bearish and sold freely in the last hour, making a break of 2% from the 4c advance made early. At the top, March was up to $1.67% and May $1.55%, with the close easy March was bought by each interests and advanced to 12% over May, the Bishest difference so far. At the same time May was under pressure from eastern and local operators.

Domestic shipping sales were 10,000 bushels wheat, 25,000 bushels corn and 30,000 bushels cats.

Premiums on cash wheat at Chicago showed little change with No. 1 red 25% 28c, No. 1 hard 86 9c, and No. 1 northern $601c over March. Receipts, 22 cars. St. Louis reported an urgent milling demand, with prices 26 4c higher, while Kansas City was unchanged to 2c higher, and Omaha was to higher. Premiums at Minneapolis advanced 1c.

"The trend toward batter business continues slow and tregular. As fentiment strengthens there is a gradually increasing inclination to undertake conservative commitments for the future, and new buying is most evident in those lines where prices seem to be approaching a points of stabilization. While the latter condition in syet prevails in comparatively few lost additionable and the stances, the preponderance of declines in wholesale quotations is less prenounced than recently, and signs are not lacking that the defiation has about run its course in certain markets. A demand for goods that is based on actual requirements has lately developed in some trades in different sections of the country, particularly in textile branches in the east and prospects for further gains and their maintenance are the rune favorable because speculative excesses are absent."
